DR. SMITH TAKEN TO STATE PRISON IN AMBULANCE

Warden Jones Says New Prisoner May Be Put To Work In Cane Fields

SUNSHINE MAY BE GOOD FOR HIM, SAYS OFFICER

Former L. S. U. President Recovers Rapidly After Suicide Attempt

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 18.—(P)—Given No. [illegible] Dr. James Monroe Smith late this afternoon exchanged hospital garb for prison stripes following his transfer to the Louisiana state penitentiary at Angola where he will serve from eight to 24 years for forging bonds of the Louisiana State university and obtaining under false pretenses $[illegible] from the institution of which he was president for almost nine years.

Prison physicians who examined Dr. Smith on his arrival at Angola said he appeared to have recovered from his attempt last Thursday to take his own life by cutting the arch of his right foot with a safety razor while incarcerated in the parish jail here. Physicians said, however, that the [illegible] year-old [illegible] would be kept in the prison hospital for a couple of days.

When he is released from the hospital Dr. Smith will be given a sugar cane knife and sent into the ripening fields [illegible] entering the penitentiary, [illegible] Warden L. A. Jones of the state penitentiary said today.

Warden Jones said the former [illegible] college president whose family entertained [illegible] of fashionable friends [illegible] home on the university campus would be treated as any other prisoner.

The sunshine [illegible] probably do him good, he added.

Physicians having approved the transfer, Dr. Smith this afternoon was taken from [illegible] here and placed in an ambulance for the trip to Angola. Before, his wife and his daughter, Mrs. Olive Walker Ware, kissed him goodbye, and both succeeded in retaining their composure until the ambulance had left the hospital grounds. Neither of the women made the trip to the prison farm.

Accompanying the prisoner to Angola were deputies from the office of Sheriff [illegible] rode with Dr. Smith, a nurse in the front seat of the ambulance and a deputy [illegible] drove behind the ambulance.

The former college president slashed his right foot two days ago after having been convicted of mail fraud in the federal court and pleading guilty to two federal charges and four state charges which brought dismissal of more than a score of others.

He has been recuperating satisfactorily at the hospital here under guard. Physicians this afternoon pronounced him able to be removed by ambulance to the prison, 60 miles up the Mississippi river from Baton Rouge.

Smith's wife, heart-broken, blamed the educator's attempt to take his life on self-reproach for disgrace brought upon his brilliant career by the crashing of his college administration last June, his flight to Canada, surrender and return to face multiple state and federal indictments involving hundreds of thousands of dollars of university funds and bonds.

The sudden suicidal twist of mind was hard for those close to him to fathom because of his previous statements that he intended to serve his time, salvage the wreckage of his career and rehabilitate himself for completion of his work.

After completion of his state sentence Smith has two and one-half years to serve in the federal penitentiary under his conviction of mail fraud and pleas of guilty to mail fraud and income tax evasion on other counts.

Yesterday marked the ninth anniversary of his appointment by Long to the head of the university through a $13,000,000 building program sponsored by state and federal government.

Smith's downfall came with a break in the grain market in which he had plunged with university bonds as collateral. With the crash impending he borrowed an unauthorized $500,000 from three banks in the university's name to cover market losses, resigned his position and fled to Canada just before Governor Richard W. Leche resigned. Later he was indicted on other charges in connection with the Louisiana scandals.

Asked whether he might be given a teaching position in the state penitentiary, Warden Jones replied that the penitentiary at present had no school.

MOSELEY SPEAKS HERE THIS WEEK

Lawyer-Farmer Candidate For Governor To Visit Several Local Towns

Ernest Moseley, lawyer-farmer candidate for governor from Opelousas, will bring his campaign to northeast Louisiana this week when he makes a swing through the Fifth district.

Mr. Moseley will speak in Monroe on Tuesday night starting at 7:30 o'clock. The place of the meeting has not been announced.

Before coming to Monroe Mr. Moseley will [illegible] at 4 p.m. Tuesday. On Wednesday he will speak at Rayville at 1:30 p.m., at Delhi at 3:30 p.m. and at Winnsboro at 7:30 p.m. His Thursday dates include Harrisonburg at 10:30 a.m., Jena at 1:30 p.m., Jonesboro at 4:00 p.m. and Ferriday at 7:30 p.m.

On Friday the candidate will speak at St. Joseph at 1:30 p.m., at Tallulah at 4:30 p.m. and at Lake Providence at 7:30 p.m. Saturday's dates include Oak Grove at 10:30 a.m., Bastrop at 1:30 p.m., Farmerville at 4:00 p.m. and Haynesville at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. Moseley was born in Alexandria October 9, 1891. He was educated at Rugby academy in New Orleans and at Louisiana State university, graduating there with the class of 1912. He later studied at Harvard graduate school majoring in economics and business administration. He also received his law training at Harvard, and, on returning to Louisiana in 1921 to make his home, he studied Louisiana law at the state university.

During the World war Mr. Moseley served as lieutenant, junior grade, in the aviation corps of the United States navy, spending several months at the front in France.

Mr. Moseley, in addition to being a lawyer, has operated his own farm for 19 years. He has also had practical business experience not only in the handling of his own affairs but by serving as active vice-president of a bank.

Mr. Moseley, as a candidate for governor, is campaigning independently of political factions and financial assistance. He solicits the support of all right thinking citizens of Louisiana who desire to see an end of the corrupt dictatorlike system of government. He appeals particularly to all ex-service men, to every farmer, to all members of the alumni of L. S. U., and to his personal friends.

LEGION MEMBERSHIP AWARDS TO BE MADE

All membership awards for work in connection with the recent American Legion membership campaign will be made by the L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 here tomorrow night at a meeting at the Legion home, it was announced last night.

Officers of the post stated that the campaign this year was one of the most successful in the history of the post. Among awards to individuals for their work in the drive will be a suit of clothes or an overcoat, a pair of shoes, hat, shirt, socks, ties, five pounds of coffee, a legion hat, legion shirt and a gold legion button. To the member securing the largest number of new and renewal memberships a gold ring will be awarded. All department awards will also be made, it was stated.

Plans for the observance of various Christmas activities of the post will also be made at the meeting.

Two Policemen And Unidentified Man Shot To Death By Nazis

FIVE NATIONS AFFECTED BY MARTIAL LAW ORDER

Black Shirt Guards Placed In Streets To Halt Demonstrations

PRAGUE, Nov. 18.—(P)—Nazi Germany used the firing squad again today and then added martial law to its stern measures to stamp out anti-German moves in the protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia.

The execution of three more persons, two policemen and an unidentified Czech, brought to 12 the number shot to death in 48 hours. Nine students were executed yesterday.

Martial law, established in greater Prague, Prague-land, Kladno, Beraun and Horchowitz, did not affect German citizens. All these districts are near Prague.

Hacha declared that demonstrations would be suppressed by the "public might" of the German and Czech governments and urged the people of the protectorate to "obey with all discipline the appeal which I and the government direct to you."

Prague appeared calm outwardly, but reaction to the executions of the alleged ringleaders in the anti-German acts, and the closing of Prague academies and universities for three years was reported to have spread to other sections of the protectorate.

Incidents similar to those in Prague were reported to have occurred in Bruenn (Brno), the protectorate's second largest city.

'SCANDAL' TRIALS HERE THIS WEEK

Dark, Melton And Dillon To Appear In Fourth District Court

The second week of the fall term of Fourth district criminal court begins here tomorrow morning with several cases of interest scheduled to come before the court.

W. D. Dark and Lee J. Melton, former conservation department officials, accused on four separate charges of bribery in connection with alleged violations of conservation department rules in the Monroe gas field, are scheduled to go on trial tomorrow morning. Also set for trial tomorrow are the cases of George Chapman, Jr., negro, accused of carnal knowledge, and Birrell Nicholson, negro, charged with embezzlement of a case of eggs.

Dark, former manager of the Monroe office of the state conservation department, and Melton, conservation department field agent, were indicted by the Ouachita parish grand jury in a special session last July during an investigation of alleged political "scandals."

POLICE PLAN WAR ON BAD CAR LIGHTS

Monroe police will start a drive on automobiles with defective head lights and tail lights, it was announced yesterday by Chief Frank Reitzell.

Chief Reitzell issued a warning to motorists to have their defective lights repaired at once or subject themselves to a fine in traffic court.

"Cars with one headlight or with lights so dim they do not provide proper illumination of the road, or cars with burned out bulbs in tail lights constitute a definite menace on the road," Chief Reitzell said. "There are too many automobiles on our streets with defective lights. For the safety of pedestrians and motorists alike, it is imperative that this situation be remedied."

Chief Reitzell said car owners would be given a reasonable length of time to have their defective bulbs replaced and then within the next few days the drive would be started by police officers.

MRS. DAHL CARRIES ON

Mrs. Harold (Whitey) Dahl, wife of American aviator held prisoner more than two years by Spanish nationalists, arrives at Newark airport to begin United States lecture tour. Just returned from Europe, she hopes to raise funds for her husband, now under life imprisonment sentence for aiding the loyalists. An appeal from Mrs. Dahl to General Franco is said to have saved her husband from death.

Oklahoma, N. Carolina Suffer First Defeats

Iowa Again Hogs Headlines; Tulane Wins, Louisiana State Loses

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(P)—Oklahoma's Sooners and the Tarheels of North Carolina bounced out of football's dwindling undefeated class today but the headlines belonged to Iowa's sensational Hawkeyes.

Paced as usual by the great Nile Kinnick, Iowa spotted Minnesota a 9-0 lead and then rallied to whip the Gophers, 13-9, before a crowd of 50,000 at Iowa City. Kinnick, completing his sixth successive game without relief, passed for both Hawkeye touchdowns.

Oklahoma suffered its first regular season defeat in two years as Missouri's Tigers squeezed through to a 7-6 victory and virtually clinched the Big Six crown. Ronald King, a sub back for the Tigers, stole the show from his more famous team-mate, Paul Christman, as well as from Oklahoma's Beryl Clark.

North Carolina was decisively outplayed by Duke's Blue Devils whose second-half drive buried the Tarheels under a 13-3 score.

There was no stopping such other unbeaten arrays, however, as Tennessee, Tulane, Cornell and Texas A. and M., as well as once-beaten Ohio State, Notre Dame, Holy Cross, Nebraska and Princeton.

Tennessee, top-ranking team in the Associated Press poll for several weeks, whipped Vanderbilt 13-0 but had to make one early goal line stand to maintain intact its unscored-upon record. Tulane pushed Columbia around almost at will to win, 25-0, while Nebraska chalked up another intersectional victory at the east's expense, beating Pitt in a great duel, 14-13.

Cornell, unbeaten and untied, threw its full strength against Dartmouth and swamped the Indians under a 35-6 count. Princeton, beaten only by Cornell, had to push over two fourth-quarter touchdowns to stop Yale, 13-7.

Texas A. and M., boasting a perfect record, moved steadily ahead toward the Southwest conference title by

JONES DECLARES CRUSADE SUCCESS

Candidate Says He Will Restore Democratic Government To State

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 18.—(P)—A claim that he and his associates are "waging a successful crusade to restore Democratic government to Louisiana" was made today by Sam Jones before a large rally.

At Winnfield, Jones noted that Judge James W. Jones, Jr., of Natchitoches, was in the crowd, and asked why Governor Long had permitted Attorney General Lessley Gardiner to allow Judge Jones to dismiss the grand jury of Natchitoches parish "when the jurors tried to investigate graft and corruption at the State Normal college at Natchitoches."

Jones declared conditions in Louisiana 12 years ago caused a revolt in which voters elevated the late Huey P. Long to the governorship "in their determination to wrest control of the state from the ring in New Orleans."

"Today the same condition exists again," Jones said. "The New Orleans ring, through Bob Maestri, Seymour Weiss and others of that crowd, are once again in control, and this administration is trying to turn the state over to them for another four years."

He derided the administration's as-

ALLIES BUY WAR GOODS THROUGH FEDERAL RESERVE

British And French May Be Violating International Neutrality Law

NEW YORK BANK SAID TO BE PAYING OUT MONEYS

Bankers Said To Have Received Assurances Action Is Entirely Legal

By Henry Paynter

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(P)—The British and French governments are making payment for wartime purchases in the United States through the New York Federal Reserve bank, it was reliably reported in Wall Street banking circles today.

While some leading bankers defended the action of the reserve bank in paying out on order British and French funds for these purchases, others asserted some competent legal opinion here raised the question of whether the bank's action may not collide with international law covering neutrality.

Officials of the reserve bank, who rarely talk for publication, declined to comment, and bankers said the reserve had undoubtedly received assurances that its action was legal and proper.

Those who raised the neutrality question said part of their interest naturally stemmed from the fact that the reserve was doing what was formerly an important function of commercial and private banks.

Its action in paying out funds of the Bank of England and the Bank of France does not represent a new policy in banking mechanism, these bankers said, but rather an absence of change of banking policy as the business of the bank's customers changed from a peacetime to a wartime nature.

The Federal Reserve bank of New York fulfills some of the functions of an official central bank for this nation, and, in that capacity, has for some time in the past acted as a depository for gold and dollar balances of the central banks of England and France, and of Germany as well.

As a central bank, it pays out those funds in this market on order. It was reported, however, that the reichsbank had not asked the reserve bank to pay out money for wartime purchases.

Following the revision of the neutrality laws the Bank of France and the Bank of England changed the nature but not the banking technique of their transactions with the reserve bank, namely, ordering their funds paid out in specified manner for wartime purchases here.

ROGGE PROMISES TO PUSH PROBES

Federal Prosecutor Returns To State For Trial Of Shushan

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The federal investigation into Louisiana's political scandals will be pushed without any consideration for "outside circumstances," O. John Rogge, assistant attorney general, said here today upon his arrival by plane from Washington.

The tall prosecutor, ready to plunge into one of the most strenuous weeks in the government's probe program, said:

"The investigations are to be carried to completion. In every instance, without exception, where there is violation of federal laws, the offenders will be indicted and every effort will be made to obtain their conviction without any consideration for outside circumstances."

Rogge would not elaborate upon the phrase "outside circumstances," but observers believed he meant federal agents would continue their inquiries without regard for the results

HE FOUND GOLD!

A lode of gold ore, believed to be worth more than $60,000 a ton, was discovered in the North Georgia hills near Dahlonega by Major Graham C. State Geologist Garland Peyton classified the find as a bonanza comparing favorably with the famous Comstock lode in Nevada.

LOCAL I. O. O. F. HOST FOR MEET

District Convention Closes At Hotel Frances Saturday Night

The two-day district sessions of Odd Fellows, which opened at Hotel Frances Friday were concluded last night with an attendance of approximately 250 members from many cities of the state. Present for the convention were J. M. Shows, Jonesboro, grand master; Henry Castle, Monroe, deputy grand master; W. R. (Jack) Pennington, Baton Rouge, grand warden; and the following grand encampment of Louisiana officials: J. S. Norman, Shreveport, grand patriarch; W. R. Pennington, Baton Rouge, grand high priest; J. R. Cobb, grand junior warden; and J. R. (Bud) Johnson, Shreveport, grand representative.

At the opening session Friday night, held in Cherokee terrace of Hotel Frances, Boy Scout troop No. 10, sponsored by the local I. O. O. F. lodge, presented the flag, after which "America" was sung by the assemblage, followed by invocation by Rev. R. L. Ross.

Addresses of welcome were given by Mayor H. H. Benoit of Monroe, and Mayor H. M. Williams, Jr., of West Monroe. The response was by Henry Castle, deputy grand master.

A drill was then presented by Monroe Rebekah lodge No. 66 of Monroe, after which addresses were delivered by the grand patriarch and by Secretary Herbert C. Hughes, Monroe. The Boy Scouts then retired the colors.

The grand patriarch went on the air over station KMLB, Saturday at 10:40 a.m. for a short talk pertaining to the program of Odd Fellowship and at 11:45 a.m. addressed the Boy Scout troop No. 10, complimenting them for their splendid achievements.

The afternoon session of the district meeting opened Saturday at 1:30 p.m. and a class of 12 was presented for the initiatory degree conferred by the Jonesboro lodge, after which the Shreveport team conferred the first degree.

There was a parade held Saturday at 6 p.m. of all Odd Fellows and affiliated bodies. The session was closed by the conferring of the second degree by the Vivian team.

Sightseeing tours in the Twin Cities and a dance on Cherokee terrace comprised the entertainment features, the dance being held on the opening night following the close of the session.

Grand Patriarch Norman stated Saturday night that the affair was a complete success and expressed thanks to the local lodge, to the hotel management and the people of the Twin Cities for making it possible to conduct so successful a series of meetings.

140 LIVES KNOWN LOST IN LATEST DISASTER AT SEA

Simon Bolivar, Netherlands Ship, Carried 400 Men, Women, Children

MANY PASSENGERS SAID TO BE BADLY INJURED

Martial Law, Increased Activity On Western Front Mark Day In War

(By Associated Press)

The Simon Bolivar, a Netherlands liner, was sunk in the North sea Saturday by a mine which the British admiralty charged was laid by the Germans. At least 140 of the 400 persons aboard the vessel were reported missing.

With many badly injured, 260 survivors of the disaster were landed at a British east coast port.

Meanwhile, Nazi Germany, determined to stamp out anti-German manifestations in the protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia, once a part of Czecho-Slovakia, executed three more Czechs Saturday and declared martial law in Prague and four nearby districts.

The latest executions brought to 12 the number of Czechs who have faced the firing squad in two days for what German authorities laconically said were "acts of violence against a German."

Elsewhere, the French general staff reported increased activity on the western front; air raid alarms were sounded but were cancelled quickly in southeastern England; four explosions, blamed on the outlawed Irish republican army, shook the Piccadilly Circus area in London—London's Times square—but no one was hurt, and the Japanese reported further penetration into China in their thrust at China's "lifeline."

While the Nazis were declaring martial law in Bohemia-Moravia, Emil Hacha, protectorate president, broadcast a warning that "any further sacrifice for the Czech nation serves no purpose."

Hacha declared the "public might" of the German and Czech governments would suppress the demonstrations, which originally were held last month when the Germans banned public observance of the 21st anniversary of the founding of Czecho-Slovakia.

There was disagreement between the French and German commands concerning the western front.

The French declared "patrol and artillery" action prevailed on various parts of the front—while the German high command said there were no important developments.

The Germans, however, said their anti-aircraft guns fought off an attack by three British planes on the Wilhelmshaven naval base.

The latest air raid alarms in England were sounded on the Essex coast and in inland Essex towns. At the same time, the Germans officially praised a lone scouting plane which flew over England's west coast Friday for the first time in the war.

In Hongkong, the Japanese army announced a 50-mile advance in four days in the campaign against the Chinese supply line in southwestern China. Chinese spokesmen admitted the Japanese had made an advance but said they had marched inland only

MONROE METHODIST NAMED AS DELEGATE

RUSTON, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The annual conference of the Louisiana Methodist church concluded business sessions today with election of alternate delegates to the Oklahoma City conference next April and an address by Dr. Harold Paul Sloan of New York.

Dr. Sloan declared that the need of the world today is "Christus victor." It is no longer interested in "humanistic sentimentalities," he said.

"The Christian religion, when it came into Rome, did not preach social reforms, but rather presented to the Roman populace the picture of Christ as he died on the cross.

"Social reforms do not come from preaching, but rather as the result of the expanded lives of the individual. Afterward, his expansion results in social reforms. Fifty years ago the church contented itself with preaching the gospel of Christ, and as a result, social reforms were born; gambling was outlawed and other laws passed to hinder crookedness. Then the church started preaching reforms until today the work of our fathers is being repealed."

Dr. W. L. Doss, superintendent of the Monroe district of the Louisiana conference, and Dr. W. L. Duron of New Orleans and Rev. H. L. Johns of Lake Charles were selected as clerical alternates to the jurisdictional conference of the south central district to be held in Oklahoma City in April.

Lay alternates chosen were Floyd B. James of Ruston, A. M. May of Lake Charles and J. H. Carter of New Orleans.

Former L. S. U. President Recovers Rapidly After Suicide Attempt

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Given No. 30700, Dr. James Monroe Smith late this afternoon exchanged hospital garb for prison stripes following his transfer to the Louisiana state penitentiary at Angola, where he will serve from eight to 24 years for forging bonds of the Louisiana State university and obtaining under false pretenses $100,000 from the institution of which he was president for almost nine years.

The execution of three more persons, two policemen and an unidentified Czech, brought to 12 the number shot to death in 48 hours. Nine students were executed yesterday.

Martial law, established in greater Prague, Prague-land, Kladno, Beraun and Horchowitz, did not affect German citizens. All these districts are near Prague.

Hacha declared that demonstrations would be suppressed by the "public might" of the German and Czech governments and urged the people of the protectorate to "obey with all discipline the appeal which I and the government direct to you."

Prague appeared calm outwardly, but reaction to the executions of the alleged ringleaders in the anti-German acts, and the closing of Prague academies and universities for three years was reported to have spread to other sections of the protectorate.

Incidents similar to those in Prague were reported to have occurred in Bruenn (Brno), the protectorate's second largest city.

'SCANDAL' TRIALS HERE THIS WEEK

Dark, Melton And Dillon To Appear In Fourth District Court

The second week of the fall term of Fourth district criminal court begins here tomorrow morning with several cases of interest scheduled to come before the court.

W. D. Dark and Lee J. Melton, former conservation department officials, accused on four separate charges of bribery in connection with alleged violations of conservation department rules in the Monroe gas field, are scheduled to go on trial tomorrow morning. Also set for trial tomorrow are the cases of George Chapman, Jr., negro, accused of carnal knowledge, and Birrell Nicholson, negro, charged with embezzlement of a case of eggs.

Dark, former manager of the Monroe office of the state conservation department, and Melton, conservation department field agent, were indicted by the Ouachita parish grand jury in a special session last July during an investigation of alleged political "scandals."

They appeared in court here Friday seeking to quash the indictments

POLICE PLAN WAR ON BAD CAR LIGHTS

Monroe police will start a drive on automobiles with defective head lights and tail lights, it was announced yesterday by Chief Frank Reitzell.

Chief Reitzell issued a warning to motorists to have their defective lights repaired at once or subject themselves to a fine in traffic court.

"Cars with one headlight or with lights so dim they do not provide proper illumination of the road, or cars with burned out bulbs in tail lights constitute a definite menace on the road," Chief Reitzell said. "There are too many automobiles on our streets with defective lights. For the safety of pedestrians and motorists alike, it is imperative that this situation be remedied."

Chief Reitzell said car owners would be given a reasonable length of time to have their defective bulbs replaced and then within the next few days the drive would be started by police officers.

MRS. DAHL CARRIES ON

Mrs. Harold (Whitey) Dahl, wife of American aviator held prisoner more than two years by Spanish nationalists, arrives at Newark airport to begin United States lecture tour. Just returned from Europe, she hopes to raise funds for her husband, now under life imprisonment sentence for aiding the loyalists. An appeal from Mrs. Dahl to General Franco is said to have saved her husband from death.

JONES DECLARES CRUSADE SUCCESS

Candidate Says He Will Restore Democratic Government To State

NATCHITOCHES, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A claim that he and his associates are "waging a successful crusade to restore Democratic government to Louisiana" was made today by Sam Jones before a large rally.

At Winnfield, Jones noted that Judge James W. Jones, Jr., of Natchitoches, was in the crowd, and asked why Governor Long had permitted Attorney General Lessley Gardiner to allow Judge Jones to dismiss the grand jury of Natchitoches parish "when the jurors tried to investigate graft and corruption at the State Normal college at Natchitoches."

Jones declared conditions in Louisiana 12 years ago caused a revolt in which voters elevated the late Huey P. Long to the governorship "in their determination to wrest control of the state from the ring in New Orleans."

"Today the same condition exists again," Jones said. "The New Orleans ring, through Bob Maestri, Seymour Weiss and others of that crowd, are once again in control, and this administration is trying to turn the state over to them for another four years."

He derided the administration's as-

Iowa Again Hogs Headlines; Tulane Wins, Louisiana State Loses

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Oklahoma's Sooners and the Tarheels of North Carolina bounced out of football's dwindling undefeated class today but the headlines belonged to Iowa's sensational Hawkeyes.

Paced as usual by the great Nile Kinnick, Iowa spotted Minnesota a 9-0 lead and then rallied to whip the Gophers, 13-9, before a crowd of 50,000 at Iowa City. Kinnick, completing his sixth successive game without relief, passed for both Hawkeye touchdowns.

Oklahoma suffered its first regular season defeat in two years as Missouri's Tigers squeezed through to a 7-6 victory and virtually clinched the Big Six crown. Ronald King, a sub back for the Tigers, stole the show from his more famous team-mate, Paul Christman, as well as from Oklahoma's Beryl Clark.

North Carolina was decisively outplayed by Duke's Blue Devils whose second-half drive buried the Tarheels under a 13-3 score.

There was no stopping such other unbeaten arrays, however, as Tennessee, Tulane, Cornell and Texas A. and M., as well as once-beaten Ohio State, Notre Dame, Holy Cross, Nebraska and Princeton.

Tennessee, top-ranking team in the Associated Press poll for several weeks, whipped Vanderbilt 13-0 but had to make one early goal line stand to maintain intact its unscored-upon record. Tulane pushed Columbia around almost at will to win, 25-0, while Nebraska chalked up another intersectional victory at the east's expense, beating Pitt in a great duel, 14-13.

Cornell, unbeaten and untied, threw its full strength against Dartmouth and swamped the Indians under a 35-6 count. Princeton, beaten only by Cornell, had to push over two fourth-quarter touchdowns to stop Yale, 13-7.

Texas A. and M., boasting a perfect record, moved steadily ahead toward the Southwest conference title by

British And French May Be Violating International Neutrality Law

NEW YORK BANK SAID TO BE PAYING OUT MONEYS

Bankers Said To Have Received Assurances Action Is Entirely Legal

By Henry Paynter

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The British and French governments are making payment for wartime purchases in the United States through the New York Federal Reserve bank, it was reliably reported in Wall Street banking circles today.

While some leading bankers defended the action of the reserve bank in paying out on order British and French funds for these purchases, others asserted some competent legal opinion here raised the question of whether the bank's action may not collide with international law covering neutrality.

Officials of the reserve bank, who rarely talk for publication, declined to comment, and bankers said the reserve had undoubtedly received assurances that its action was legal and proper.

Those who raised the neutrality question said part of their interest naturally stemmed from the fact that the reserve was doing what was formerly an important function of commercial and private banks.

Its action in paying out funds of the Bank of England and the Bank of France does not represent a new policy in banking mechanism, these bankers said, but rather an absence of change of banking policy as the business of the bank's customers changed from a peacetime to a wartime nature.

The Federal Reserve bank of New York fulfills some of the functions of an official central bank for this nation, and, in that capacity, has for some time in the past acted as a depository for gold and dollar balances of the central banks of England and France, and of Germany as well.

As a central bank, it pays out those funds in this market on order. It was reported, however, that the reichsbank had not asked the reserve bank to pay out money for wartime purchases.

Following the revision of the neutrality laws the Bank of France and the Bank of England changed the nature but not the banking technique of their transactions with the reserve bank, namely, ordering their funds paid out in specified manner for wartime purchases here.

ROGGE PROMISES TO PUSH PROBES

Federal Prosecutor Returns To State For Trial Of Shushan

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The federal investigation into Louisiana's political scandals will be pushed without any consideration for "outside circumstances," O. John Rogge, assistant attorney general, said here today upon his arrival by plane from Washington.

The tall prosecutor, ready to plunge into one of the most strenuous weeks in the government's probe program, said:

"The investigations are to be carried to completion. In every instance, without exception, where there is violation of federal laws, the offenders will be indicted and every effort will be made to obtain their conviction without any consideration for outside circumstances."

Rogge would not elaborate upon the phrase "outside circumstances," but observers believed he meant federal agents would continue their inquiries without regard for the results

LESTER FILES SUIT IN FRAUD CHARGES

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—George W. Lester, assistant district attorney of Morehouse parish, today filed application before the Louisiana supreme court to require Judge David I. Garrett in Bastrop to try State Senator Leo F. Terzia and State Representative W. H. Todd, Jr., on charges of dual office-holding.

HE FOUND GOLD!

A lode of gold ore, believed to be worth more than $60,000 a ton, was discovered in the North Georgia hills near Dahlonega by Major Graham C. Dugas, veteran miner, who is shown at Dead Horse Cut near the scene of his discovery. State Geologist Garland Peyton classified the find as a bonanza comparing favorably with the famous Comstock lode in Nevada.

LOCAL I. O. O. F. HOST FOR MEET

The two-day district sessions of Odd Fellows, which opened at Hotel Frances Friday were concluded last night with an attendance of approximately 250 members from many cities of the state. Present for the convention were J. M. Shows, Jonesboro, grand master; Henry Castle, Monroe, deputy grand master; W. R. (Jack) Pennington, Baton Rouge, grand warden; and the following grand encampment of Louisiana officials: J. S. Norman, Shreveport, grand patriarch; W. R. Pennington, Baton Rouge, grand high priest; J. R. Cobb, grand junior warden; and J. R. (Bud) Johnson, Shreveport, grand representative.

At the opening session Friday night, held in Cherokee terrace of Hotel Frances, Boy Scout troop No. 10, sponsored by the local I. O. O. F. lodge, presented the flag, after which "America" was sung by the assemblage, followed by invocation by Rev. R. L. Ross.

Addresses of welcome were given by Mayor H. H. Benoit of Monroe, and Mayor H. M. Williams, Jr., of West Monroe. The response was by Henry Castle, deputy grand master.

A drill was then presented by Monroe Rebekah lodge No. 66 of Monroe, after which addresses were delivered by the grand patriarch and by Secretary Herbert C. Hughes, Monroe. The Boy Scouts then retired the colors.

The grand patriarch went on the air over station KMLB, Saturday at 10:40 a.m. for a short talk pertaining to the program of Odd Fellowship and at 11:45 a.m. addressed the Boy Scout troop No. 10, complimenting them for their splendid achievements.

The afternoon session of the district meeting opened Saturday at 1:30 p.m. and a class of 12 was presented for the initiatory degree conferred by the Jonesboro lodge, after which the Shreveport team conferred the first degree.

There was a parade held Saturday at 6 p.m. of all Odd Fellows and affiliated bodies. The session was closed by the conferring of the second degree by the Vivian team.

Sightseeing tours in the Twin Cities and a dance on Cherokee terrace comprised the entertainment features, the dance being held on the opening night following the close of the session.

Grand Patriarch Norman stated Saturday night that the affair was a complete success and expressed thanks to the local lodge, to the hotel management and the people of the Twin Cities for making it possible to conduct so successful a series of meetings.

140 LIVES KNOWN LOST IN LATEST DISASTER AT SEA

MANY PASSENGERS SAID TO BE BADLY INJURED

(By Associated Press)

The Simon Bolivar, a Netherlands liner, was sunk in the North sea Saturday by a mine which the British admiralty charged was laid by the Germans. At least 140 of the 400 persons aboard the vessel were reported missing.

With many badly injured, 260 survivors of the disaster were landed at a British east coast port.

Meanwhile, Nazi Germany, determined to stamp out anti-German manifestations in the protectorate of Bohemia-Moravia, once a part of Czecho-Slovakia, executed three more Czechs Saturday and declared martial law in Prague and four nearby districts.

The latest executions brought to 12 the number of Czechs who have faced the firing squad in two days for what German authorities laconically said were "acts of violence against a German."

Elsewhere, the French general staff reported increased activity on the western front; air raid alarms were sounded but were cancelled quickly in southeastern England; four explosions, blamed on the outlawed Irish republican army, shook the Piccadilly Circus area in London—London's Times square—but no one was hurt, and the Japanese reported further penetration into China in their thrust at China's "lifeline."

While the Nazis were declaring martial law in Bohemia-Moravia, Emil Hacha, protectorate president, broadcast a warning that "any further sacrifice for the Czech nation serves no purpose."

Hacha declared the "public might" of the German and Czech governments would suppress the demonstrations, which originally were held last month when the Germans banned public observance of the 21st anniversary of the founding of Czecho-Slovakia.

There was disagreement between the French and German commands concerning the western front.

The French declared "patrol and artillery" action prevailed on various parts of the front—while the German high command said there were no important developments.

The Germans, however, said their anti-aircraft guns fought off an attack by three British planes on the Wilhelmshaven naval base.

The latest air raid alarms in England were sounded on the Essex coast and in inland Essex towns. At the same time, the Germans officially praised a lone scouting plane which flew over England's west coast Friday for the first time in the war.

In Hongkong, the Japanese army announced a 50-mile advance in four days in the campaign against the Chinese supply line in southwestern China. Chinese spokesmen admitted the Japanese had made an advance but said they had marched inland only

RUSTON, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The annual conference of the Louisiana Methodist church concluded business sessions today with election of alternate delegates to the Oklahoma City conference next April and an address by Dr. Harold Paul Sloan of New York.

Dr. Sloan declared that the need of the world today is "Christus victor." It is no longer interested in "humanistic sentimentalities," he said.

"The Christian religion, when it came into Rome, did not preach social reforms, but rather presented to the Roman populace the picture of Christ as he died on the cross.

"Social reforms do not come from preaching, but rather as the result of the expanded lives of the individual. Afterward, his expansion results in social reforms. Fifty years ago the church contented itself with preaching the gospel of Christ, and as a result, social reforms were born; gambling was outlawed and other laws passed to hinder crookedness. Then the church started preaching reforms until today the work of our fathers is being repealed."

Dr. W. L. Doss, superintendent of the Monroe district of the Louisiana conference, and Dr. W. L. Duron of New Orleans and Rev. H. L. Johns of Lake Charles were selected as clerical alternates to the jurisdictional conference of the south central district to be held in Oklahoma City in April.

Lay alternates chosen were Floyd B. James of Ruston, A. M. May of Lake Charles and J. H. Carter of New Orleans.

COSSACK CHOIR TO SING HERE

Stellar Performance Scheduled In Monroe For Wednesday Night

A musical event of first importance will be the concert of the world-famed General Platoff Don Cossack choir, at Neville High school auditorium Wednesday at 8 p.m. This superior attraction is made possible through the sponsorship of the Fine Arts club and the Y's Men's club of Monroe.

This choir is not related to the Don Cossack Russian Male chorus conducted by Serge Jaroff. The official founding of the choir took place 13 years ago in Czecho-Slovakia, under the patronage of Dr. Masaryk and Benes, then president and minister of foreign affairs. Since 1926, the choir has appeared all over Europe, North and South Africa, three times in South America, New Zealand, Australia, the Far East and Honolulu, and this is the second visit of the organization to the United States. Nicholas Kostrukoff is the musical director of the choir.

Paris, their adopted home, welcomes them each time after a tour of the world has been completed. There they have won an assured place in the hearts of the people. One performance at the world's largest and best-known church, Notre Dame, in Paris, in 1934, caused quite a sensation. The choir, under the protection of Cardinal Verdier, sang negro spirituals, and one can well imagine the beauty and solemnity of their renderings. This great church was packed with 10,000 people for the occasion.

The program prepared for Monroe will include Russian folk songs, legends and lullabies, sung only as the Cossacks can sing them. They will also present some dance numbers, inclusive of the special feature of the occasion, the electrifying Sword dance, "Lesginka," and the exciting whirlwind dancing of the singers.

UNION VOTES ON RETURN TO WORK PLAN AT LAUREL

LAUREL, Miss., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Union employes will decide by secret vote today whether they will return to their jobs at the Masonite corporation plant where work was suspended Tuesday night.

The vote is the result of efforts by a citizens committee to settle labor difficulties causing the walkout of 1,500 employes.

The company has proposed to take back all workers with the same status as before the disagreement but reserves the right to invoke the arbitration clause of the present contract and the right to discharge for cause and to maintain discipline.

The walkout followed the discharge of three white employes who quarreled with a negro worker.

Members of the union executive committee have approved the proposal which was read at a mass meeting of Laurel business men and was signed for the company by President Ben Alexander and John H. Thickens, vice-president in charge of production.

Dean Of Medical Profession Here Rounds Out 80 Years

Dr. R. W. Faulk Celebrates Birthday Anniversary At His Home

Dr. Robert W. Faulk, oldest active professional man in the Twin Cities and perhaps in all northeast Louisiana, was paid an informal tribute by friends on Friday when he observed his 80th birthday. There was no formal party, as the physician is a most modest man and only a few in his immediate family circle knew of the momentous occasion or he would have been recipient of many honors.

Although fourscore years have passed, Dr. Faulk is active in mind and body. He is city physician, which post he has held for years, and he has an extensive private practice which he maintains from his home, keeping regular office hours and often responding at all hours of the day and night to maternity or other cases where his clientele is satisfied with the services of no one but this veteran physician.

Seated in a cosy chair, he was interviewed by a reporter Saturday. He related upon interrogation some of the salient features of his life. He is the son of the late Robert W. Faulk and of Susan Williams Faulk. He was one of seven children, only one of whom, E. N. Faulk of Monroe, now survives besides himself. Dr. Faulk was born like many present day politicians claim, in a log cabin which was on the west bank of the Ouachita river, opposite the present Roselawn plantation of Bob Harmon. On his mother's side, he traces to one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. She came to Louisiana as a small girl from North Carolina, the trip being made by horse and wagon in a covered caravan.

His father was the son of John T. Faulk who was wounded in the Battle of New Orleans.

After his father died, his mother, of sturdy pioneer stock, set out to run the plantation bequeathed to her by her husband. Young Robert was her mainstay and aided her in this work. He had received what education he could obtain from a private governess, as there were no public schools here in those days.

Young Robert Faulk was able to find ways and means, aided by his loyal mother, to attend L. S. U., for a short time, and in the eighties, he entered the University of Louisville and in two years, in 1887, he received his diploma and began to practice medicine. He hung out his shingle in Logtown and later moved to Monroe. For a total of 52 years he has been in the constant practice of his profession as physician, and many owe their lives and present good health to his skill and constant devotion to his line of helpfulness.

He was noted for his fine team of horses which he always drove when on the rounds of his profession. The roads were either dusty or so muddy as to be almost impassable. Modern hospitals were unknown and in crude manner, operations were performed who so required under most primitive conditions, yet with it all there were comparatively few fatalities.

Dr. Faulk was one who knew no limitations and who went often for several days and nights at a time without obtaining rest for he placed duty and the saving of human life above all else.

During the administration of Mayor A. A. Forsythe, Dr. Faulk was appointed on the city school board and he served with distinction for 12 years. Governor Blanchard recognized his ability and civic mindedness sufficiently to name him to select the location for the state reform school. Later this school took on the name of the Louisiana Training institute. In the capacity of the one to locate this school, he performed a service to the state and community.

When the days of horse and carriage began to wane, with characteristic progressiveness, Dr. Faulk abandoned animal power for a Ford car which was one of the first to be owned in Monroe, back in 1907. He still points with pride to the excitement his "horseless buggy" created on the unpaved streets of the city as he drove at top speed of 15 or 16 miles an hour!

Dr. Faulk had three children, one of whom in his heroic death in the World war has left an ineffaceable name on the community. Barkdull Faulk, his oldest child, enlisted in the British army at the outset of the World war as surgeon and performed unusual service in caring for the wounded and dying on the field of battle. Badly wounded in the battle of the Somme, he still persisted in aiding the wounded and when his strength waned, due to injuries he had himself received, he was being borne on a stretcher to a hospital when a rain of enemy fire struck down one man who was carrying the stretcher. Then with characteristic heroism, Barkdull Faulk insisted that the men leave him to his fate and seek to save their own lives. They did so with reluctance, and the story has never been told of how Dr. Barkdull Faulk met his death. His body was never found or identified. The American Legion post in Monroe bears his name as does one of the city's finest school buildings, undying memorials of one who died that others might live.

In his successful practice of medicine, the past few years, Dr. Faulk has been gallantly aided by his faithful and talented wife, who before her marriage to Dr. Faulk was Mrs. Louise Hansen. Mrs. Faulk was a graduate of St. Francis sanitarium school of nursing, and aided by the late Dr. Oscar Dowling, president of the state board of health, and Dr. John Schrieber, health unit director here, she established and operated the first free laboratory in the city hall of Monroe, a fact of which she is justly proud.

Dr. Faulk today feels that his work is by no means completed. He has seen medicine achieve new peaks and he has travelled along in the forefront of progress. His health is excellent and he is anticipating many more years of life. His mother died only a few years ago in Richland parish at the age of 93, and he is believed to bid fair to round out many more years of active service to humanity. Good common sense, well-balanced habits of life, and a free conscience are the attributes that he believes have made it possible for him to live through eight decades. His friends, who are legion, will hope that he will celebrate many more happy birthdays as the dean of medicine in northeast Louisiana.

BOY WHO SHOT BANDIT WOULD HELP FIND HIM

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A 13-year-old boy who shot and wounded a negro killer after the latter had slain the lad's father in a grocery store holdup, today offered to join police in their hunt for the slayer.

The police declined his offer, but the youth, Pasquale Addante, vowed that if the killer were ever caught he would "put his eyes out."

After the gunman shot and mortally wounded Vito Addante, 42, the youth seized his father's pistol and engaged in a duel with the intruder last night, firing seven shots. The gunman, wounded in the side, knee and arm, appeared at a hospital shortly afterward, but fled before a nurse could summon the police.

Policeman Frank Devitt said at the inquest that the killer's arrest was expected soon, since he was believed to have been wounded so badly he would die without proper medical attention.

Addante's widow said the slayer was the same negro who held up the Addante store a year ago.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT PAYS A SMALL DEBT

BUFFALO, S. D.—(AP)—A. A. Thurn, rancher near here, was about to conclude the government had forgotten his World war service 20 years ago.

Then he received a $2.32 check from the war department, the balance due him for transportation from his point of discharge to the ranch. He had filed the claim in 1919.

TOM HICKS

HICKS SEEKS JOB ON POLICE JURY

Enters Race For Election To Parish Body From Ouachita's Ward 5

Tom Hicks of West Monroe, who was appointed to the Ouachita parish jury from Ward 5 slightly more than a year ago to complete the unexpired term of Harry M. Williams, Jr., who resigned to become mayor of West Monroe, is seeking election in the January primary to a full four-year term on the parochial governing body.

Mr. Hicks has had wide experience in the public service since coming to Louisiana 31 years ago as a lad of 15. He was born in Clark county, Alabama.

His parents first settled in Ouachita parish, but later moved to Grant parish. There Mr. Hicks completed his education in the public schools.

Before returning to Ouachita parish 26 years ago, Mr. Hicks, while operating a livery stable business in Pollock, served as a deputy sheriff of Grant parish. His present transfer business grew out of a service car enterprise he established immediately after his return.

Since establishing his residence in Ouachita parish, Mr. Hicks has served as a deputy sheriff, as city marshal of West Monroe and as a member of the West Monroe city council.

DR. MARY MIMS DIRECTS COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION

CHOUDRANT, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—Dr. Mary Mims, extension sociologist, was guest speaker at a community meeting at Choudrant High school Thursday night and directed the organization of a community club. Regular meetings will be held every second Tuesday.

R. W. Kemp was elected chairman of the club, Mrs. M. E. Kidd, co-chairman, and Mrs. H. E. Morrison, secretary.

DOSCH-FLEUROT TO DISCUSS WAR

Newspaper Correspondent Will Discuss Crisis In Europe Here Monday

The next in the series of Town Hall lectures for the Monroe club will be held at Northeast Junior college Monday at 8 p.m. The speaker will be of unusual interest, being Arno Dosch-Fleurot, first American war correspondent to reach this country from the western front of the present World war. He will talk on "The New European War." His appearance at this time will be in accord with the policy of the club of bringing outstanding world figures to discuss subjects of current interest. He will give an account of the fighting along the western front and the moves on the world's chess board in the European chancelleries.

The first war correspondent to reach America from the war front, Mr. Dosch-Fleurot, for 25 years has been reporting the world shaking events which have taken place in Europe. American-born and a Harvard graduate, he was sent to cover the first World war by "World's Work" and the New York World. He reported the German invasion of Belgium, the first British expeditionary force, the desperate defense by the British and French in 1914, the battle of Verdun, the Russian revolution, the Allied conquest of Wyria and the Armistice in Berlin.

For the 21 years since the World war, he has been moving from capital to capital in Europe as history has been in the making.

Several years ago, he established his own newspaper syndicate which has been sent to many leading metropolitan dailies under the heading of "The European Background." It is stated that probably no American newspaper observer is in a better position to interpret the cause leading to the present war and the ultimate outcome.

The speaker returned to the United States on October 11, coming directly home from the war-torn countries of Europe.

CARBURETOR LEAK IS BLAMED FOR AUTO FIRE

A leak in the carburetor was blamed for an automobile fire at the intersection of Hall and Grammont streets late yesterday afternoon, but the blaze was extinguished by members of the Monroe fire department before much damage was done. The car was reported owned by James Nichols.

Five grass fires were also extinguished yesterday. Grass fires were at 1700 North Fifth street, 404 South Third street, and near the intersections of McGuire street and Webster avenue, Jackson and Malvern streets, and College drive and Claiborne street.

JEWEL WEAVER TO REIGN OVER HOMER HOMECOMING

HOMER, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—Jewel Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Weaver, and a junior in Homer High school, has been selected queen of the Homer Pelicans for the 1939-1940 season and will reign over homecoming festivities Thanksgiving day. Invitations to the homecoming game with Haynesville have been sent to all graduates of Homer High school since 1902.

Six maids making up the royal court are Wanda Guice and Martha Alice Austin, seniors, Martha Gibson and Hazel Pugh, juniors, Lillian Collier, a sophomore, and Frances Walsh, freshman. The queen will be crowned by the Pelican captain at the football game Thursday afternoon.

A mammoth parade is scheduled early Thursday afternoon. The royal party will lead the process through Homer, followed by the school band, decorated cars and a bevy of students and rooters.

Reid Wholesale Beauty Supply House Opens Monday, 6 to 10 p.

Stanley Reid President And Manager Of Firm

Watkins And Varino, Successful Young Businessmen, Associated With Organizer Of Enterprise

Featuring a full line of nationally-advertised beauty shop furniture, equipment and supplies and barber shop furnishings, Reid Beauty Supply Company, Inc., will formally open here at 201 South Grand street Monday night.

The hours of the opening, during which refreshments will be served, will be 6 p.m. to 10 p.m.

The firm is headed by Stanley J. Reid as president. The other members are G. B. Watkins, vice-president, and George Varino, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Reid was formerly identified as sales representative with General Foods corporation. He resigned that position, in which he had proven himself highly successful, to organize the beauty supply business.

His associates are young businessmen who have demonstrated marked ability in their respective fields. Mr. Watkins is owner of the Ouachita Baking company. Mr. Varino is vice-president of F. Varino and company, a wholesale grocery located in West Monroe.

In addition to Mr. Reid, who will be actively in charge of the company as manager, the personnel will consist of Miss Myrtle Killian, office secretary, and Henry Haas, Jr., and Warren Hume, salesmen.

Reid Beauty Supply company is a wholesale establishment and caters only to the needs of beauty shops and barber shop operators.

In addition to everything required in waving and setting hair, in manicuring hands, in scalp treatments and in facial treatments and in addition to a full line of cosmetics, the company handles such furniture and fixture items as booths, dresserettes, dressing tables, lounge chairs, manicure chairs, utility chairs, combination shampoo and facial chairs, dryer chairs, dryers, barber chairs, facial chairs, facial lounges, hair dressing chairs, appointment desks, manicure tables, shampoo boards (pedestal and chair styles), shampoo bowls, hat and coat racks, foot rests and shampoo containers.

Valuable awards will be made in connection with the formal opening, to which beauty and barber shop owners and beauticians throughout northeast Louisiana have been invited.

The need in the Monroe trade territory of a wholesale beauty supply house with a complete stock of the highest grade merchandise prompted Mr. Reid and his associates to organize the Reid Beauty Supply company. It will endeavor to anticipate all of the requirements of beauty shops and beauty schools.

The company will feature prompt service. All orders will be mailed or delivered the same day received.

WE ADD THE UNION LABEL

At the [illegible] for the first time [illegible] Printing Trades council [illegible] departments of the News-Star—World Publishing corporation are working under union contracts with these newspapers.

Mechanical employes of The World and News-Star have been working under union conditions since the establishment of The World by the Ewing interests ten years ago but composing room employes were not under contract. Yesterday the first contract with the International Typographical union was delivered to the publisher of the two newspapers.

The management of The News-Star and Morning World, as well as officials and members of the Typographical union, believe that the delivery of this contract marks another step toward maintenance of most cordial relations between employer and employe in a plant whose every worker is dedicated to the publishing of two modern, up-to-the-minute newspapers to serve northeast Louisiana.

AMERICA'S LEGAL FACTORIES

From the council of State governments comes the report that, for 42 of the 44 states which held legislative sessions in 1939, the average number of new laws enacted was 402. California, with 1,321 new statutes, topped all the nation's legalistic factories.

To some extent, of course, the economic emergency may be blamed for jamming of the hoppers. When prevailing conditions are none too good, legislators are tempted to bring forth multitudinous remedies, some of them sound and some of them indicative of nothing but crackpot search for an ever-vanishing Utopia.

However, the lawmaking bodies of the various states deserve at least a bit of credit, since it is reported that only 16,921 measures became law despite the fact that no fewer than 57,925 were presented for consideration.

Herbert Hoover would have the United States export only defensive weapons. Rifles shipped to belligerent nations would presumably bear tags reading: "To be used only when shot at."

The Monroe Morning World is an independent newspaper. It prints the news impartially. It supports what it believes to be right. It opposes what it believes to be wrong, without regard to party politics.

School Fund Deficiency

It is distinctly unfortunate for the school children of Louisiana that legislative raids on the severance tax in 1938 should have forced the school funds of the state into the red. It is still more unfortunate that for manifest political reasons State Superintendent of Education Thomas H. Harris should endeavor to screen the facts about the school fund overdraft which the records of the state treasurer disclose. The people have a right to look to Mr. Harris for the unvarnished facts concerning school finances. Any political masking of the facts on his part is reprehensible and inexcusable.

The facts are that on the first day of January, 1938, the public schools had a surplus in the state treasury of over $478,000. By the end of the year this surplus had been swallowed up and an overdraft in excess of $797,000 had taken its place. It was in 1938 that the legislature rode full tilt against the severance tax fund and sliced it into appetizing pieces for the benefit of favored interests—including private land-owners at Chalmette. The 1938 appropriations out of this fund exceeded those of the previous year by over $1,300,000. THIS MONEY WOULD HAVE GONE TO THE SCHOOLS IF THE LEGISLATURE HAD NOT APPROPRIATED IT.

The parishes did not feel the effect of this legislative invasion for the reason that the school fund was distributed in 1938 on the basis of $16 per pupil, just as it was distributed in the previous year. But, the records show that the distribution produced a surplus in 1937 and an overdraft in 1938. It is clear as the noonday sun that the state cannot pay out money which it does not possess, and that sooner or later the effect of the legislative raid on the severance tax must be felt in financing public school operations.

There is, of course, the expedient of borrowing; but the day of reckoning must come there, too. Money borrowed by the state from fiscal banks is usually paid back out of the general fund, which pays the general expenses of government. But, the school fund itself cannot safely depend upon so uncertain a source of revenue.

Superintendent Harris would do well to put the facts squarely before the people of the state and not try to hide legislative rapacity beneath a thin coating of equivocal reasoning, such as his recent letter to parish superintendents and school boards revealed.

If his intention is to show that the Leche administration carefully conserved the financial interests of the public schools in arranging its fiscal program in 1938, he has scored a lamentable failure. If his purpose is to demonstrate that school finances of Louisiana are in excellent shape, he challenges the records of the state treasurer. And, in either case, he serves the interests of public education in Louisiana very badly.

WE ADD THE UNION LABEL

At the top of this column today will be found for the first time the Union label of the Allied Printing Trades council, meaning that all employes of the mechanical departments of the News-Star—World Publishing corporation are working under Union contracts with these newspapers.

Mechanical employes of The World and News-Star have been working under Union conditions since the establishment of The World by the Ewing interests ten years ago but composing room employes were not under contract. Yesterday the first contract with the International Typographical union was delivered to the publisher of the two newspapers.

The management of The News-Star and Morning World, as well as officials and members of the Typographical union, believe that the delivery of this contract marks another step toward maintenance of most cordial relations between employer and employe in a plant whose every worker is dedicated to the publishing of two modern, up-to-the-minute newspapers to serve northeast Louisiana.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—There are government sleuths in Washington who wouldn't be at all surprised if Chicago presently had a new outbreak of gang warfare in the old style.

Al Capone walked out of prison a free man November 16. O'Hare, back in the days of Capone's greatness, ran a dog track for him and was an important figure in his organization. Since Capone's imprisonment, O'Hare had risen to riches he did not have in the old days.

One rumor is that Capone was turned down when he tried to levy on O'Hare for a contribution to help pay the $10,000 in tax liens which Capone had to pay before his release was final.

Would Ease Building Payment

At least one and possibly several attempts to liberalize the Federal Housing act in the hope of stimulating low-priced home construction will be made at the next session of congress. One senator—a Republican by the way—is now drafting a bill which would make it possible to build a home under FHA financing without making any down payment whatever.

He proposes to have this apply to construction costing less than $4,000, and to stipulate a 10 per cent down payment on homes costing more than that.

His argument is that there are plenty of people whose annual incomes are enough to enable them to pay for a house, but that the down payment proposition is a hump they can't get over. By removing it, he hopes a wide new field of construction would be opened.

Propose Help For Stranded Migrants

One of the innumerable complications in the problem of the dispossessed sharecropper, tenant farmer, and "dust bowl" migrant is that of relief. The department of agriculture estimates that some 350,000 families in this group have gone adrift in recent years.

They wander into other states, and when they fail to find work fall into dire distress, since the local authorities naturally tend to deny relief to them on the ground that they are not residents of the state.

Congressman Jerry Voorhis hopes to get public hearings this winter on a bill he has introduced to meet this situation. He would have the federal government make grants to reimburse states for money spent on relief for out-of-state people.

Under his proposal, administration of this relief would be handled locally, subject to the general approval of some federal agency such as the social security board.

Incidentally, Farm Security administration officials say that while a number of families were set adrift this fall by drouth in the southwest, a few of them headed west. They'd heard too many stories about people like themselves who went to California in search of work and couldn't find it.

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18.—Dear Staff: I'm mad at Warners, because the powers-that-be of that lot hung an unhappy ending on the otherwise elegant picture, "We Are Not Alone."

Yeah, I know the book from which it was adapted ends sadly, and that studios are dishing out realism nowadays. But why not take our realism out of the newspapers and let the screen provide happiness?

In "We Are Not Alone," the first seven reels teach us to hate a nagging wife, and to feel sorry for her kindly husband, their young son, and a sweet girl who loves the husband. I suffered through most of the nagging wife's injustices, living for the moment when the others would find happiness together.

But just as what I was hoping for was about to take place—crash, bang! the Warners slap on an unhappy ending. Just as the man and girl discover love, they're hanged for a crime they did not commit.

Where's the justice of that? More important, where's the entertainment? I say, when I'm sent out of a theater morose and bitter, the film I saw failed in its duty to entertain me. I pay my half-dollar to be amused—to be lifted out of humdrum worries—to be made gay. When the picture I had hoped to enjoy sends me home with angry, vindictive spirits, I've been cheated.

Why won't producers learn that most people prefer to be happy, and that millions, finding gaiety and pleasure elusive, look for momentary fragments in movie theaters?

Dammit, if I can't have entertainment and happiness in my movies—especially in their closing reels—I'll turn to war news for entertainment.

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear Boss: If it took a necktie party to bring out the hidden dramatic ability of little Jane Bryan (we've gone overboard about that lovely), why—hang one, hang all, say we. Seriously, has it occurred to you that we're having an absolute epidemic of tragic endings, and that morbid psychology produced by too much war news may be responsible? However, there are a few laughs left to offset the mopes—those table-cloth-checked sport shirts John Payne is wearing, for instance.

Your pal Edgar Bergen, so unhappy because his summer vacation was whittled to two weeks, has arranged for time off in January—he'll spend another two weeks in Mexico City. . . . Margot Stevenson and Aeneas McKenzie (author of "Elizabeth and Essex") are a romantic twosome. . . . Next time you meet John Miljan, ask him about that "big fish" he caught and watch him blush—while he dozed some wag tied an empty pail on his line and he fought it to a disillusioned finish. . . . Horace MacMahon will fly to New York to spend the holidays with his wife, Louise Campbell, who signs for a Broadway play next week. . . . George Raft vacations to Hawaii in December.

Remember your item about Ian Hunter's close call, when he was caught at sea in his small yacht during our September hurricane? Here's the tag: Yesterday he had his boat put on the ways for a check-up, gave the rudder an experimental tug—and it came off in his hands! He's still shaking.

According to reports from agency row, Loretta Young is being offered plenty to star in a new radio serial. . . . And here's a "history repeats" item: 10-year-old Peter McHugh, born only a few days after papa Frank McHugh was given a first screen break by Director Mike Curtiz, now gets his first role from the same director in "Virginia City." . . . Cancel that P. A. tour announced for John Payne—he's being paged for important parts in the next Jane Withers and Marx Brothers films. . . . Mala, star of "Eskimo," is hospitalized for an operation. . . . One of the characters in "Pinnochio," the Walt Disney feature-length animated, will have a pen-and-ink body but the head of a real girl—and a beauty! . . . Boss, next time you see Una Merkel, give her an extra big smile—she not only appeared gratis on a radio program for the Children's Home society, but sent them a fat check. . . . Director Howard Hawks will go to South America to purchase a string of bangtails. . . . "Princess" Li Ling Ai, the Chinese glamor girl who wrote "Sing Song Girl," due for New York production, is getting acting offers from two major studios.

How's this for a loyal Englishman? Charles Laughton, urged by a major studio to play Dr. Samuel Johnson, the great literary light, yesterday wired this reply: "So far as I know, he did nothing but sit on the sidelines and make nasty remarks about other people. Let's think of a character who wasn't in a rut!"

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1939, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The chatty and genial dispatches of Sir Philip Gibbs, "With the British Forces," as his none-too-revealing dateline introduces them, are pleasant reading, and, too, copy-book models of the British literary, and possibly military, genius for under-statement. They are a tonic for oldsters who have resolved the unpleasantness of the last World war in a romantic afterglow, in which, it appears that Old Bill finally found a "better 'ole," and Britain muddled through again and the lads got home to their fish and chips and a spot of ale at the pub on Saturday night.

And so it will always be, you can't help feeling, when you read Sir Philip's 1914-model stories, as unchanged in technique and sentiment as any Kipling ballad of empire or the song of the linnet in the Hawthorne hedge. You know that Old England is still carrying on.

That suits me, but I have a disquieting feeling that Sir Philip's romantic mood may be outmoded almost any day now and that, for the sake of the dramatic unities, in which he is masterfully at ease, there should be at least a bit of foreshadowing of what is to come. For instance, here's Sir Philip extolling the coolness and gallantry of a young officer "who seemed to think it all very good." This officer was in rompers when the last war came off. He craves action. Sir Philip writes:

"It was pity, he thought, that he could not have one little battle of a light and gentlemanly nature to test out the work they had been doing."

There is a fine pride of craftsmanship, distinctively British, but one can't help pondering this "little battle of a light and gentlemanly nature," and wondering if there really is such thing as gentlemanly killing, wholesale or retail. Unless I am mistaken, the house committee wouldn't allow it in any of Sir Philip's London clubs. One just can't seem to manage it in a nice way, or to bring it through with decorous restraint. That's why I am inclined to think the aging Sir Philip is writing in the mood of yesterday, distinguished and able journalist though he is.

There was a highly esteemed American, writing long before Sir Philip, who had never seen a big war, but who, I believe, more accurately sensed the true nature of war. I quote here "A War Prayer," by Mark Twain:

"O Lord our God help us to tear their soldiers to bloody shreds with out shells; help us to cover their smiling fields with the pale forms of their patriot dead; help us to drown the thunder of the guns with the cries of the wounded, writhing in pain; help us to lay waste their humble homes with hurricane of fire; help us to wring the hearts of their unoffending widows with unavailing grief; help us to turn them out roofless, with their little children to wander unfriended through wastes of their desolated lands in rags and hunger and thirst, sport of the sun flames of summer and the icy winds of winter, broken in spirit, worn with travail, imploring Thee for the refuge of the grave and denied it—for our sakes who adore Thee, Lord, blast their hopes, blight their lives, protect their bitter pilgrimages, make heavy their steps, water their way with their tears, stain the white snow with blood of their wounded feet! We ask of One who is the spirit of love, and who is the ever faithful refuge and friend of all that are sore beset and seek His aid with humble and contrite hearts. Grant our prayer, O Lord, and Thine shall be the praise and honor and glory now and ever. Amen."

The guns Mark Twain wrote about were just popguns compared to those now planted on the western front. There was no death in the skies in his innocent day; no rain of poison gas; no murder lurking undersea; not one one-thousandths of the leashed forces of devastation —— ready to strike. Perhaps Sir Philip's apparently approving reference to a "light and gentlemanly" battle was just a slight faux pas. Every sane man wants to see the end of war. Wouldn't we be more apt to end it if we took a real look at it, as did Mark Twain, instead of dressing it up in gallantry and gentility?

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein

Problems created by deafness have given great concern to experts in many fields.

Those who deal with genetics feel the only means of preventing hereditary defects is to discourage intermarriage among adults who have congential deafness. There are also adults who have congenital blindness or similar defects of the body, which may be inherited.

We exercise great care not to permit breeding of animals and of stock, which might carry defects into the progeny. But human marriages are not arranged primarily with an eye to health or to the production of sound offspring.

If infections in children's ears can be detected sufficiently early and relief promptly supplied, there is no need for permanent hardness of hearing.

Whenever a child suffers with an infectious disease, the physician should inspect the ears regularly for signs of internal auditory inflammation. If a baby is fretful or has a fever for which the cause cannot be determined, there should be a prompt examination of the ear to determine if infectious material is locked behind the drum.

Should a child object to a gentle pulling of the lobe of its ear, the parents may well suspect some painful disorder. A doctor can make a quick minor incision in the eardrum which will permit pressure to be released. This treatment not only saves hearing in the vast majority of cases but, in some instances, saves life also.

If a child is completely deaf by the time it is three to five years of age, the parents should make an effort at once to get the child admitted to one of the special schools for the deaf in the various states. Dr. Gordon Berry says that there are about 20,000 deaf children in the state schools and in those in large cities.

Early education in a proper school for the hard of hearing may mean the difference between a self-supporting, happy child or one that becomes a drag on the community.

P.-T. A. PLAY PRESENTS STEPHEN FOSTER'S LIFE

JONESBORO, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—The Parent-Teacher association for the Jonesboro-Hodge High school met in regular session on Tuesday afternoon in the school auditorium with Mrs. John Burks. Members heard a special service of song and story, commemorating the life of Stephen Foster, presented by the choral club under the direction of Miss Godbold, the music director. Doris Bowman played the part of Stephen's mother, Judson Rogers was the prodigal son, Stephen Foster, and Shirley Spencer was the daughter, Jeannie, with the light brown hair.

Mary Bess Frey and Janice Pullen played important parts in the presentation. A count of the mothers present revealed that the ninth grade class had the largest number of mothers present, winning the right to have the wiener roast.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

THE HARD WAY

There are some conscientious parents and teachers, who think that unless a child has trouble doing his work or living with other people he is not being reared in a way to strengthen his moral fibre. "He finds things so easy. He can't be making much growth. If things are easy for him what will he do when he faces a hard task?"

Wait and see. I do not believe that it is in any way necessary for us to make things hard for children. It is not good sense, for example, for a teacher to give a class ten difficult problems for a lesson just so they know what hard work means. Give them one of these problems and let it follow in order a gradually increasing difficulty. Let the remaining problems be easy ones. One crisis is plenty in a lesson, as in every other field.

Nor is it sensible, or right, to make a child work a problem the hardest way. For example, when a child is multiplying fractions he should be permitted to cancel all he can find, to reduce large fractions to their lowest terms so as to avoid handling awkward numbers. I once had a teacher who made us multiply a long line of fractions, big numbers, "all out" just to give us practice in doing a long hard job accurately. It was six weeks before the whole class got the problem worked off the record, and even then, some of us had to be helped by more fortunate ones. It does not make sense. Drudgery for drudgery's sake is not strengthening. It is depressing and poisonous in its effects.

The same thing holds good in all other directions. I cannot agree with the mother who insists that her little daughter use a broom to sweep the rugs instead of the vacuum cleaner. "She must first learn to sweep clean with a broom. Then she can take the easy way." One might as well say, "No, you walk those hundred and fifty miles so you can learn to walk long distances. Then you can ride in the car." What sense is there in creating difficulties? Did you ever know anybody living to get through life without having to overcome greatly? Neither have I. The children will encounter hardship, plenty, without our creating any.

It is not intelligent to do things the hard way. It is intelligent to find the shortest, easiest, possible way. The test of quality, of honesty of workmanship, is the real one. Is the job well done? Is it an honest job? If the answer both times is yes, we should ask no more.

No matter how many short cuts a child finds, no matter how comfortable his daily occasions may be, he will always have to overcome difficulties to get his work done. Nothing is ever done without overcoming resistance of one sort or another. Each meets his own troubles because each has his own peculiar points of view, his own ability and power. Give him his work; show him the easiest way, and leave him to work his way.

I have not the slightest fear that even the most self-loving of children will not find trouble enough to overcome. Nor have I the slightest fear that he will not find strength to overcome his difficulties if we give him half a chance to grow according to his gifts.

WASHINGTON DAYBOOK

By Preston Grover

WASHINGTON—The mathematical genius who added extra miles to the speed of every modern warship afloat watches today from a bed in Naval Hospital here while younger comrades, using his plans, make ready to add another billion dollars worth of might to the United States navy.

The famous ship designer, whose texts have become the "bible" of naval architects in every country, is Admiral David Watson Taylor. His is one of the brightest naval minds that have come out of Annapolis.

He is the admiral who "took the bone out of the teeth of high speed fighting vessels," as navy people phrase it.

Generations of navy men knew that the huge boiling wave of frothy water which plowed ahead of fast ships was a costly one, cutting down the speed of the ship and eating up its fuel so that it could not stay at sea so long. It was beautiful to see an old style ship plowing the waves with "a bone in her teeth." But to the navy it was a costly sight.

It fell to Admiral Taylor to design ships which cut the water intead of rolling it majestically aside in a huge wave.

Changed World's Navies

It took years of painstaking experimentation in a cramped testing pool in Washington. The plan he evolved was called the "bulbous bow." To the inexpert eye it looked as if putting a big bulge on the lower part of a ship's bow would raise even a bigger wave ahead than would a knife edge. Taylor proved it would not. Every modern destroyer, battleship and cruiser now has the "bulbous bow" design he worked out.

Speed-lining of ships was not his only contribution to naval designing. He put the United States navy in the lead of other navies for a time by center-lining the firing turrets. Old line battleships balanced their gun turrets on opposite sides of the ships.

Taylor designed the system which permits the four heavy turrets, two aft and two forward, to ride the center-line of the ship. It increased fire power, accuracy, and stability of the ship. Equally important, it put the turrets farther into the core of the ship, adding strength and efficency. Every world navy followed suit.

• • •

'Brains Sailor'

Taylor was not much of a sea-going sailor, for the navy would not waste his designing abilities by sending him to sea. He was a "brains sailor" from the time he entered Annapolis in 1881, after completing a college course at Randolph-Macon, where he enrolled at the age of 13.

Fresh out of Annapolis, from which he was graduated with a scholastic record exceeding all previous records, he was sent to the Royal Naval college in England for post-graduate work in naval architecture. There again he received highest honors. The lad seemed to have that "something extra."

Back in the United States he helped design the first three battleships the navy ever had. They were the Indiana, Massachusetts and Oregon. They all sailed with "bones in their teeth" in the old style. The bulbous-bow came 25 years later.

Admiral Taylor was chief of construction during the World war when we built more than a thousand vessels, from the mosquito fleet to first line battleships. In that period he put a million odd tons of fighting power on the waves. Our newest ships—including the 45,000-ton monsters not yet begun—will be Taylor-made.

Now about 75, Taylor has been in a hospital for several years, victim of a stroke. Naval men expect him to get up soon to see a huge naval experiment station on the Potomac dedicated in his honor.

Poland's Famous Shrine Survives Fourth War

THE "Black Madonna" of Czestochowa, Poland's most famous religious shrine, is still intact after its fourth war experience. No damage to the painting nor to the monastery in which it hangs was suffered during the German invasion.

The shrine was attacked and pillaged by Hussites in 1430. Swedish armies failed to capture it in 1665 and 1705.

MAN WHO SUGGESTED EARLY THANKSGIVING TO CELEBRATE TWICE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — (AP) — After all the fuss and furore about Thanksgiving it developed today that the household of the man who made the first recorded request for an earlier date will have two turkey day dinners after all — on the 23rd and the 30th.

The man is Lew Hahn, genial gray-haired general manager of the National Retail Dry Goods association, who suggested to Secretary of Commerce Hopkins in August that Thanksgiving be shoved ahead a week. Shortly afterwards President Roosevelt said he intended to propose such a change.

The immediate prospect of getting down twice to Thanksgiving turkey — once on the 23rd, the date New York is observing, and again when his youngest son returns for Thanksgiving from Brown university in Rhode Island, which is observing the 30th — doesn't shake Hahn's belief that the idea of an earlier Thanksgiving is fundamentally sound.

He's convinced it will enable the [illegible] of the part that's observing the earlier date to do its Christmas [illegible] and [illegible] more business and increased employment.

In some previous years, when Thanksgiving fell on a late date, the [illegible] was pointed out to government officials that it worked a hardship not only on merchants but on employes.

Some estimate that as a result of a week's extra business this year 100,000 [illegible] persons will receive employment. Hahn would not give his own estimate, but said the association [illegible] figures [illegible] after [illegible] larger volume and more employment.

MORRISON TERMS LONG A DEADHEAD

Candidate Says Governor Was On Conservation Payroll In 1931-32

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 18 — (AP) — Charges that Governor Earl K. Long was "dead-heading" on the state conservation department payroll when he was a candidate for lieutenant-governor in the 1931 campaign against the O. K. Allen ticket backed by the late Huey P. Long were made here tonight by James H. Morrison of Hammond as he wound up a campaign tour of north Louisiana in behalf of his own candidacy for governor in the present race.

Morrison charged before a large crowd on the Caddo parish courthouse lawn that Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans, who was then conservation commissioner and a supporter of Huey Long, actually had Earl Long on the department's payrolls.

"Earl K. Long in 1931-32 ran for lieutenant-governor and he was then dead-heading on the conservation department payrolls and the records show it and that is why you will never see those records. Maestri was paying him on his department payroll."

He charged Maestri and William Helis, south Louisiana oil operator now in Greece, with "pumping three and a half million barrels of hot oil out of the Little Bayou field near New Iberia."

Jones, he said, "sold his soul for $100,000 to try to become governor and is owned body and soul by corporations."

Noe, he declared, "took $200 and nice state oil leases he transferred while he himself was governor and made over a million dollars out of them."

Maestri, Morrison declared, "may get by federal investigations, but he's guilty and I promise you now that if I am elected governor he won't get by state grand juries."

Morrison promised that if he is elected he will lower auto license plate and business license costs, blacktop gravel roads and gravel country roads, and remove dead-heads from all state payrolls.

"I kept Richard Leche from getting a place on the federal bench when the newspapers said he was sure to get it. I made a speech telling what Dick Leche really was and then I sent copies of it to congress, to the senate, to the president, to all the cabinet members and members of the supreme court and I kept Leche off that bench," he said.

U. S. BONDS CONTINUE TO ADVANCE ON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 18 — (AP) — U. S. government issues continued to forge ahead today in a bond market which boasted a fair preponderance of gains in the principal corporate groups.

The upturn in the federals, giving a full half point for several treasuries, was accomplished on comparatively small turnover. Offerings were slow to come out, dealers reported.

Several low yield corporate liens moved up with the governments. Speculative ratings were somewhat uneven, reflecting week-end profit-taking in a few of the lower priced rails and miscellaneous issues.

In the foreign division, moderate gains went to loans of Japan, Colombia and Belgium. Italians yielded some ground.

Transactions totaled $3,449,500 face value, compared with the previous Saturday volume (November 4) of $[illegible].

LOCAL PARISHES GIVEN PUBLICITY

Importance Of Group Discussed In Latest Issue Of State Bulletin

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—The importance of the six parishes of north-central Louisiana in both agricultural and industrial life of the state are discussed in the latest issue of "Louisiana Commerce and Industry," monthly bulletin published by the state department of commerce and industry here.

The magazine, circulated among business and industrial executives throughout the nation, points out that the parishes of Bienville, Claiborne, Lincoln, Morehouse, Ouachita and Union produce 56 per cent of the state's natural gas, 6.82 per cent of its manufactured products, and more than $18,000,000 worth of agricultural products annually.

Figures for the six parishes mentioned, according to Ernest Lee Jahncke, executive director of the department, are from a survey of the entire state being conducted by the department's research division.

Discussing agriculture in this section, the article points out that a variety of crops are grown, but that approximately half ($9,000,000) of the agricultural income is from cotton.

"Poultry, beef cattle, and other livestock, along with dairying, round out a well-balanced agricultural economy. The 1937 income from cattle raising was $977,285, while dairy products contributed $509,560 to the total agricultural income for that year.

"More than 90,000,000 board feet of timber were cut from these six parishes in 1938," it is stated. "Of this, Union parish yielded 29,913,517 board feet, while Bienville was second with 20,171,974 board feet." Attention is also called to the three paper mills and many lumber mills of this section.

A variety of industries are enumerated in the discussion, with the statement that during 1935 (the latest year for which figures are available) these plants manufactured $29,685,719 worth of goods. The manufacturing payroll in 1937 was more than $5,000,000, Ouachita leading with $2,819,000.

Other statistics include: Crude petroleum output of 5,536,489 barrels; retail sales in 1,630 stores amounting to $35,660,186; and 122 wholesale establishments with a gross business of more than $16,000,000.

MAN WHO SUGGESTED EARLY THANKSGIVING TO CELEBRATE TWICE

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—After all the fuss and flurry about Thanksgiving, it developed today that the household of the man who made the first recorded request for an earlier date will have two turkey day dinners after all—on the 23rd and the 30th.

The man is Lew Hahn, genial gray-haired general manager of the National Retail Dry Goods association, who suggested to Secretary of Commerce Hopkins in August that Thanksgiving be shoved ahead a week. Shortly afterwards, President Roosevelt said he intended to propose such a change.

The immediate prospect of sitting down twice to Thanksgiving turkey—once on the 23rd, the date New York is observing, and again when his youngest son returns for Thanksgiving from Brown university in Rhode Island, which is observing the 30th—hasn't shaken Hahn's belief that the idea of an earlier Thanksgiving is fundamentally sound.

He's convinced it will enable the public—at least the part that's observing the earlier date—to do its Christmas shopping more easily, with less worry and fuss, and that it probably will lead to more business and increased employment.

In some previous years, when Thanksgiving fell on a late date, the association has pointed out to government officials that it worked a hardship not only on merchants but on employes.

Some estimate that as a result of a week's extra business this year, 1,000,000 additional persons will receive employment. Hahn would not give his own estimate, but said the association would inquire from its members afterward what it has meant in larger volume and more employment.

MORRISON TERMS LONG A DEADHEAD

Candidate Says Governor Was On Conservation Payroll In 1931-32

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Charges that Governor Earl K. Long was "dead-heading" on the state conservation department payroll when he was a candidate for lieutenant-governor in the 1931 campaign against the O. K. Allen ticket backed by the late Huey P. Long were made here tonight by James H. Morrison of Hammond as he wound up a campaign tour of north Louisiana in behalf of his own candidacy for governor in the present race.

Morrison charged before a large crowd on the Caddo parish courthouse lawn that Mayor Robert S. Maestri of New Orleans, who was then conservation commissioner and a supporter of Huey Long, actually had Earl Long on the department's payrolls.

"Earl K. Long in 1931-32 ran for lieutenant-governor and he was then dead-heading on the conservation department payrolls and the records show it and that is why you will never see those records. Maestri was paying him on his department payroll."

He charged Maestri and William Helis, south Louisiana oil operator now in Greece, with "pumping three and a half million barrels of hot oil out of the Little Bayou field near New Iberia."

Jones, he said, "sold his soul for $100,000 to try to become governor and is owned body and soul by corporations."

Noe, he declared, "took $200 and nice state oil leases he transferred while he himself was governor and made over a million dollars out of them."

Maestri, Morrison declared, "may get by federal investigations, but he's guilty and I promise you now that if I am elected governor he won't get by state grand juries."

Morrison promised that if he is elected he will lower auto license plate and business license costs, blacktop gravel roads and gravel country roads, and remove dead-heads from all state payrolls.

"I kept Richard Leche from getting a place on the federal bench when the newspapers said he was sure to get it. I made a speech telling what Dick Leche really was and then I sent copies of it to congress, to the senate, to the president, to all the cabinet members and members of the supreme court and I kept Leche off that bench," he said.

U. S. BONDS CONTINUE TO ADVANCE ON MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—U. S. government issues continued to forge ahead today in a bond market which boasted a fair preponderance of gains in the principal corporate groups.

The upturn in the federals, giving a full half point for several treasuries, was accomplished on comparatively small turnover. Offerings were slow to come out, dealers reported.

Several low yield corporate liens moved up with the governments. Speculative ratings were somewhat uneven, reflecting week-end profit-taking in a few of the lower priced rails and miscellaneous issues.

In the foreign division, moderate gains went to loans of Japan, Colombia and Belgium. Italians yielded some ground.

Transactions totaled $3,449,500 face value, compared with the previous Saturday volume (November 4) of $3,773,500.

The week's activities will start off with the swearing in of the new grand and petit juries.

However, the grand jury which has been in session since last summer and has returned indictments against many high political figures will be held over to continue its unfinished investigations.

Only major "scandal" topic under federal scrutiny not now presented to the holdover jury is the probe of reported monopolistic practices in the building trades industries.

OAKLAND LAUDS HIS OPPONENTS

Barney Oakland, Ward 3 police juror seeking re-election in the January primary, is proving himself something of an unorthodox politician. He has nothing but good to say of the other three candidates in the race with him. He believes the ward will be well represented no matter who happens to be elected.

Mr. Oakland has put what he thinks of his fellow candidates in writing. His thoughts are as follows:

"GEORGE BREECE: A young man of exceptional ability. George has had responsibilities that would tax the capabilities of a man twice his age thrust upon him at an age when most boys are still attending school. He has stood the test and carried on in the footsteps of his father who, in addition to being a successful business man, was also police juror of Ward 3.

"C. S. CAUSEY: A man beloved and respected by everyone who knows him. Having spent years building up a business based upon friendly service and economical management backed by square dealings, we are assured that Causey will give the best of his efforts in the service of Ouachita parish.

"B. B. LOGAN: A man of outstanding experience and character. Has freely given of his time and efforts to promote the best interest of ex-service men, civic and fraternal organizations; in fact, everything that would promote the best interest of humanity and make Monroe a better place in which to live."

VETERAN JURIST RETIRES AT 80

Judge Hugh Cage Of New Orleans To Serve Until Successor Named

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18—(AP)—Judge Hugh C. Cage, veteran presiding judge of the Orleans parish civil district courts, retired today at the age of 80 years under the constitutional retirement provision but said he would continue to exercise his judicial duties until Governor Earl K. Long appoints his successor.

Judge Cage in his retirement session of court said he would continue his duties for the time being at the request of Governor Long "provided that during this period I am physically and mentally capable of doing so."

He included in a "per curiam" on his career and retirement a letter from Governor Long in which the chief executive said he did not deem it wise at this time, on the eve of a statewide primary election "that your successor be sought out" and cited a constitutional provision for the judge to serve until his successor was named.

Judge Cage, who held the court today around the fireside of his comfortable home because his physician advised him to remain inside during the damp weather, said he would step down from the position of presiding judge in favor of Judge William H. Byrne, Sr., his associate.

Judge Cage was elected to the district court in 1918 to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge T. C. W. Ellis who died two years after his election.

He pointed out that he had served for 21 continuous years on the bench and was entitled to retirement with pay for life under the 20-year service statute.

Ohio State, which like Princeton had bowed only to Cornell, found Illinois an easy victim, 21-0. Notre Dame's second and third-stringers led the Irish to a 7-0 conquest of Northwestern.

One of the greatest personal duels of the day occurred at Philadelphia, where Tom Harmon paced Michigan to a 19-17 victory over Penn, led by Francis Reagan. Detroit buried Manhattan under a 36-13 count and Kentucky took West Virginia over the jumps, 13-6. Marquette won a spectacular 22-19 decision over Texas Tech.

Fordham shellacked oft-beaten St. Mary's (Calif.), 13-0. Catholic U. buried Loyola (New Orleans), 34-0, and George Washington whipped Kansas, 13-6.

In the east, Georgetown completed its second successive season without defeat by taking advantage of opportunities and bowling over New York university, 14-0. Syracuse sprang an upset in taking Colgate for a ride, 7-0, while Nick Basca's broken field running carried Villanova to a 12-6 decision over Temple. Army had to come from behind to tie Penn State, 14-14.

Georgia Tech remained unbeaten in the Southeastern conference, nipping Alabama, 6-0, while Auburn, finally hitting the form expected of it in pre-season forecasts, buried Louisiana State, 21-7. Georgia and Sewanee gave the Southeastern group a pair of victories over Southern conference rivals. Georgia whipped South Carolina, 33-7, and Sewanee topped Citadel, 14-7.

In Southern conference games, Virginia Military topped Maryland, 13-0; William and Mary conquered Washington and Lee, 18-14, and North Carolina State surprised Furman, 12-7. Virginia Tech took non-conference Virginia into camp, 13-0.

Wisconsin's Badgers almost won their first Big Ten decision but Purdue rallied in the fourth quarter to gain a 7-7 draw. Indiana played non-conference Michigan State to the same score. Chicago's long losing drouth ended as the Maroon won from Oberlin, 25-0. Iowa State unexpectedly knocked off Kansas State, 10-0, in a Big Six test.

In the Southwest, Texas came from far behind to whip Texas Christian, 25-19. Baylor knocked off Centenary in a non-conference struggle, 13-6.

All was calm in the Rocky Mountain Big Seven where Utah trounced Colorado State, 42-7; Colorado, the leader, whipped Brigham Young, 12-6, and Utah State won from Wyoming, 20-13.

Oregon State and Washington State hung up victories in the Pacific Coast conference where the leaders are Southern California and U. C. L. A. Oregon State crushed California, 21-0, while Washington State subdued Stanford, 7-0.

Fresh steps designed to win the war were taken in France and Germany.

The French called up the first section of the 1939 class of conscripts, ordering the new poilus to report November 27 for their two years of military service.

In Berlin, German authorities increased the laborer's working day in essential industries from eight to ten hours. The pay for the ninth and tenth hours will be the same rate as that of the first eight, it was said, but will be tax free.

DUTCH VESSEL STRIKES MINE

LONDON, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Netherlands passenger liner Simon Bolivar sunk in the North sea with a possible loss of 140 lives today after striking a mine which the British admiralty charged the Germans haid laid without notifying neutral shipping.

The 8,309-ton vessel carried 400 persons, including women and children. A total of 260 survivors, of whom 140 were said to be crewmen, were landed at an unnamed British port.

Many of the rescued were reported "badly injured."

Official sources here expressed fear that all those missing were dead.

Aside from British naval losses, it was the worst sea disaster of Europe's current war.

The heaviest loss to a non-fighting ship previously was in the sinking of the British liner Athenia, northwest of Ireland September 3, the day Britain and France declared war on Germany.

NETHERLANDS' OFFICIALS SHOCKED

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 18—(AP)—Netherlands officials and citizens, shocked by the sinking of the liner Simon Bolivar, tonight awaited an inquiry into the responsibility for the placing of the mine which sent the vessel to the North sea bottom.

The Simon Bolivar was the fifth Netherlands vessel lost since the start of the war.

There was no immediate comment on the British admiralty charge that the mine was laid in a neutral shipping channel by the Germans without notifying neutral ships.

Officials of the Royal Netherlands Steamship company said the list of passengers and crew would not be available until tomorrow. They declined to estimate the number aboard.

Among the passengers were Netherland citizens traveling to the West Indies, British citizens bound for the Barbados and Trinidad and German refugees en route to Chile.

The Netherlands minister in London reported to the Hague that about 100 of the 260 survivors were injured, about 50 seriously.

3 MORE PERSONS DIE BEFORE GUNS

day to Friday preceding the executions was pieced together tonight through informed sources.

Detachments of Schutzstaffel (black shirt elite guards) were stationed in the streets where the students' homes were located. Machine-guns were set up in some places and during the early morning hours the schools were occupied suddenly. In the Svehla institute, according to one version, a secret printing establishment was discovered.

Another report said that the Schutzstaffel found an illegal radio broadcasting station in operation there.

It was said that entry into the school was forced when the students attempted to block the S S guards.

Barricades in doorways were broken down with hatchets.

A university professor and eight students seized were reported missing today.

Between four and five o'clock in the morning heavy machine gun fire was heard, especially before the student home of Masaryk college, when eight students in night attire attempted to flee.

Some managed to escape into the home of a Yugoslav student nearby. They were pursued there and arrested after several Yugoslavs clashed with the S S in helping the students to resist.

Arrests also were made in Hlava college.

Figures were lacking on those arrested but some sources said the number was "very high."

Many were taken to the exhibition halls of the Prague fair grounds. Others were transferred elsewhere.

It was impossible to determine so far whether any students were killed by machine-gun fire in clashes aside from the 12 persons officially announced as executed.

The wounded were taken to the general hospital where entry was barred except for those having proper credentials.

Many parents and relatives of students traveled to Prague in an endeavor to locate them.

The names of Dr. Josef Matuschek, head of the commission for understanding between Czechs and Germans, and a Dr. Kilma, leader in student affairs, were struck from the membership of the board of the Czech unity party. They were said to have been taken from their homes early yesterday.

GERMAN LABORERS HOURS INCREASED

BERLIN, Nov. 18—(AP)—Nazi Germany increased the laborer's working day in essential industries today from eight to ten hours.

Robert Ley, leader of the Nazi labor front, announced the longer working day and said that pay for the ninth and tenth hours, although at the same rate as for the first eight, would be tax free.

Women will not be asked to work nights and an extra pay rate will be established for night and holiday work.

(The announcement closely followed a series of moves to boost production and meet a labor shortage.

(During the summer and fall, decrees placed women under 25 and students at work on farms harvesting the crops and drafted Czech manpower, bringing 52,000 Czechs into German industry from Bohemia-Moravia.)

A decree yesterday introduced labor service for Poles in German-occupied territory in Poland. Informed persons said the new law included all Jews but only Poles who were without work.

Meanwhile, Adolf Hitler publicly thanked German farmers for harvesting their crops and planting new ones "despite the worst of weather and a lack of farm hands."

"With the aid of the Almighty," Hitler said, "the German people's nourishment from products of their own soil will thereby be guaranteed for the ensuing year."

No important developments were reported on the western front, but a high command communique reported:

"An attempt by three British planes to attack Wilhelmshaven failed through timely action by anti-aircraft."

(The British air ministry said last night that royal air force planes had successfully photographed an "important German naval base" although they encountered heavy anti-aircraft fire.)

"Several planes made scouting trips over France," the communique stated, and DNB, official German news agency, hailed yesterday's flight of a German scouting plane to the west coast of England as one of the most daring yet undertaken."

OAKLAND LAUDS HIS OPPONENTS

Barney Oakland, Ward 3 police juror seeking re-election in the January primary, is proving himself something of an unorthodox politician. He has nothing but good to say of the other three candidates in the race with him. He believes the ward will be well represented no matter who happens to be elected.

Mr. Oakland has put what he thinks of his fellow candidates in writing. His thoughts are as follows:

"GEORGE BREECE: A young man of exceptional ability. George has had responsibilities that would tax the capabilities of a man twice his age thrust upon him at an age when most boys are still attending school. He has stood the test and carried on in the footsteps of his father, who, in addition to being a successful business man, was also police juror of Ward 3.

"C. S. CAUSEY: A man beloved and respected by everyone who knows him. Having spent years building up a business based upon friendly service and economical management, backed by square dealings, we are assured that Causey will give the best of his efforts in the service of Ouachita parish.

"B. B. LOGAN: A man of outstanding experience and character. Has freely given of his time and efforts to promote the best interest of ex-service men, civic and fraternal organizations; in fact, everything that would promote the best interest of humanity and make Monroe a better place in which to live."

ROGGE PROMISES TO PUSH PROBES

in the present tense gubernatorial campaign.

While Rogge paused at the airport to make a statement to reporters, Seymour Weiss, one of five men convicted of mail fraud by the assistant attorney general last September, suddenly stepped from the plane and walked quickly to a waiting automobile.

Rogge said he did not know Weiss had been a fellow passenger on the trip from Washington.

The principal reason for his return here at this time, Rogge said, was to prepare for the December 4 trial of A. L. Shushan and four others on mail fraud charges in connection with the 1936 bond refunding deal of the New Orleans levee board.

Attorneys for Shushan and his co-defendants, Herbert W. Waguespack, Robert J. Newman, Norvin Trent Harris, Jr., and Henry J. Miller will argue on Wednesday their motions attacking the indictment.

On the same day arguments were scheduled for motions against the mail fraud indictment of former Governor Richard W. Leche and William Rankin, former conservation commissioner, in the $11,000 "gift" yacht case.

The week's activities will start off with the swearing in of the new grand and petit juries.

However, the grand jury which has been in session since last summer and has returned indictments against many high political figures will be held over to continue its unfinished investigations.

Only major "scandal" topic under federal scrutiny not now presented to the holdover jury is the probe of reported monopolistic practices in the building trades industries.

TULANE CHALKS UP 3 TOUCHDOWNS IN FIRST PERIOD

Columbia Completely Outclassed; Wave Coasts In Last Half

By Bill Boni

NEW YORK, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Tulane Tidal Wave swept over Baker field for three touchdowns in two periods today, then settled back to a conservative ripple for the balance of a ball game which wound up with the unbeaten southerners on the very proper end of a 25-0 score against Columbia.

Red Dawson's giant linemen, averaging better than 200 pounds, charged and blocked to open up inviting holes in the outweighed Lions' defenses. Through those holes hard-running backs such as Bobby Kellogg, Harry Hays, Fred Glover, Fred Cassibry, Buddy Banker and Monette Butler, to name only half a dozen, went pouring along for almost as much yardage as they wanted.

What they wanted it finally turned out, was a net of 246 yards. Against that impressive total of rushing gains alone the Lions could offer only stubborn but definitely outclassed resistance which left the 25,000 spectators in Baker field convinced that Columbia, for this year at least, had made a grave mistake in scheduling the Southeastern conference powerhouse.

With the "A" team in the game Tulane went 40 yards in ten plays for its first score and 15 yards in three for its second in the opening quarter. Team B took over at the start of the second quarter and made 80 yards and a touchdown in three plays.

With Kellogg, Banker and Cassibry accounting for the touchdowns in that order and Kellogg tacking the extra point onto his tally that made it 19-0. Apparently that was enough, for through the entire third period the Dixie Green Shirts seemed content to sit on their lead.

Having pushed the Lions back farther and farther as the second half progressed, Tulane finally [illegible] its final score in the last minute of play. With [illegible] starting, the [illegible] started [illegible] the 34 [illegible] Butler [illegible] yard line. Twelve seconds were all that was left [illegible].

The Green Wave [illegible] to have [illegible] of a passing attack or a pass defense. Yet the [illegible] made 46 yards [illegible] getting [illegible] passes and at the same time [illegible] Columbia to a total gain of 8 yards on its 3 completions in 14 tries.

Tied only by North Carolina this year, Tulane simply seeked power at every turn. Even in the scoreless third period it seemed they could cut loose at any moment. [illegible] they elected to try the middle of the Columbia line, which was playing eight men at the time, and none of the Lions were able to crack that sort of maneuvers.

In the Lions' losing effort, a sophomore fullback of Evansville, Ind., Len

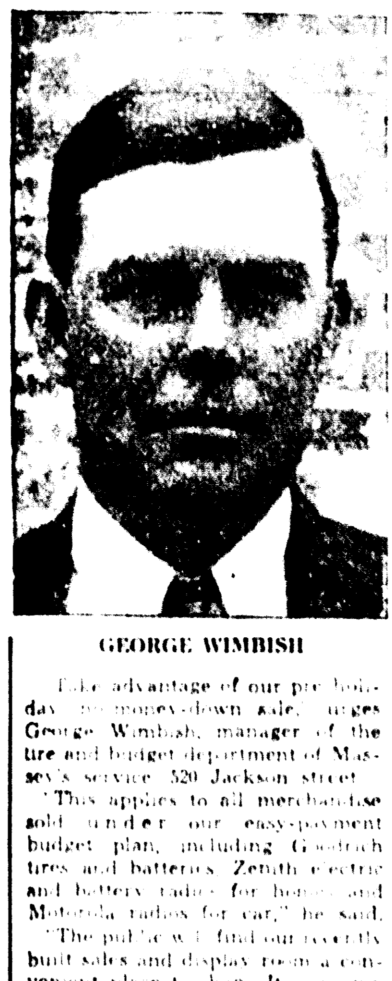
Massey Official Urges Public To Take Advantage Of Event



GEORGE WIMBISH

"Take advantage of our pre-holiday 'no-money-down sale,'" urges George Wimbish, manager of the tire and budget department of Massey's service, 520 Jackson street.

"This applies to all merchandise sold under our easy-payment budget plan, including Goodrich tires and batteries, Zenith electric and battery radios for homes and Motorola radios for car," he said.

"The public will find our recently built sales and display room a convenient place to shop. It is roomy and attractively arranged.

"And let me call your attention to something else," he declared. "You can now have your automobile repaired at our place, a complete one-stop establishment, and pay for the work while you ride. Our repair service is complete and you have four months to pay."

Mr. Wimbish has been associated with Massey's service for the past six years. He is in charge of all tire sales and has supervision of all credit accounts.

Massey's service, in addition to handling tires, batteries and radios and providing an automotive repair service, deals in gasoline and oils, washes and lubricates automobiles and handles a full line of automotive accessories.

SHADOW TO TAKE ON JOE PARELLI

Masked Grappler Returns To Monroe In Final Mat Event Thursday

The Wrestling Shadow will return to the Monroe Wrestling arena Thursday night in a main event contest with Joe Parelli. The Shadow, who has been appearing in the mid-west, put in plenty of rough work in his appearances at the local arena this summer, and his return here will bring back the rough and tumble wrestling that it takes to subdue Parelli.

Parelli, who wrestled here as the Masked Marvel until Sailor Watkins tore the covering from his face about a month ago, lost his first match in the local arena last Thursday night to Watkins. However, the Italian made it plenty tough for the sailor. Watkins, in turn, gave the Wrestling Shadow several bad nights in their matches here last summer, so Parelli and the masked matman stack up about even.

The main event will be for the best two out of three falls with a 90-minute time limit. Promoter Gus Kallio said that the Shadow has agreed to take off his mask, tape and all, in case he loses Thursday. Although beaten several times in his previous matches here the Shadow never has given fans a look at his face, always removing only the scarlet mask which covers a foundation of tape.

Promoter Kallio said that the semi-final event, which will have a 45-minute time limit on two out of three falls, had not been filled yet although he is negotiating with four grapplers for the supporting event.

The opener tests between Dick Sampson and Otto [illegible], both of whom are well known to Monroe mat fans, and Cyclone Burns and Charlie Carr, neither of whom has wrestled here.

Burns is a leading junior lightheavyweight who hails from Detroit, Mich. Carr, another junior lightheavy, comes from Indianapolis, Ind. Both the men are approximately the same weight as [illegible] and Sampson and no matter how the menu reads the grapplers should prove well matched.

MAROONS RUN OVER MILLSAPS, 40 TO 0

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 18—(AP)—Harvey (Boots) Johnson ran over two touchdowns in the first eight minutes of play and second, third and fourth stringers counted [illegible] to give Mississippi State a 40-0 victory over a hard fighting but outclassed Millsaps team here today before 5,000 fans.

Johnson, playing only 6 minutes, scored the first State touchdown on a 46-yard dash off tackle and a minute later plunged across for the second from the one-foot line. Johnson carried the ball 5 times and gained 79 yards. Jack Nix kicked the first extra point and Frank Chambers, replacing Johnson, kicked the second.

After a scoreless second period the Maroons came to life in the third to score twice. Chambers ran over for the first touchdown from the 3-yard line, climaxing a drive from the State 50 yard. Chambers' kick was wide.

Millsaps donated the Maroons another touchdown when Joe Mills, Major safety, fumbled Chambers' punt on the Majors' 1-foot line, Arnold Moore recovering for State. Marvin Campbell, quarterback, ran it over. Chambers' kick from placement was good and State led 27-0.

Millsaps showed a fair offense in the second quarter, Charlie Ward tossing passes to Hugh Adcock, reserve quarter, and Philip Shipp to move to the State 20, where Granville Harrison, State end, intercepted a pass to kill the drive.

Captain James Goolsby, center, Erwin Elrod, end, and Guy McDowell were outstanding in State line. Captain Granville Hamby, guard, and Edward Matuach, back, played well for Millsaps.

DUBACH PLUNGERS MEET LISBON EAGLES TUESDAY

DUBACH, La., Nov. 18—(Special)—The Dubach High school Plungers meet the Lisbon Eagles in their annual homecoming battle here Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Dubach-Lisbon game will almost be a family affair. The ace ball carriers of the two teams, Lionel Enloe, of Lisbon, and Jack Enloe, of Dubach, are first cousins. Barteet, Dubach quarterback, and Buster Lynn, Eagle guard, are cousins, and another set of cousins on opposing teams are Thomas Henry, tackle of Dubach, and Jim Malone of Lisbon.

It will also be Dubach's last regularly scheduled game and victory would send the Plungers into the northwest district Class B playoff.

Local officials are planning to take care of one of the biggest crowds of the season here.

Traffic fatalities in the nation were down two per cent for the first nine months of the year—with the worst months yet to come.

Neville Tigers Will Face Rayville Here Wednesday

Locals Seeking Third Straight Victory Over Invading Hornets

The Neville High school Tigers meet another Class A opponent here Wednesday night when they meet the Rayville High school Hornets at Brown field at 8 o'clock.

The Tigers will be seeking their third consecutive victory over the invaders, while the Hornets will be after their first win from a Monroe eleven since 1930.

Coach Percy Brown's Bengals did not meet the Richland eleven last year, but won games from the Hornets in 1936 and 1937. They did not meet in 1935 and 1934, but the elevens battled to a 6-and-6 tie in 1933. Rayville's last victory over a Monroe team was in 1930 when the Hornets defeated the old Monroe City High school aggregation, 13 to 7.

Rayville was to have been the last game on the Neville schedule, but Coach Brown announced last week that Jonesboro-Hodge, a Class A team, would be here December 2 for a game with the Neville eleven as a part of the Christmas festival program.

Neville played one of its best games of the season Friday night in holding the powerful Carr Central Greenies of Vicksburg, Miss., to a 16-to-0 victory, but they may have lost a couple of good backs as a result of the battle.

John Luffey, halfback, and R. C. (Red) Rivers, fullback, were injured in the game, and may not be available for the game Wednesday. Coach Brown said Luffey had suffered a side injury and Rivers had a shoulder hurt. Both players were hurt in the second half of the game.

If the Tigers can beat Rayville and Jonesboro-Hodge they will have finished the season with only one conference loss. They were eliminated from the Class A race by the Ruston Bearcats, who took a 12-to-0 victory over the locals despite the fact that the Tigers outplayed them all the way.

'BRAIN BOWL' GAME APPEARS TO BE OFF

President Uel Lamkin of Maryville said tonight seven of the outstanding men will leave for national guard training November 24, to be gone a week.

The St. Joseph Chamber of Commerce had invited Maryville to play there November 25 against Slippery Rock, which wound up its season today with a 54-0 victory over the California, Pa., Teachers.

Lamkin was notified officially of the St. Joseph offer today for the first time.

"If they want to make a proposal for after December 2," he said, "we will consider it, but they will have to take all the risks as to attendance."

Coach Ryland Miller went along with Lamkin.

CONWAY TEACHERS WIN

CONWAY, Ark., Nov. 18—(AP)—Light Delta State Teachers college Statesmen from Cleveland, Miss., gave the state champion Arkansas Teachers a scare for a half but succumbed to a running attack and were defeated, 19 to 0, in a parents' day game this afternoon at Estes stadium. Ed Burton, 139-pound halfback, out most of the year with injuries, sparked the Teachers' ground game that rolled net yardage of 192 yards from scrimmage. The Teachers got 10 first downs to six for the Mississippians.

WINNING GRIDDERS STAY IN DOGHOUSE AT REED COLLEGE

GOLDENDALE, Wash., Nov. 18—(AP)—Intellectual Reed college's just-for-fun football team concluded an undefeated and untied season today and headed home for the doghouse.

It was certain the 36 to 0 slaughter of the tall timber lads at the Goldendale CCC camp would not touch off a warm-hearted rally at the Portland campus, where Rhodes scholars are a dime a dozen and big-shot athletes a pain in the neck.

Reed college selects its students on the basis of brains rather than athletic brawn. Students, faculty and alumni, thoroughly embarrassed by the obscure but nevertheless undeniable position of the team in the list of unsullied college elevens, have already brought pressure for a losing team next year and a special fund to pay football players not to enroll.

Dr. Dexter M. Keezer, former Baltimore newsman and ex-NRA official, has outlined a code of punishment. For bringing attention to Reed college athletics, the president has forbidden the scholarly gridmen access to laboratories and libraries for five days, one day for each victory.

Reed's record for the season:

Reed 14, Multnomah college 13; Reed 7, Pacific College of Newberg 6; Reed 27, Goldendale CCC 0; Reed 7, Pacific College of Newberg 0; Reed 36, Goldendale CCC 0.

CARDINAL ELEVEN ROUTS LOYOLA WOLFPACK, 34-0

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18—(AP)—The Cardinals of Catholic university ended one of their most successful football seasons by routing Loyola of the South 34 to 0 today. The victory was Catholic's seventh in eight games.

Loyola held the Cardinals in the first period, but were smothered under a three-touchdown barrage in the second. The first score came when Sachon, on a fake kick, passed to Rocco Pirro on Loyola's 46, and the big fullback galloped over the goal line. Carmen Pirro converted.

Just before the period ended, Frank Krawczell passed from midfield to Vic Miller in the end zone for the third touchdown. Ksycewski's drop kick was wide.

Catholic's fourth touchdown came on a 21-yard pass from Sachon to Donovan and the fifth on a one-yard buck by Sarelas, after passes had put the ball in scoring position.

Loyola did not get into Catholic territory until the last of the third period when they drove from their own 39 to Catholic's 47. In the final period, Loyola went to the Cardinals' 10, but lost the ball on a fumble.

HEINEMAN SPARKS MINERS TO WIN IN HARD BATTLE

Bulldogs Carry Fight To Foes After Trailing 20-0 At Half

By K. F. Hewins
(By Staff Correspondent)

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 18.—(Special)—By a score of 27-0, the powerful Texas College of Mines Muckers, sparked by their brilliant Kenneth Heineman of El Paso, sank the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs here this afternoon in an interesting and hard fought battle.

The Miners gained 502 yards from scrimmage, while Tech made 186, and chalked up 13 first downs to the Bulldogs' 11, but the Techsters won the plaudits of the fans with their determined playing until the final gun.

This was said to be the first game of the season for the Muckers in which they have been at full strength, unhampered by injuries.

A crowd estimated at about 5,000 people attended the game, which was played in warm sunshine.

The Muckers culminated a sustained drive from their 20-yard line to score near the end of the first quarter. A pass from Dean to Heineman advanced the Miners to Tech's 35, after which Heineman moved to the 24 on a fast ground play. From that point, Heineman passed to Rainey, who caught the ball in the end zone. Heineman kicked the extra point from placement.

In the second quarter, the Ore Diggers capitalized on a fumble by Barnett, Tech halfback, on his 35-yard line to score again. Barnett had sprinted from his 20 to the 29 and then to the 35, where he dropped the ball, and Cotton, Miners' right half, recovered. Maros swept around his right end to the 17 and Green scored from there on the next play, dashing around his left end. Maros missed the try for extra point from placement.

Later in the second period, after the Muckers had received a punt on their 20, Heineman backed up to his 10, threw a pass to Maros, who caught it on the 50 and raced the remaining 50 yards for the Miners' third touchdown. Heineman added the point from placement, making the score 20-0, in the Miners' favor as the half ended.

Things looked favorable for the Techmen for a brief spell in the third quarter when they netted a series of gains totaling 50 yards, but they were forced to punt to end their march. Tinsley had fair-caught a kick on his 17 and had run to the 39. Michael picked up two yards, after which Tinsley plowed through the line to the 50 and to the Miners 40. Michael went on to the 38 and Tinsley to the 33, where he punted on fourth down.

In the fourth quarter, Black, Mucker back, travelled from his 25 to the 41 and Heineman moved to Tech's 14. Shoppman failed to gain through the line and then Heineman passed to Bulos, end, who grabbed the toss in the end zone to count. Maros kicked the extra point from placement.

Tech's substitutes were as follows: Nash, Vascocu, Goodgame, Wendling, Barker, Barnett, Vise, Laughlin, Ferguson, Burgess, Smith, Gregory, Dickens, Miller and Hardcastle.

FARMERS CLOSE SEASON WITH WIN OVER BERNICE

FARMERVILLE, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—The Farmerville Farmers closed their grid season here last night with a 20 to 0 victory over Bernice in a game played before a large homecoming crowd.

The Farmers' first touchdown was chalked up by Roan on a five-yard plunge through the line in the second quarter. Two other touchdowns were scored on line plays in the third period by Davis and Taylor.

BEARS RUN I TOUGH GENTLEME

Baylor Takes Unexpected Hard 13-To-6 Victory Over Centenary

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 18—(AP)—The field goal kicking ability of Robert Nelson, Bryan, Texas center, coupled with a 39-yard broken field touchdown run by Dwight Parks, resulted in the Baylor Bears scoring a 13 to 6 victory over the Centenary Gentlemen here this afternoon, completely ruining the locals tenth attempt to break into the ranks of football winners, before 3,000 homecoming fans.

Nelson placed his team in front by a 3 to 0 score in the second quarter with a perfect kick from the 11-yard line after two Baylor drives had been checked within the Centenary 10-yard line, and added another in the fourth quarter, this time from the six-yard line.

Following Parks' 39-yard touchdown run in the second quarter, Nelson was called upon to add the point after score, and did so with a perfect boot that enabled him to finish the game with high point scoring honors.

Centenary's score, its third of the season, was made by James Barnes in the third quarter after Ted Olszack, end, intercepted Parks' pass and returned 27 yards to the Baylor three. Alvin Birkelbach missed the attempted conversion from placement, and the third quarter ended with Baylor on the long end of a 10 to 6 score.

J. Barnes "chilled" Baylor followers with a brilliant 67-yard return of Malcolm Lider's kickoff that opened the third quarter, and was prevented from making a score by Sherman Barnes, Baylor tackle, who headed him off on the Baylor 27-yard line.

Baylor staged a 67-yard drive in the opening minutes of the first quarter that was featured by a 26-yard pass from Malcolm Lider to James Witt, but was checked inside the 10-yard line as Bob Barrie intercepted Lider's pass on the Centenary five.

The Bears started another drive in the same period from the Baylor 44 that bogged down on the six as Centenary took over on downs following nice defensive play by Dub Partin and Joe Steeples.

As the second quarter opened Baylor had possession of the ball on the Centenary 12, and it was here that Nelson was called upon to attempt a field goal.

The Texas team was kept well away from the Centenary goal in the last half until the closing minutes of the fourth quarter when Lider, Witt and Merka combined their ground gaining ability to drive 33 yards to the Gents' six, where Nelson collected his second field goal.

The force behind a single shot from a coast defense gun has been estimated at 10,000,000 horsepower.

GREENIE POWERHOUSE BLASTS LIONS, 25-0

TULANE CHALKS UP 3 TOUCHDOWNS IN FIRST PERIOD

Columbia Completely Outclassed; Wave Coasts In Last Half

By Bill Boni

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Tulane Tidal Wave swept over Baker field for three touchdowns in two periods today, then settled back to a conservative ripple for the balance of a ball game which wound up with the unbeaten southerners on the very proper end of a 25-0 score against Columbia.

Red Dawson's giant linemen, averaging better than 200 pounds, charged and blocked to open up inviting holes in the outweighed Lions' defenses. Through those holes hard-running backs such as Bobby Kellogg, Harry Hays, Fred Gloden, Fred Cassibry, Buddy Banker and Monette Butler, to name only half a dozen, went pouring along for almost as much yardage as they wanted.

What they wanted, it finally turned out, was a net of 246 yards. Against that impressive total of rushing gains alone, the Lions could offer only stubborn but definiteluy outclassed resistance which left the 25,000 spectators in Baker field convinced that Columbia, for this year at least, had made a grave mistake in scheduling the Southeastern conference powerhouse.

With the "A" team in the game, Tulane went 40 yards in ten plays for its first score and 15 yards in three for its second in the opening quarter. Team "B" took over at the start of the second quarter and made 30 yards and a touchdown in three plays.

With Kellogg, Banker and Cassibry accounting for the touchdowns in that order and Kellogg tacking the extra point onto his tally, that made it 19-0. Apparently that was enough, for through the entire third period the Dixie Green Shirts seemed content to sit on their lead.

Having pushed the Lions back further and further as the second half progressed, Tulane finally moved to its final score in the last minute of play. With a makeshift lineup operating, the Southerners started from their 34 and, seven plays later, sent Butler slicing through from the 7-yard line. Twelve seconds were all that was left when he hit pay dirt.

The Green Wave wasn't supposed to have much of a passing attack or a pass defense. Yet the visitors made 46 yards on four completions in 11 tries, setting up two touchdowns on passes, and at the same time held Columbia to a total gain of 8 yards on its 3 completions in 14 tries.

Tied only by North Carolina this year, Tulane simply reeked power at every turn. Even in the scoreless third period, it seemed they could cut loose at any moment. Instead, they elected to try the middle of the Columbia line, which was playing eight men at the time, and naturally the Lions were able to check that sort of maneuvers.

GEORGE WIMBISH

"Take advantage of our pre-holiday, no-money-down sale," urges George Wimbish, manager of the tire and budget department of Massey's service, 520 Jackson street.

"This applies to all merchandise sold under our easy-payment budget plan, including Goodrich tires and batteries, Zenith electric and battery radios for homes and Motorola radios for car," he said.

"The public will find our recently built sales and display room a convenient place to shop. It is roomy and attractively arranged.

"And let me call your attention to something else," he declared. "You can now have your automobile repaired at our place, a complete one-stop establishment, and pay for the work while you ride. Our repair service is complete and you have four months to pay."

Mr. Wimbish has been associated with Massey's service for the past six years. He is in charge of all tire sales and has supervision of all credit accounts.

Massey's service, in addition to handling tires, batteries and radios and providing an automotive repair service, deals in gasoline and oils, washes and lubricates automobiles and handles a full line of automotive accessories.

SHADOW TO TAKE ON JOE PARELLI

The Wrestling Shadow will return to the Monroe Wrestling arena Thursday night in a main event contest with Joe Parelli. The Shadow, who has been appearing in the mid-west, put in plenty of rough work in his appearances at the local arena this summer, and his return here will bring back the rough and tumble wrestling that it takes to subdue Parelli.

Parelli, who wrestled here as the Masked Marvel until Sailor Watkins tore the covering from his face about a month ago, lost his first match in the local arena last Thursday night to Watkins. However, the Italian made it plenty tough for the sailor. Watkins, in turn, gave the Wrestling Shadow several bad nights in their matches here last summer, so Parelli and the masked matman stack up about even.

The main event will be for the best two out of three falls with a 90-minute time limit. Promoter Gus Kallio said that the Shadow has agreed to take off his mask, tape and all, in case he loses Thursday. Although beaten several times in his previous matches here, the Shadow never has given fans a look at his face, always removing only the scarlet mask which covers a foundation of tape.

Promoter Kallio said that the semi-final event, which will have a 45-minute time limit on two out of three falls, had not been filled yet, although he is negotiating with four grapplers for the supporting event.

The choice rests between Dick Sampson and Otto Ludwig, both of whom are well-known to Monroe mat fans, and Clyclone Burns and Charlie Carr, neither of whom has wrestled here.

Burns is a leading junior light-heavy-weight who hails from Detroit, Mich. Carr, another junior light-heavy, comes from Indianapolis, Ind. Both the men are approximately the same weight as Ludwig and Sampson, and no matter how the menu reads, the grapplers should prove well-matched.

MAROONS RUN OVER MILLSAPS, 40 TO 0

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Harvey "Boots" Johnson ran over two touchdowns in the first eight minutes of play and second, third, and fourth stringers counted four more in the final half to give Mississippi State a 40-0 victory over a hard fighting but outclassed Millsaps team here today before 5,000 fans.

Johnson, playing only 8 minutes, scored the first State touchdown on a 46-yard dash off tackle and a minute later plunged across for his second from the one-foot line. Johnson carried the ball 5 times and gained 79 yards. Jack Nix kicked the first extra point, and Frank Chambers, replacing Johnson, kicked the second.

After a scoreless second period the Maroons came to life in the third to score twice. Chambers ran over for the first touchdown from the 3-yard line, climaxing a drive from the State 39-yard. Chambers kick was wide.

Millsaps donated the Maroons another touchdown when Joe Mills, Major safety, fumbled Chambers punt on the Major's 1-foot line, Arnold Moore recovering for State. Marvin Campbell, quarterback, ran it over. Chambers kick from placement was good and State led 27-0.

Millsaps showed a fair offense in the second quarter, Charlie Ward tossing passes to Hugh Adcock, reserve quarter, and Philip Shipp to move to the State 20, where Granville Harrison, State end, intercepted a pass to kill the drive.

Captain James Goolsby, center, Erwin Elrod, end, and Guy McDowell were outstanding in State line. Captain Granville Hamby, guard, and Edward Matulich, back, played well for Millsaps.

DUBACH PLUNGERS MEET LISBON EAGLES TUESDAY

DUBACH, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—The Dubach High school Plungers meet the Lisbon Eagles in their annual homecoming battle here Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Dubach-Lisbon game will almost be a family affair. The ace ball carriers of the two teams, Lionel Enloe, of Lisbon, and Jack Enloe, of Dubach, are first cousins. Barteet, Dubach quarterback, and Buster Lynn, Eagle guard, are cousins; and another set of cousins on opposing teams are Thomas Henry, tackle of Dubach, and Jim Malone of Lisbon.

It will also be Dubach's last regularly scheduled game and victory would send the Plungers into the northwest district Class B playoff.

Local officials are planning to take care of one of the biggest crowds of the season here.

Traffic fatalities in the nation were down two per cent for the first nine months of the year—with the worst months yet to come.

Neville Tigers Will Face Rayville Here Wednesday

Locals Seeking Third Straight Victory Over Invading Hornets

The Neville High school Tigers meet another Class A opponent here Wednesday night when they meet the Rayville High school Hornets at Brown field at 8 o'clock.

The Tigers will be seeking their third consecutive victory over the invaders, while the Hornets will be after their first win from a Monroe eleven since 1930.

Coach Percy Brown's Bengals did not meet the Richland eleven last year, but won games from the Hornets in 1936 and 1937. They did not meet in 1935 and 1934, but the elevens battled to a 6-and-6 tie in 1933. Rayville's last victory over a Monroe team was in 1930 when the Hornets defeated the old Monroe City High school aggregation, 19 to 7.

Rayville was to have been the last game on the Neville schedule, but Coach Brown announced last week that Jonesboro-Hodge, a Class A team, would be here December 2 for a game with the Neville eleven as a part of the Christmas festival program.

Neville played one of its best games of the season Friday night in holding the powerful Carr Central Greenies of Vicksburg, Miss., to a 16-to-0 victory, but they may have lost a couple of good backs as a result of the battle.

John Luffey, halfback, and R. C. "Red" Rivers, fullback, were injured in the game, and may not be available for the game Wednesday. Coach Brown said Luffey had suffered a side injury, and Rivers had a shoulder hurt. Both players were hurt in the second half of the game.

If the Tigers can beat Rayville and Jonesboro-Hodge they will have finished the season with only one conference loss. They were eliminated from the Class A race by the Ruston Bearcats, who took a 12-to-0 victory over the locals despite the fact that the Tigers outplayed them all the way.

'BRAIN BOWL' GAME APPEARS TO BE OFF

President Uel Lamkin of Maryville said tonight seven of the outstanding men will leave for national guard training November 24, to be gone a week.

The St. Joseph Chamber of Commerce had invited Maryville to play there November 25 against Slippery Rock, which wound up its season today with a 54-0 victory over the California, Pa., Teachers.

Lamkin was notified officially of the St. Joseph offer today for the first time.

"If they want to make a proposal for after December 2," he said, "we will consider it, but they will have to take all the risks as to attendance."

Coach Ryland Miller went along with Lamkin.

CONWAY TEACHERS WIN

CONWAY, Ark., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Light Delta State Teachers college Statesmen from Cleveland, Miss., gave the state champion Arkansas Teachers a scare for a half but succumbed to a running attack and were defeated, 19 to 0, in a parents' day game this afternoon at Estes stadium. Ed Burton, 139-pound halfback, out most of the year with injuries, sparked the Teachers ground game that rolled net yardage of 192 yards from scrimmage. The Teachers got 10 first downs to six for the Mississippians.

WINNING GRIDDERS STAY IN DOGHOUSE AT REED COLLEGE

GOLDENDALE, Wash., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Intellectual Reed college's just-for-fun football team concluded an undefeated and untied season today and headed home for the doghouse.

It was certain the 36 to 0 slaughter of the tall timber lads at the Goldendale CCC camp would not touch off a warm-hearted rally at the Portland a campus, where Rhodes scholars are a dime a dozen and big-shot athletes a pain in the neck.

Reed college selects its students on the basis of brains rather than athletic brawn. Students, faculty and alumni, thoroughly embarrassed by the obscure but nevertheless undeniable position of the team in the list of unsullied college elevens, have already brought pressure for a losing team next year and a special fund to pay football players not to enroll.

Dr. Dexter M. Keezer, former Baltimore newsman and ex-NRA official, has outlined a code of punishment. For bringing attention to Reed college athletics, the president has forbidden the scholarly gridmen access to laboratories and libraries for five days, one day for each victory.

Reed's record for the season:

Reed 14, Multnomah college 13; Reed 7, Pacific College of Newberg 6; Reed 27, Goldendale CCC 0; Reed 7, Pacific College of Newberg 0; Reed 36, Goldendale CCC 0.

CARDINAL ELEVEN ROUTS LOYOLA WOLFPACK, 34-0

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Cardinals of Catholic university ended one of their most successful football seasons by routing Loyola of the South 34 to 0 today. The victory was Catholic's seventh in eight games.

Loyola held the Cardinals in the first period, but were smothered under a three-touchdown barrage in the second. The first score came when Sachon, on a fake kick, passed to Rocco Pirro on Loyola's 46, and the big fullback galloped over the goal line. Carmen Pirro converted.

Just before the period ended, Frank Krawczell passed from midfield to Vic Miller in the end zone for the third touchdown. Ksycewski's drop kick was wide.

Catholic's fourth touchdown came on a 21-yard pass from Sachon to Donovan and the fifth on a one-yard buck by Sarelas, after passes had put the ball in scoring position.

Loyola did not get into Catholic territory until the last of the third period when they drove from their own 39 to Catholic's 47. In the final period, Loyola went to the Cardinals' 10, but lost the ball on a fumble.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 18.—(Special)—By a score of 27-0, the powerful Texas College of Mines Muckers, sparked by their brilliant Kenneth Heineman of El Paso, sank the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs here this afternoon in an interesting and hard fought battle.

The Miners gained 502 yards from scrimmage, while Tech made 186, and chalked up 13 first downs to the Bulldogs' 11, but the Techsters won the plaudits of the fans with their determined playing until the final gun.

This was said to be the first game of the season for the Muckers in which they have been at full strength, unhampered by injuries.

A crowd estimated at about 5,000 people attended the game, which was played in warm sunshine.

The Muckers culminated a sustained drive from their 20-yard line to score near the end of the first quarter. A pass from Dean to Heineman advanced the Miners to Tech's 35, after which Heineman moved to the 24 on a fast ground play. From that point, Heineman passed to Rainey, who caught the ball in the end zone. Heineman kicked the extra point from placement.

In the second quarter, the Ore Diggers capitalized on a fumble by Barnett, Tech halfback, on his 35-yard line to score again. Barnett had sprinted from his 20 to the 29 and then to the 35, where he dropped the ball, and Cotton, Miners' right half, recovered. Maros swept around his right end to the 17 and Green scored from there on the next play, dashing around his left end. Maros missed the try for extra point from placement.

Later in the second period, after the Muckers had received a punt on their 20, Heineman backed up to his 10, threw a pass to Maros, who caught it on the 50 and raced the remaining 50 yards for the Miners' third touchdown. Heineman added the point from placement, making the score 20-0, in the Miners' favor as the half ended.

Things looked favorable for the Techmen for a brief spell in the third quarter when they netted a series of gains totaling 50 yards, but they were forced to punt to end their march. Tinsley had fair-caught a kick on his 17 and had run to the 39. Michael picked up two yards, after which Tinsley plowed through the line to the 50 and to the Miners 40. Michael went on to the 38 and Tinsley to the 33, where he punted on fourth down.

In the fourth quarter, Black, Mucker back, travelled from his 25 to the 41 and Heineman moved to Tech's 14. Shoppman failed to gain through the line and then Heineman passed to Bulos, end, who grabbed the toss in the end zone to count. Maros kicked the extra point from placement.

Tech's substitutes were as follows: Nash, Vascocu, Goodgame, Wendling, Barker, Barnett, Vise, Laughlin, Ferguson, Burgess, Smith, Gregory, Dickens, Miller and Hardcastle.

FARMERS CLOSE SEASON WITH WIN OVER BERNICE

FARMERVILLE, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—The Farmerville Farmers closed their grid season here last night with a 20 to 0 victory over Bernice in a game played before a large homecoming crowd.

The Farmers' first touchdown was chalked up by Roan on a five-yard plunge through the line in the second quarter. Two other touchdowns were scored on line plays in the third period by Davis and Taylor.

BEARS RUN INTO TOUGH GENTLEMEN

Baylor Takes Unexpectedly Hard 13-To-6 Victory Over Centenary

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The field goal kicking ability of Robert Nelson, Bryan, Texas center, coupled with a 39-yard broken field touchdown run by Dwight Parks, resulted in the Baylor Bears scoring a 13 to 6 victory over the Centenary Gentlemen here this afternoon, completely ruining the locals tenth attempt to break into the ranks of football winners, before 3,000 homecoming fans.

Nelson placed his team in front by a 3 to 0 score in the second quarter with a perfect kick from the 11-yard line after two Baylor drives had been checked within the Centenary 10-yard line, and added another in the fourth quarter, this time from the six-yard line.

Following Parks' 39-yard touchdown run in the second quarter, Nelson was called upon to add the point after score, and did so with a perfect boot that enabled him to finish the game with high point scoring honors.

Centenary's score, its third of the season, was made by James Barnes in the third quarter after Ted Olzack, end, intercepted Parks' pass and returned 27 yards to the Baylor three. Alvin Birkelbach missed the attempted conversion from placement, and the third quarter ended with Baylor on the long end of a 10 to 6 score.

J. Barnes "chilled" Baylor followers with a brilliant 67-yard return of Malcolm Lider's kickoff that opened the third quarter, and was prevented from making a score by Sherman Barnes, Baylor tackle, who headed him off on the Baylor 27-yard line.

Baylor staged a 67-yard drive in the opening minutes of the first quarter that was featured by a 26-yard pass from Malcolm Lider to James Witt, but was checked inside the 10-yard line as Bob Barrie intercepted Lider's pass on the Centenary five.

The Bears started another drive in the same period from the Baylor 44 that bogged down on the six as Centenary took over on downs following nice defensive play by Dub Partin and Joe Steeples.

As the second quarter opened Baylor had possession of the ball on the Centenary 12, and it was here that Nelson was called upon to attempt a field goal.

The Texas team was kept well away from the Centenary goal in the last half until the closing minutes of the fourth quarter when Lider, Witt and Merka combined their ground gaining ability to drive 33 yards to the Gents' six, where Nelson collected his second field goal.

The force behind a single shot from a coast defense gun has been estimated at 10,000,000 horsepower.

SOUTHWEST DROPS 9-TO-7 THRILLER

LAFAYETTE, La., Nov. [illegible]

[illegible] Following two straight first downs and a fifteen yard penalty against S. L. I. for unnecessary roughness, on a trick end-around play, D. Jones to Simms, the big Mississippi left end raced 42 yards for the Teachers' touchdown, eluding two would-be tacklers near the goal line. J. W. Jones' placement was good to tie up the ball game.

The two teams battled on even terms until the final quarter when Wilson of the visitors blocked a Southwestern punt on the S. L. I. goal line for a safety.

The game marked the final home appearance of the eight Bulldogs: Horace Adkins, Wilbur Camp, Joe Dollahite, Sidney Ducharme, Rupert Gagnet, Otis Hurst, Joe Rodgers and Allen Tillman.

Besides his thrilling touchdown run, Adkins' punting and passing stood out for the Bulldogs. Dean Harrell and John Houser again turned in excellent work. The Bulldogs' forward wall played one of its hardest games of the season.

The Arcadia [illegible] has endorsed the "Milk Bowl" [illegible] and has pledged [illegible] games [illegible] of Arcadia [illegible] the facilities of the town to the use of visiting teams without charge. Various committees from the town's business men and the Lions' club will be assigned special duties in connection with the staging of such games.

Arcadia has as good or better football facilities than any other high school in this section of the country. The field is a perfect turtle-back and it is up-to-date in lighting equipment. The only expense for visiting teams will be sharing expenses for lighting and liming the field. Games may be played in the afternoon if desired.

A large concrete stadium will seat comfortably over 3,000 persons and stands can also be erected to care for any overflow crowds.

BUCKEYES MAUL ILLINI ELEVEN TO WIN, 21-0

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Ohio State's rampaging Bucks, picked by pre-season dopesters to lose three games, clinched a share of the Western conference championship today with a 21 to 0 victory over Illinois before 46,643 rain-drenched homecoming fans.

Halfback Jimmy Strausbaugh climaxed the first Ohio surge of 93 yards by firing a 27-yard touchdown pass to Quarterback Don Scott.

Five minutes later Strausbaugh wound up a 73-yard march by breaking over tackle for 19 yards and another touchdown.

The third "sleeper-jump" trip, a 75-yarder, came in the third period as Scott tossed a 23-yard pass to End Sarkkinen, who was all alone in the end zone.

Ouachita To Close 'Suicide' Season With Bolton Bears Here

[illegible] 1936 Bolton and Ouachita met in the playoff final for the Class A championship of northeast Louisiana with the Bruins winning 13 to 6. The next year the double A conference was organized with Bolton going into the southwest district.

Ouachita ended its conference schedule Friday with a 28 to 6 defeat at the hands of the Byrd Yellow Jackets. Byrd, in showing such power against the Lions, indicated Fair Park will be in for a hard fight if the Indians have any championship hopes. The district Class AA title may be decided in the Byrd-Fair Park game November 30.

Paul Wright, third-string Ole Miss tailback, turned in the longest run of the day when he returned a punt 57 yards for a touchdown in the final period. Leslie Dodson had run 89 a short time before but it was called back as Ole Miss was holding.

Frank Furlow, quarterback, scored the opening touchdown on a sneak over center in the first period, after Romeo Popp had led a drive with a 38-yard sprint around right end. Leslie Dodson came back a short time later to run 14 for another.

Ole Miss made 18 first downs to four for the Teachers and showed a net gain of 356 yards running, to a net loss of 15 for the Teachers.

The Teachers scored in the second quarter after Wright fumbled on his own 47. Haggard Cherry tossed a pass to Sam Hindman, then ran right end for 15 yards, and threw another pass to Hindman, who stumbled over the goal line. Paul Hicks converted from placement.

Cherry stood out for the Teachers on both offense and defense, bearing the brunt of the attack.

Mehre Eleven Fights Bayou Bengals' Air Attack To Standstill

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—An alert and aggressive Auburn football team took advantage of every opportunity today in outplaying Louisiana State and piling up a 21 to 7 victory over the Bayou Bengals.

After driving 88 yards for a hard-earned touchdown in the second stanza, the Plainsmen intercepted a pass in the third for another score and fell on a fumble behind L. S. U.'s goal for still another in the fourth.

The Bengals, starting the game's scoring with their lone touchdown in the first quarter, a brilliant 57-yard run by Charlie Anastasio, settled down to a poor variety of football that Auburn quickly sized up and easily surpassed during the remainder of the game.

Dick McGowen, whose long kicks were more than matched by L. S. U.'s Gerald Hightower, a promising sophomore breaking into the Tiger starting lineup for the first time, scored Auburn's first touchdown to climax the long 88-yard drive, sparked by Deal's steady gains through the line.

Malvern Morgan, Auburn's highly capable center, intercepted a pass on L. S. U.'s 17-yard line in the third period to pave the way for Haynsworth's plunge over goal for the Plainsmen's second score.

In the last few minutes of play, one of McGowen's booming punts backed L. S. U. to its five-yard line, where Leo Bird, subbing for Hightower, stepped back on a fake Statue of Liberty play and handed the ball to Anastasio. Anastasio fumbled behind the goal and Teedie Faulk recovered behind the goal line for a touchdown.

Auburn had L. S. U.'s vaunted aerial attack well diagnosed and the Bayou Tigers had to turn to ground plays for any appreciable gains. McGowen successfully placekicked all three extra points after Auburn's touchdowns.

IRISHMEN BATTER WILDCATS, 7-0

Notre Dame Blasts Loose In Final Minutes For Only Score

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Notre Dame's Irish, with two members of the "shock troops" legion touching off the fuse, exploded their might in the final minutes today for a touchdown which whipped Northwestern's Wildcats, 7-0.

Before 53,000 spectators, who huddled in a steady drizzle, Notre Dame blasted loose in the last five minutes with the lone score of the contest, Milt Piepul going over for a touchdown after brilliant runs by two substitute Irish backs, Bob Hargrave and Steve Juzwik.

Hargrave, a third string quarterback, caught a Northwestern punt on the Notre Dame nine-yard line and twisted and dodged 50 yards before being nailed at the Northwestern 41. Two offside penalties helped the Irish drive to the Wildcat 29. At this point Juzwik, a fourth string "unknown," reeled off 22 yards around left end before being forced out of bounds by Bill de Correvont. Milt Piepul crashed to the two-yard line, then over for a touchdown. When a team-mate fumbled on the placement try for point, Zontini ran the ball over the line to convert.

Even then Northwestern, outplayed through most of the game, fought back desperately. Don Clawson returned the ensuing kickoff 44 yards to the Notre Dame 36, but Notre Dame produced a tight line and pass defense that nullified every Northwestern bid, and it was all over but the shouting.

The Irish, who piled up 15 first downs to six for Northwestern, dominated the contest almost from the start. In the first period they drove to the Northwestern 11, from which point Lou Zontini's try for a field goal was blocked.

De Correvont broke away only once, streaking 33 yards in the second period. It was in that period that Northwestern drove to the Irish 28, only to lose its scoring chance through interception of a pass.

MISSOURI TRIPS SOONER ELEVEN

Oklahoma Knocked From Unbeaten Ranks As Tigers Win, 7-6

COLUMBIA, Mo., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The fighting Missouri Tigers removed Oklahoma from the list of the nation's undefeated teams and established themselves as prime "bowl" material with a surprising 7 to 6 victory over the defending Big Six champions before 26,000 in Memorial stadium today.

The victory, virtually assuring the Tigers the Big Six crown, was scored on the recovery of a blocked punt in the third period of a bruising contest. Bob Orf, tow-headed Tiger end, stepped over the Oklahoma goal line after catching the ball that had bounced 30 feet in the air. Roland King, a reserve back and outstanding player on the field for the day, placekicked the deciding point.

Oklahoma, scrapping back fiercely, drove 71 yards for its touchdown in the final period and twice again threatened to pull the game out of the fire. But a missed placement try for extra point by Dick Favor proved fatal to their national championship aspirations.

Paul Christman, Missouri's all-American candidate, was just another ball player in this game. He spent much of the muddy afternoon sitting on the seat of his pants. But while the Sooners were busy hamstringing the glamor boy they were taking a beating from his less famous teammates.

'MILK BOWL' OPEN TO PLAYOFF TEAMS

ARCADIA, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—E. R. Hester, principal of Arcadia High school, announced this week that all high school football teams reaching the Class AA, A and B playoffs would be invited to meet in their title games in the "Milk Bowl" here.

The Arcadia Lions' club has endorsed the "Milk Bowl" games and has pledged full cooperation in making such games successful. Also, the town of Arcadia has, through its mayor and town council, pledged the facilities of the town to the use of visiting teams without charge. Various committees from the town's business man and the Lions' club will be assigned special duties in connection with the staging of such games.

Arcadia has as good or better football facilities than any other high school in this section of the country. The field is a perfect turtle-back and it is up-to-date in lighting equipment. The only expense for visiting teams will be sharing expenses for lighting and liming the field. Games may be played in the afternoon if desired.

A large concrete stadium will seat comfortably over 3,000 persons and stands can also be erected to care for any overflow crowds.

TENNESSEE KEEPS PERFECT RECORD WITH 13-0 WIN

Stubborn Foe Beaten By Scores In Third And Fourth Quarters

By Kenneth Gregory

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Tennessee's Volunteers, rolling along in the role of the nations' No. 1 football machine and a choice "bowl" eligible, overcame a stubborn Vanderbilt team today to score by 13 to 0 their 21st consecutive gridiron victory.

Lacking some of the precision and power that earned most of those victories and battling against an ancient foe that gave no quarter, the orange-clad Volunteers staged a last-half stand to keep their goal line uncrossed and remain in the running for championship honors in the Southeastern conference.

Tennessee beat Vanderbilt at its own game—passing—and the minus 3 yards net rushing the statistics showed for the Volunteers told the story. Vanderbilt tried 23 passes but four of 10 tried by Tennessee's gunners came in a series of seven plays that featured a 61-yard touchdown drive in the third period.

Playing without the services of its ace quarterback, George (Bad News) Cafego, Tennessee performed sluggishly in the opening half as the Commodores gave the Volunteers their most serious threat of the campaign. Vanderbilt marched 48 yards for a first down at the Volunteer 2-yard stripe in the second period, but only a great defensive stand thwarted a score that might have turned the tide.

"We won the ball game," said Major Bob Neyland, the Tennessee maestro, "but Vanderbilt was the best team on the field today. I want to congratulate them on the way they played and feel like they deserved the victory. The ball should have been carried to them after the game instead of being given to us."

A Vanderbilt team that had suffered five defeats until today gave the Tennessee squad its stiffest opposition in the last two years. It was this Vanderbilt team, a neighboring state foe that always takes this rivalry without the trimmings, that gave the Volunteers their last setback. In 1937 the Commodores won 13-7 and since that reserve Tennessee had trampled all opposition.

SOUTHWEST DROPS 9-TO-7 THRILLER

LAFAYETTE, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A valiant band of Southwestern Louisiana Institute Bulldogs dropped a thrilling 9 to 7 battle to the heavier gold and black Mississippi Teachers here this afternoon before an enthusiastic crowd of over 5,200 homecoming day fans.

The Bulldogs were first to score, Horace "Shorty" Adkins electrifying the spectators with a 70-yard return of "Mule" Massengale's punt in the first minute of play. Houser added the extra point.

Following a punting duel, the Teachers began a sustained drive soon afterwards deep in their own territory. Following two straight first downs and a fifteen yard penalty against S. L. I. for unnecessary roughness, on a tricky end-around play, D. Jones to Simms, the big Mississippi left end raced 42 yards for the Teachers' touchdown, eluding two would-be tacklers near the goal line. J. W. Jones' placement was good to tie up the ball game.

The two teams battled on even terms until the final quarter when Wilson of the visitors blocked a Southwestern punt on the S. L. I. goal line for a safety.

The game marked the final home appearance of the eight Bulldogs: Horace Adkins, Wilbur Camp, Joe Dollahite, Sidney Ducharme, Rupert Gagnet, Otis Hurst, Joe Rodgers and Allen Tillman.

Besides his thrilling touchdown run, Adkins' punting and passing stood out for the Bulldogs. Dean Harrell and John Houser again turned in excellent work. The Bulldogs' forward wall played one of its hardest games of the season.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Ohio State's rampaging Bucks, picked by pre-season dopesters to lose three games, clinched a share of the Western conference championship today with a 21 to 0 victory over Illinois before 46,643 rain-drenched homecoming fans.

Halfback Jimmy Strausbaugh climaxed the first Ohio surge of 93 yards by firing a 27-yard touchdown pass to Quarterback Don Scott.

Five minutes later Strausbaugh wound up a 73-yard march by breaking over tackle for 19 yards and another touchdown.

The third "sleeper-jump" trip, a 75-yarder, came in the third period as Scott tossed a 23-yard pass to End Sarkkinen, who was all alone in the end zone.

VOL ON ALL-AMERICA TRAIL

George Cafego, brains of the Vols, is also their most dependable passer, punter, and runner. A senior, Cafego was one of the nation's foremost backs last year, and this year most gridiron experts contend no honor team would be complete without him.

Lions Ring Down Curtain On 1939 Schedule Thursday

Ouachita To Close 'Suicide' Season With Bolton Bears Here

The Lions of Ouachita Parish High school ring down the curtain on the toughest schedule they have ever attacked when they meet the Bolton High school Bears here Thursday at Brown field.

Bolton is expected to be just as rough on the Lions as other Class AA teams of the state.

Although the Bruins, members of the southwest district double A conference, have been eliminated in their district race, they have a capable eleven, having defeated the Fair Park Indians of Shreveport, leaders in the north Louisiana district double A race, by a score of 12 to 6. The Tribe beat Ouachita, 6 to 0.

Coach "Lefty" Haynes tackled the "suicide" schedule with practically an inexperienced eleven, and the Lions have given some mighty close battles to several of the state's best teams. Ouachita will seek to end a hectic season in victory.

Bolton-Ouachita games usually are close affairs but the Lions haven't won since 1932. One of the closest Lion-Bear battles was a 6-to-4 game which the Bruins won here on Thanksgiving of 1935, and another close game was the 14-to-13 engagement which Bolton won in 1937.

The two teams are traditional rivals, but Ouachita failed to have the Bears on their schedule last year for the first time in many years. Rain caused cancellation of their 1934 game. In 1936 Bolton and Ouachita met in the playoff final for the Class A championship of northeast Louisiana, with the Bruins winning, 14 to 6. The next year the double A conference was organized with Bolton going into the southwest district.

Ouachita ended its conference schedule Friday with a 28-to-6 defeat at the hands of the Byrd Yellow Jackets. Byrd, in showing such power against the Lions, indicated Fair Park will be in for a hard fight if the Indians have any championship hopes. The district Class AA title may be decided in the Byrd-Fair Park game November 30.

REBS USE RESERVES TO SWAMP TEACHERS

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Harry Mehre sent his first string into the game for less than a quarter, as he let the second and third string University of Mississippi teams run roughshod over a game West Tennessee State Teachers club, 46-7, on a rain-soaked field today before a crowd of 4,500.

Paul Wright, third-string Ole Miss tailback, turned in the longest run of the day when he returned a punt 57 yards for a touchdown in the final period. Leslie Dodson had run 89 a short time before but it was called back as Ole Miss was holding.

Frank Furiow, quarterback, scored the opening touchdown on a sneak over center in the first period, after Romeo Popp had led a drive with a 38-yard sprint around right end. Leslie Dodson came back a short time later to run 14 for another.

Ole Miss made 18 first downs to four for the Teachers and showed a net gain of 356 yards running, to a net loss of 15 for the Teachers.

The Teachers scored in the second quarter after Wright fumbled on his own 47, Haggard Cherry tossed a pass to Sam Hindman, then ran right end for 15 yards, and threw another pass to Hindman, who stumbled over the goal line. Paul Hicks converted from placement.

CHOCS USE BREAKS TO BEAT WILDCATS

ALEXANDRIA, La., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Mississippi college's fast little Choctaws took advantage of the breaks and although outplayed on the ground and in the air, turned in two quick touchdowns in the third quarter to beat the husky Louisiana college Wildcats in Pineville this afternoon, 20 to 7.

After battling through the first half, 7-7, the Choctaws jumped into the lead when Charles Armstrong took the third quarter kickoff and ran it back to the Cats' 35-yard line, where he was tackled. The tackler was little Jimmy Keith, who left the Louisiana bench to rush on the field to make the play. Mississippi was awarded the touchdown.

Shortly afterwards the Choctaws recovered a fumbled punt on the Cats' 38 and two passes clicked for the score, one for 10 yards and one for 28. The latter fell into the arms of Fulton and was tossed by Majures. Majures added the point.

The Cats were first to score, with Barber plunging over in the first period from the 1 yard line and booting the extra point. Keith had galloped 24 yards through center to put the ball on the 10.

The Mississippians got started when Landrum passed to Blake for a gain of 41 in the second quarter. Landrum spun around right end 9 yards and on fourth down, Majures passed to Blake for the touchdown from the 3 yard line.

The Cats outgained the Choctaws on the ground, 109 yards to 88, and in the air, 118 to 93. The Cats made 12 first downs to the Mississippians' ten. The Cats completed eight out of their first ten passes and 14 out of 27. One was intercepted. The Choctaws completed 9 out of 18 and three were intercepted.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The New York Fight Managers' association is trying member Hymie Caplin for stealing Lew Jenkins, Texas lightweight, from Frank Bachman. . . . The Green Bay Packers didn't practice for Brooklyn today because Coach Curly Lambeau had to go out to the Polo Grounds to see his son, Don, play for Fordham vs. St. Mary's. . . . You go see this week's newsreels then write us a 50-word piece on how Missouri's Paul Christman can be left off any guy's all-America. . . . By the by, a big mid-western paper is getting ready to debunk what it terms Christman's "purely, fictional Dizzy Dean antics."

LUMBERJACKS IN CLASS B PLAYOFF

Drawing For First Game Of Elimination Will Be Held Today

CLARKS, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—The Clarks Lumberjacks completed their official schedule here November 11, defeating a strong Olla-Standard eleven, 13-0, and winning a place in the northeast Class B playoff. Drawing for the playoff will be held Sunday at Delhi.

The 'Jacks go into the playoff with a record of nine wins against no defeats. Teams who have bowed to the Clarks eleven this season are: Lisbon, 20-0; Grayson, 25-6; Natchitoches, 25-0; Waterproof, 27-0; Newellton, 6-0; Wisner, 25-7; Winnsboro, 27-0; Leesville, 27-0; and Olla-Standard.

A well-balanced, well-coached Lumberjack team has shown fans in this section first-class football this year. The 'Jacks boast eleven good men, with Captain Ernest Meredith, quarterback, in the thick of the running for All-State honors. Meredith is a triple-threat back and has been called by many who have seen him in action this year as the best passer in state high school circles. Accurate bullet passes tossed by him have accounted for many of Clarks' touchdowns this year.

Along with Meredith is Eldridge Loflin, 175-pound blocking back. Loflin has turned in good performances in every game, and although he seldom carries the ball, his blocking has paved the way for the 'Jacks' success. Loflin is a senior and is in the race with Meredith for All-State honors.

Other last-year men on the squad are Lawrence Rodgers and Leon Howell, ends; Dalton Boyd and Willie Perkins, tackles; Charles Cookrey and Rudolph Estess, guards; Carl Wallis, center; and Loyd Carrol, back.

The 'Jacks will lose ten of the first string eleven, and are out to win the playoff this year while at their full strength. In the playoff with them will be Lake Providence and Ferriday, both of whom have beaten strong Class A foes.

The first of the playoff games will be played in one of the three towns on November 23; the team which draws a bye will meet the winner of this game for the northeast Class B championship.

If Clarks should draw either Lake Providence or Ferriday for the first game, a special effort will be made to have the game played at Clarks. At a special meeting of the Caldwell parish Side Line club recently, it was decided to aid local officials in getting the game here, if Clarks does not draw a bye in the first round.

The Lumberjacks are coached by Dudley Fultin, former star tackle at State Normal. This is Fulton's first year at Clarks, the coach having come to the local school from Wisner, where he also made an outstanding record.

Georgia Tech Staves Off Crimson Tide Drive Late In Battle

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 18—(AP)—Georgia Tech cracked the ancient Alabama jinx here with a 38-yard march in the first quarter for the only touchdown of a thrilling 6-0 victory before 24,000 fans.

Tech struck swiftly for the winning score after Murphy recovered a fumble by Hanson on the Alabama 38. Wheby, playing right half in place of the injured Gibson, hit his left guard for 7 and Ison made it first down on Alabama's 24 on an end around.

Little Johnny Bosch faded back to the 35-yard line and sent a bullet pass to Wheby, standing on Alabama's 15. The Tech back whirled from the arms of an Alabama tackler and sprinted across the goal. [illegible] Cavette went in to make the try for the extra point, but Holt Rast [illegible] through to block the kick.

That ended the scoring for the day, but not the thrills in a game that was very much in doubt until the final gun.

Alabama made a desperate march from its [illegible] line to Tech's 27 in the final three minutes, featuring passes from Herky Mosley to Jimmy Nelson, but Tech finally stopped the drive and took the ball as the contest closed.

Tech got to the Alabama 9 in the third period on a 31-yard pass from Bosch to Bobby Pair, but big John Hanson ended that threat by intercepting the next pass on his 7. Nelson was the spearhead of the Alabama attack, driving the tackles and around the ends for 96 yards. He came within a few inches of a score in the second period after a desperate tackle by Bosch [illegible] bounds after a 26-yard gain.

Bosch was especially troublesome to Alabama [illegible] from punt formation, picking up 72 yards in a series of brilliant sprints.

Alabama had an edge in ground gained with 24? from scrimmage and 65 on passes to Tech's 128 from scrimmage and 47 on passes, but the alert Tech line and backs kept the Tide well checked most of the game.

Jim Wright, Tech's great center, and Alabama's [illegible] Merrill, 227-pound tackle, [illegible] Wright was [illegible] of the Alabama runners [illegible] and [illegible] Merrill was [illegible] of the holes [illegible] backs.

Center Indians To Battle Arkansas Tech This Week

Tribe Will Meet One Of Nation's Strongest Small Elevens Friday

The Tribesmen of Northeast Center of L. S. U., after eking out a 2 to 0 victory over Southeastern at Hammond Friday, go to Russellville, Ark., this week to meet one of the nation's strongest small college elevens, Arkansas Tech. The game will be played Thursday afternoon.

The Techmen are regarded as having one of the best defensive teams in their [illegible] seven games [illegible] 27 points. Arkansas Tech has scored a total of 137 points in those seven battles.

The best of the Techmen's record is a 7-to-7 tie with [illegible] college, a team that defeated Northeast Center earlier in the season, 12 to 6.

Although [illegible] the Southeastern battle left the Redskins in bad physical condition, Coach Malone said last night. Several members of the team are suffering lime burns as a result of contact with wet lime from the yard lines. Mike McBride, guard, is severely burned on one side, it was stated.

Two other performers, End Mackey Westbrook and Guard John Porter, were injured in the game, and Don Short had an old wound aggravated.

Westbrook, with a shoulder injury, and Porter with a leg injury may not be able to face Arkansas Tech, Coach Malone said.

However, two backs who have been on the list of Indian cripples for some time are expected to be ready for full time service Thursday. "Preacher" Blackwell, who has been able to play some in the last two games, is about back in top form and will be depended on in a big way against the Arkansans. "Hard Luck Harry" Morton, who is practically in the habit of getting bunged up as fast as he can recover from an injury, is about ready to start again. Morton, Tallulah's addition to the Tribe, spent most of last season on the hospital roll and has been hurt off and on all this season. He hasn't been able to play in about a month, but he has been well on the road to recovery for several days and has been reconditioning himself to the extent that he expects to see action this week.

PLANS FOR CAGE LEAGUE WILL BE MADE MONDAY

Plans for conducting the 1939-40 season of the Ouachita Valley Basketball league will be completed tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at a meeting of league officials and team managers in the court room of the city hall here, according to an announcement by W. C. Royce, league president.

Several teams plan to enter the league, President Royce stated, and other teams are invited to join tomorrow. The league schedule is expected to be worked out at the meeting so that play can get under way soon.

Any teams from over this section of the state are invited to apply for membership in the circuit.

Monroe Nurseries Offers A Variety Of Plants, Shrubs

There is a circus near town. Not one of those spectacular collections of acts that cause youngsters to squeal with delight, but a display of nature at work.

Monroe nurseries, owned and managed by Mike Clarke, is a manifestation of what man, with the aid of God's simple gifts of soil, water and sunshine, can accomplish.

There visitors find palms, pampas grasses and acacias from the tropics; ginkos from the frozen regions of Sibera, survivors of the ice period; Roman myrtle from the Mediterranean, the plants used for the wreaths with which the emperors crowned victors in the arenas; junipers, arbor-vitaes, camellias, azaleas, nandinas, pyrocanthas, hollys and magnolias from the Orient.

All of these they find beside such native plants as the American holly, oaks, the magnificent evergreen magnolias of this region, sweet bays and dogwood.

This intermingling of exotic and indigenous plants has been made possible by constant selection and careful nurturing over a period of many years. In many instances, plants have undergone vast changes in the process of acclimating themselves. The offsprings here of stately firs from Mount Tibet, for instance, are small shrubs.

By some peculiar twist of nature, plants having their origin in China and Japan, according to Mr. Clarke, thrive better in the deep south than those native to other parts of the western hemisphere.

Plants are more than merchandise to Mr. Clarke. Each has a history. Each has its food preference, like humans. If you would succeed with shrubs and flowers, buy your plants from Mike Clarke and seek his advice.

He calls attention to the fact that now is the ideal time to transplant shrubs and to set out such flowers as pansies.

Monroe nurseries is on Richmond road just east of where South Grand and Jackson streets intersect to form the Monroe-Columbia highway. The intersection is immediately south of Louisiana Training institute.

Milk Fine Food To Help You To Remain Healthy

One way to avoid colds in winter is to watch your general health. Be sure you are getting the proper food to keep your vitality constantly renewed.

One of the best foods known to mankind is pure, rich milk—the kind produced, distributed and sold by Swayze's dairy, located on the Milhaven road. The deep cream line on Swayze's high grade milk is indicative of its richness.

Swayze's high grade milk, as well as its other products, cream, buttermilk and butter, are produced under the most sanitary conditions. Swayze's dairy, scrupulously clean in every respect, measures up to the most stringent health regulations.

All of Swayze's high grade dairy products are available at your favorite food store. So ask for them when you are ordering or shopping for your groceries.

However, if you prefer delivery directly to your home, you can have it. Swayze's dairy operates a fleet of route trucks in Monroe and West Monroe and there's one assigned to your neighborhood.

Let O. K. Welder Renew Your Tires

Why buy new tires when you can get new tire mileage from your present tires by having them recapped by O. K. Rubber welder, 2404 DeSiard street?

As long as the carcass is uninjured and too much of the rubber isn't worn away, a tire can be satisfactorily recapped time and again by O. K. Rubber welder.

And when a tire is recapped the O. K. way, it stays recapped. The cap stays put and the only way you can get it off is to wear it off.

O. K. Rubber welder is equipped to recap all passenger car and light truck tires; but it is in a position to repair any size tire, including tractor tires. Like its recapping work, its repair service is guaranteed. The new rubber welded into a damaged tire is warranted to take as much punishment as the tire itself will stand.

So don't throw an injured tire aside until O. K. Rubber welder says it is hopelessly damaged. You can bank on the repair work done by the establishment. Hundreds have tried it and found it satisfactory.

If you would reduce the cost of operating your car, you would do well to patronize O. K. Rubber welder. The telephone number of the establishment is 9233.

Sherwin-Williams Has Xmas Gifts

With Christmas approaching, the management of Sherwin-Williams, 109 Catalpa street, wishes to call attention to the fact that it is the headquarters for quality gifts—lasting and useful gifts. Moreover, the management invites residents of the Twin Cities to establish charge accounts at the store in making Yuletide and other purchases.

For artists, it has anything they desire—easels, sketch blocks, canvas, canvas boards, sketch boxes, oil sets, pre-tested oil colors, water colors, brushes, charcoal, crayons, pencils, airbrushes, palettes and wood-burning sets. This enumeration of articles is merely to give you an idea of the completeness of the Sherwin-Williams stock of artists' equipment and supplies. It is by no means inclusive.

Then, too, it has silk screen materials—used, among other things, in making personalized Christmas cards. Let the staff of Sherwin-Williams show you how to make your own greeting cards. You'll get a big kick out of making them yourself. Moreover, your friends will appreciate them more.

Sherwin-Williams is now taking orders for Christmas trees. You can have them natural or sprayed to order in any color you desire.

Best Of Coffees Roasted, Blended By Local Concern

In case you are not already aware of it, there is no better morning eye-opener than Dawn coffee or Old Man River coffee, products of Quality Coffee company, located at 711 DeSiard street.

Dawn coffee is pure coffee, a blend of five of the finest varieties of coffee grown. Old Man River is a blend of coffee and chicory. Both are scientifically roasted and blended and are products of 20 years of coffee roasting experience.

There is not chaff or husk in Dawn coffee and Old Man River coffee. It is removed in the process of preparation by Quality Coffee company.

The moderate cost of these two unexcelled brands of coffee is due to this factor: They are packed in inexpensive bags. More expensive containers are not required because Dawn and Old Man River are roasted daily and are distributed in quantities that can be disposed of by retailers within a week. They therefore reach consumers before they have a chance to deteriorate in strength and flavor.

Sold under a money-back guarantee, Dawn coffee and Old Man River coffee are distributed throughout northeast Louisiana and are available at all first-class food stores—not only in Monroe and West Monroe, but all over this trade territory.

Boyce-Kendall Restores Cars To Top Performance

Boyce-Kendall, Inc., corner of Hall and Harrison streets, is the place to take your ailing car. There it will be restored to top performance.

Numerous motorists of Monroe and vicinity have found the automotive repair work of Boyce-Kendall entirely satisfactory and are steady patrons of the firm. The establishment is fully equipped to completely overhaul automobiles and has experienced mechanics who are familiar with all makes of cars and know how to utilize the shop's equipment to the best advantage.

Boyce-Kendall has been operating in Monroe for a number of years and has stood behind every job it has ever done. It has specialized devices for testing and reconditioning brakes and for checking and aligning the axles, wheels and frames of automobiles.

A wrecker truck to aid motorists whose cars fail them or are damaged on the streets and highways in and around Monroe is maintained by Boyce-Kendall. Its services are available both night and day.

When in need of the truck, call telephone number 247. When your car isn't operating up to standard, drive it around to Boyce-Kendall at the intersection of Hall and Harrison streets. It'll run like a new machine when you get it back.

Little Club Place To Have Big Time

Little club, 2800 DeSiard street, Monroe's most popular night club, is a place of entertainment where patrons are assured of a good time without exposure to rowdyism in any form.

Fun to the fullest is encouraged at Little club, but roughness and toughness is not tolerated by the management.

There is no cover charge at Little club, which serves sandwiches of every variety and dispenses drinks of all kinds. The use of its three halls for dining and dancing is free to its patrons.

Curb service is available to motorists who prefer to remain in their cars and there is plenty of parking space around the establishment.

There are no frills to Little club. It's just a place where folks can have a good time.

When in a frolicsome mood, go to Little club. There you can have a big time at moderate cost.

Dynamometer Is Indoor Proving Ground For Cars

From the reaches of the Bonneville Salt Flats to the back-breaking climb of Pikes Peak in 10 seconds—these exacting conditions of two extremes in motoring can be reproduced on the "indoor proving ground," or, as it is technically known, the Bendix Universal Dyanmometer, which was recently installed at United Electric service, 308 North Third street.

The development of the dynamometer is probably the greatest step forward in the servicing of the modern automobile. To be able to reproduce in the automotive service establishment all the conditions of actual driving, with none of the hazards involved in road-testing, and further, to be able to accurately repeat any given set of conditions, must appeal to any practical car owner.

The Bendix Universal Dynamometer provides a convenient and exact means of determining the condition of any engine at any given load or speed. Actual driving conditions can be duplicated and the dynamometer, permitting the actual measurement of the power delivered at the rear wheels, may literally be termed a "yardstick of performance."

The owner of the modern automobile is entitled to and must receive the utmost in automotive servicing to enable his car to maintain that high degree of efficiency built into it by the manufacturer. Heretofore, what constituted satisfactory performance of a car was entirely a matter of opinion. With the introduction of the "indoor proving ground," one may safely predict that the day of "rule of thumb" road-testing is past, and that dynamometer "yardstick of performance" will constitute a standard for the future.

The number of tests that can be made on the Bendix Dynamometer are innumerable. Tests can be made for engine noises, engine cylinder compression, vacuum, gasoline mileage tests, fuel pump pressure, carburetor efficiency, generator settings, rear wheel horse-power at any speed, distributor timing for maximum power, exhaust line back-pressure, valve clearance timing and the efficiency of the cooling system.

On the chassis, the dynamometer can detect noises, check rear wheel balance, rear wheel wobble, bent axles, transmission, differentials, universals, propeller shafts, vibrations, clutch and speedometer calibrations.

Any engine may be tested under all operating conditions—idling, normal and under load.

Not only does United Electric Service operate a Bendix Dynamometer in connection with its specialized automotive service shop, but it sells them, too. They are available in sizes to suit the requirements of all garages, both large and small.

Homestead Lends At 5½ Per Cent

The place to borrow money conveniently to buy a home, to build a home, to remodel a home or to refinance the purchase of a home is the People's Homestead and Savings association, corner of DeSiard and Catalpa streets.

The People's Homestead and Savings association, a Monroe instituion owned and operated by residents of the Twin Cities, is lending money for such purposes at the low rate of 5½ per cent.

With such an interest rate prevailing, you can acquire a home as easily as you can pay rent. Why continue, then, paying out money and getting nowhere when you can, with small monthly payments, gain title to a home?

A great amount of red tape is eliminated when you deal with the People's Homestead and Savings association. The people there know you.

At present, the People's Homestead and Savings association has a number of homes in various parts of Monroe and West Monroe that it is selling on advantageous terms to persons interested in acquiring residences.

A small down payment will put you in possession of one of the homes. The balance is divided into convenient monthly installments and the interest rate is only 5½ per cent.

Prospective home purchasers and home builders are invited to investigate the financing facilities of the People's Homestead and Savings association. So are home owners planning on remodeling or refinancing.

Georgia Tech Staves Off Crimson Tide Drive Late In Battle

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Georgia Tech cracked the ancient Alabama jinx here with a 38-yard march in the first quarter for the only touchdown of a thrilling 6-0 victory before 24,000 fans.

The victory left the Georgians unbeaten in Southeastern conference competition and was their first over an Alabama eleven since 1932.

Tech struck swiftly for the winning score after Murphy recovered a fumble by Hanson on the Alabama 38. Wheby, playing right half in place of the injured Gibson, hit his left guard for 7 and Ison made it first down on Alabama's 24 on an end around.

Little Johnny Bosch faded back to the 35-yard line and sent a bullet pass to Wheby, standing on Alabama's 15. The Tech back whirled from the arms of an Alabama tackler and sprinted across the goal. Jim Clay went in to make the try for the extra point, but Holt Rast broke through to block the kick.

That ended the scoring for the day, but not the thrills in a game that was very much in doubt until the final gun.

Alabama made a desperate march from its 4-yard line to Tech's 27 in the final three minutes, featuring passes from Herky Mosley to Jimmy Nelson, but Tech finally stopped the drive and took the ball as the contest closed.

Tech got to the Alabama 9 in the third period on a 31-yard pass from Bosch to Bobby Pair, but big John Hanson ended that threat by intercepting the next pass on his 7. Nelson was the spearhead of the Alabama attack, driving the tackles and around the ends for 96 yards. He came within a few inches of a score in the second period, when a desperate tackle by Bosch threw him out of bounds after a 36-yard gain.

Bosch was especially troublesome to Alabama on runs from punt formation, picking up 53 yards on a series of brilliant sprints.

Alabama had an edge in ground gained, with 245 from scrimmage and 65 on passes, to Tech's 128 from scrimmage and 97 on passes, but the alert Tech line and secondary kept the Tide well-harnessed for most of the game.

Jim Wright, Tech's big center, and Alabama's Walter Merrill, 225-pound tackle were heroes in the line. Wright was meeting most of the Alabama runners who came through his line and slamming them to earth. Merrill was the man who opened most of the holes for the tired backs.

CADETS GAIN TIE WITH PENN STATE ON PASS

WEST POINT, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Heaved in last-minute desperation, a tremendous 41-yard toss by John Hatch to Harry Heffner today brought the Army a 14-14 deadlock with favored Penn State.

Hatch, whose passing attempts had been stifled all afternoon by State, reached Heffner on the State three-yard line, and two plays later the Cadets scored a touchdown on Frank Waddell's plunge through tackle. Ivan Sattem, substitute end, brought about the stalemate with a perfect placekick.

'GATORS BEAT MIAMI

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Florida's awakened 'Gators rode back to the state collegiate football championship tonight on the strong right arm and driving legs of Sophomore Tommy Harrison, who led two touchdown advances that humbled Miami 13 to 0 before a crowd of 23,858.

The Tribesmen of Northeast Center of L. S. U., after ekeing out a 2-to-0 victory over Southeastern at Hammond Friday, will go to Russellville, Ark., this week to meet one of the nation's strongest small college elevens, Arkansas Tech. The game will be played Thursday afternoon.

The Techmen are regarded as having one of the best defensive teams in their class and have held their opposition in seven games to 27 points. Arkansas Tech scored a total of 157 points in those seven battles.

The blot on the Techmen's record is a 7-and-7 tie with Ouachita college, a team that defeated Northeast Center earlier in the season, 12 to 6.

Although victorious, the Southeastern battle left the Redskins in bad physical condition, Coach Malone said last night. Several members of the team are suffering lime burns as a result of contact with wet lime from the yard lines. Mike Milholic, guard, is severely burned on one side, it was stated.

Two other performers, End Mickey Westbrook and Guard John Porter, were injured in the game, and Don Short had an old wound aggravated.

Westbrook, with a shoulder injury, and Porter, with a leg injury, may not be able to face Arkansas Tech, Coach Malone said.

However, two backs who have been on the list of Indian cripples for some time are expected to be ready for full time service Thursday. "Preacher" Blackwell, who has been able to play some in the last two games, is about back in top form and will be depended on in a big way against the Arkansans. "Hard Luck Harry" Morton, who is practically in the habit of getting bunged up as fast as he can recover from an injury, is about ready to start again. Morton, Tallulah's addition to the Tribe, spent most of last season on the hospital roll, and has been hurt off and on all this season. He hasn't been able to play in about a month, but he has been well on the road to recovery for several days and has been reconditioning himself to the extent that he expects to see action this week.

PLANS FOR CAGE LEAGUE WILL BE MADE MONDAY

Plans for conducting the 1939-40 season of the Ouachita Valley Basketball league will be completed tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock at a meeting of league officials and team managers in the court room of the city hall here, according to an announcement by W. C. Royce, league president.

Several teams plan to enter the league, President Royce stated, and other teams are invited to join tomorrow. The league schedue is expected to be worked out at the meeting so that play can get under way soon.

Any teams from over this section of the state are invited to apply for membership in the circuit.

JONESVILLE FIVE WINS

JONESVILLE, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—The Jonesville Crimson Tide won its fourth consecutive cage victory here this week by defeating the Natchez, Miss., aggregation in a free-scoring game, 71 to 39. H. Taliaferro and N. Swayze, speedy forwards, led the Jonesville team in scoring with 16 and 14 points, respectively. Arnaud, a guard, scored 12 points for the locals.

Exactly 150 foreigners, from 17 foreign countries, are enrolled at Louisiana State university.

BUTTE, Mont.—(AP)—One Montana convict has discovered a sure-fire formula for turning a one-way ticket from the state prison into a return ride.

Released on parole from the Deer Lodge prison, he was told to get out of town as quickly as possible.

On the way through the prison office—so guards say—he stole $11 in stamps.

Reaching Butte, police promptly arrested him for prison officials, who said he could come right back for another visit.

Swayze's high grade milk, as well as its other products, cream, buttermilk and butter, are produced under the most sanitary conditions. Swayze's dairy, scrupulously clean in every respect, measures up to the most stringent health regulations.

All of Swayze's high grade dairy products are available at your favorite food store. So ask for them when you are ordering or shopping for your groceries.

However, if you prefer delivery directly to your home, you can have it. Swayze's dairy operates a fleet of route trucks in Monroe and West Monroe and there's one assigned to your neighborhood.

Let O. K. Welder Renew Your Tires

Why buy new tires when you can get new tire mileage from your present tires by having them recapped by O. K. Rubber welder, 2404 DeSiard street?

As long as the carcass is uninjured and too much of the rubber isn't worn away, a tire can be satisfactorily recapped time and again by O. K. Rubber welder.

And when a tire is recapped the O. K. way, it stays recapped. The cap stays put and the only way you can get it off is to wear it off.

O. K. Rubber welder is equipped to recap all passenger car and light truck tires; but it is in a position to repair any size tire, including tractor tires. Like its recapping work, its repair service is guaranteed. The new rubber welded into a damaged tire is warranted to take as much punishment as the tire itself will stand.

So don't throw an injured tire aside until O. K. Rubber welder says it is hopelessly damaged. You can bank on the repair work done by the establishment. Hundreds have tried it and found it satisfactory.

If you would reduce the cost of operating your car, you would do well to patronize O. K. Rubber welder. The telephone number of the establishment is 9233.

Sherwin-Williams Has Xmas Gifts

With Christmas approaching, the management of Sherwin-Williams, 109 Catalpa street, wishes to call attention to the fact that it is the headquarters for quality gifts—lasting and useful gifts. Moreover, the management invites residents of the Twin Cities to establish charge accounts at the store in making Yuletide and other purchases.

For artists, it has anything they desire—easels, sketch blocks, canvas, canvas boards, sketch boxes, oil sets pre-tested oil colors, water colors, brushes, charcoal, crayons, pencils, airbrushes, palettes and wood-burning sets. This enumeration of articles is merely to give you an idea of the completeness of the Sherwin-Williams stock of artists' equipment and supplies. It is by no means inclusive.

Then, too, it has silk screen materials—used, among other things, in making personalized Christmas cards. Let the staff of Sherwin-Williams show you how to make your own greeting cards. You'll get a big kick out of making them yourself. Moreover, your friends will appreciate them more.

Sherwin-Williams is now taking orders for Christmas trees. You can have them natural or sprayed to order in any color you desire.

Best Of Coffees Roasted, Blended By Local Concern

In case you are not already aware of it, there is no better morning eye-opener than Dawn coffee or Old Man River coffee, products of Quality Coffee company, located at 711 DeSiard street.

Dawn coffee is pure coffee, a blend of five of the finest varieties of coffee grown. Old Man River is a blend of coffee and chicory. Both are scientifically roasted and blended and are products of 20 years of coffee roasting experience.

There is not chaff or husk in Dawn coffee and Old Man River coffee. It is removed in the process of preparation by Quality Coffee company.

The moderate cost of these two unexcelled brands of coffee is due to this factor: They are packed in inexpensive bags. More expensive containers are not required because Dawn and Old Man River are roasted daily and are distributed in quantities that can be disposed of by retailers within a week. They therefore reach consumers before they have a chance to deteriorate in strength and flavor.

Sold under a money-back guarantee, Dawn coffee and Old Man River coffee are distributed throughout northeast Louisiana and are available at all first-class food stores—not only in Monroe and West Monroe, but all over this trade territory.

Boyce-Kendall Restores Cars To Top Performance

Boyce-Kendall, Inc., corner of Hall and Harrison streets, is the place to take your ailing car. There it will be restored to top performance.

Numerous motorists of Monroe and vicinity have found the automotive repair work of Boyce-Kendall entirely satisfactory and are steady patrons of the firm. The establishment is fully equipped to completely overhaul automobiles and has experienced mechanics who are familiar with all makes of cars and know how to utilize the shop's equipment to the best advantage.

Boyce-Kendall has been operating in Monroe for a number of years and has stood behind every job it has ever done. It has specialized devices for testing and reconditioning brakes and for checking and aligning the axles, wheels and frames of automobiles.

A wrecker truck to aid motorists whose cars fail them or are damaged on the streets and highways in and around Monroe is maintained by Boyce-Kendall. Its services are available both night and day.

When in need of the truck, call telephone number 247. When your car isn't operating up to standard, drive it around to Boyce-Kendall at the intersection of Hall and Harrison streets. It'll run like a new machine when you get it back.

Little Club Place To Have Big Time

Little club, 2800 DeSiard street, Monroe's most popular night club, is a place of entertainment where patrons are assured of a good time without exposure to rowdyism in any form.

Fun to the fullest is encouraged at Little club, but roughness and toughness is not tolerated by the management.

There is no cover charge at Little club, which serves sandwiches of every variety and dispenses drinks of all kinds. The use of its three halls for dining and dancing is free to its patrons.

Curb service is available to motorists who prefer to remain in their cars and there is plenty of parking space around the establishment.

There are no frills to Little club. It's just a place where folks can have a good time.

When in a frolicsome mood, go to Little club. There you can have a big time at moderate cost.

Rotterdam has more vessels registered out of it than any other seaport, though far exceeded by New York in tonnage of vessels.

Dynamometer Is Indoor Proving Ground For Cars

From the reaches of the Bonneville Salt Flats to the back-breaking climb of Pikes Peak in 10 seconds—these exacting conditions of two extremes in motoring can be reproduced on the "indoor proving ground," or, as it is technically known, the Bendix Universal Dyanmometer, which was recently installed at United Electric service, 308 North Third street.

The development of the dynamometer is probably the greatest step forward in the servicing of the modern automobile. To be able to reproduce in the automotive service establishment all the conditions of actual driving, with none of the hazards involved in road-testing, and further, to be able to accurately repeat any given set of conditions, must appeal to any practical car owner.

The Bendix Universal Dynamometer provides a convenient and exact means of determining the condition of any engine at any given load or speed. Actual driving conditions can be duplicated and the dynamometer, permitting the actual measurement of the power delivered at the rear wheels, may literally be termed a "yardstick of performance."

The owner of the modern automobile is entitled to and must receive the utmost in automotive servicing to enable his car to maintain that high degree of efficiency built into it by the manufacturer. Heretofore, what constituted satisfactory performance of a car was entirely a matter of opinion. With the introduction of the "indoor proving ground," one may safely predict that the day of "rule of thumb" road-testing is past, and that dynamometer "yardstick of performance" will constitute a standard for the future.

The number of tests that can be made on the Bendix Dynamometer are innumerable. Tests can be made for engine noises, engine cylinder compression, vacuum, gasoline mileage tests, fuel pump pressure, carburetor efficiency, generator settings, rear wheel horse-power at any speed, distributor timing for maximum power, exhaust line back-pressure, valve clearance timing and the efficiency of the cooling system.

On the chassis, the dynamometer can detect noises, check rear wheel balance, rear wheel wobble, bent axles, transmission, differentials, universals, propeller shafts, vibrations, clutch and speedometer calibrations.

Any engine may be tested under all operating conditions—idling, normal and under load.

Not only does United Electric Service operate a Bendix Dynamometer in connection with its specialized automotive service shop, but it sells them, too. They are available in sizes to suit the requirements of all garages, both large and small.

Homestead Lends At 5½ Per Cent

The place to borrow money conveniently to buy a home, to build a home, to remodel a home or to refinance the purchase of a home is the People's Homestead and Savings association, corner of DeSiard and Catalpa streets.

The People's Homestead and Savings association, a Monroe instittuion owned and operated by residents of the Twin Cities, is lending money for such purposes at the low rate of 5½ per cent.

With such an interest rate prevailing, you can acquire a home as easily as you can pay rent. Why continue, then, paying out money and getting nowhere when you can, with small monthly payments, gain title to a home?

A great amount of red tape is eliminated when you deal with the People's Homestead and Savings association. The people there know you.

At present, the People's Homestead and Savings association has a number of homes in various parts of Monroe and West Monroe that it is selling on advantageous terms to persons interested in acquiring residences.

A small down payment will put you in possession of one of the homes. The balance is divided into convenient monthly installments and the interest rate is only 5½ per cent.

Prospective home purchasers and home builders are invited to investigate the financing facilities of the People's Homestead and Savings association. So are home owners planning on remodeling or refinancing.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed steady 5 points up. Sales 2,642. Low middling 8.66; middling 9.76; good middling 10.11; receipts 7,859. Stock 693,171.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton at 10 southern spot markets today was 7 points higher at 9.58 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 9.16 cents a pound; middling 7-8ths-inch average today was 9.39 cents a pound.

New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Cotton futures advanced 4 to 9 points today in moderately active trading.

Continued strength in foreign markets encouraged active straddle purchases by Bombay and Liverpool accounts and this was the main factor in the rise.

Despite fairly active liquidation and transferring from December, New Orleans and hedge selling, the market acted well throughout with trade price fixing a steadying influence.

Futures closed 4-9 higher.

NEW YORK STOCKS

By Victor Eubank

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Mild recoveries were sprinkled over the stock market today in one of the most sluggish sessions since the start of the European war.

Dealings lagged from the opening on and, while there was a generous assortment of fractional gains in evidence at the close of the two-hour proceedings, numerous issues were unchanged to off small amounts. Transfers were around 300,000 shares.

Attendance in boardrooms was said to have been the lightest in several weeks. The few traders who appeared, while mostly bullish, showed little inclination to put sizable bets on their opinions.

The foreign picture provided scant inspiration for speculative forces and the meager bidding that came into the list was credited mainly to the continuance of domestic business optimism. At that, there were some who still held the idea the lengthy upswing was due for a letdown in the early part of next year.

United States government and foreign loans exhibited quiet strength in the bond department. Corporation issues were exceptionally narrow.

Steels presented a firm front most of the time as forecasts were made that next week's mill operations would be at or near the recent peak. Consumption of iron and steel scrap in October was estimated to have climbed to a total of nearly 4,000,000 gross tons compared with 2,293,000 tons in the same 1938 month. It was believed to be a new monthly record.

Sugar

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Domestic sugar futures eased on scattered liquidation and hedge selling today after early steadiness and closed 2 to 3 points lower.

Trade and outside buying interest was restricted by dullness in raws and by a 10-point reduction in refined sugar in southern territory to a basis of 4.80 cents a pound.

World contracts declined as much as 2½ points as commission house selling and week-end speculative liquidation failed to attract any buying interest.

Cuban raw offerings were held at about 1.80 cents C. and F. and duty frees were available at 3.10 cents. Refined in the eastern Atlantic states was unchanged at 4.90 cents.

Oil And Gas News

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Completion of 22 wells with a total initial daily production of 7,523.30 barrels of oil, and the issuance of 39 drilling permits was announced today in the weekly report of the state department of conservation.

Three of the wells reported completed, running on 1-4-inch chokes produced better than 700 barrels of oil daily. They were: The Amerada Petroleum corporation's heirs of Pat Glaze et al No. 4, in the Eola field, Avoyelles parish, 747 barrels; the Texas company's Jefferson Salt Mining company No. 3, in the Jefferson island field, Iberia parish, 777.60 barrels, and the J. K. Hughes Oil company's J. E. Ortego No. 1, 713.80 barrels.

H. J. Dearman et al reported six completions in the West Charenton field in St. Mary parish. These wells running without chokes and their reported initial daily oil production were: D. Alleman No. 6, 194.40 barrels; D. Alleman No. 7, 291.60 barrels; Mrs. Neily Landry No. 3, 226.80 barrels; Mrs. Neily Landry No. 4, 194.40 barrels; Mrs. Neily Landry No. 7, 338.80 barrels, and Mrs. Neily Landry No. 8, 405 barrels. The Techeland Oil company brought in the Paul Landry, making 82.80 barrels running without choke, in the same field.

Other completions reported, the fields in which they were located and the initial daily oil production, follow:

LaFourche parish, Golden Meadow field, the Berkshire Oil company's Joe Nicol et al No. 6, 350 barrels on 16-64-inch choke, and the St. Mary Oil company's E. Williams No. 1, 299 barrels on 12-64 inch choke.

Cameron parish, Hackberry field, the Superior Oil company's Benson Vincent No. 7, 10 barrels on 8-64-inch choke.

Iberia parish, Iberia field, the Texas company's J. P. Duhe et al No. 12, 457.40 barrels on 1-4-inch choke.

Terrebonne parish, Lake Pelto field, the Texas company's State-Lake Pelto No. 27, 451.70 barrels on 16-64-inch choke.

Plaquemines parish, Quarantine Bay field, the Gulf Refining company's Louisiana State No. 15, 649 barrels on 1-4-inch choke.

East Baton Rouge parish, University field, William Helis et al's L. S. U. No. 5A, 190 barrels on 10-64-inch choke, and the Texas Canadian Oil company's Bogan Davidson Community No. 1, 140 barrels on 9-64-inch choke.

Evangeline parish, Ville Platte field, Continental Oil company (two completions), Opelousas St. Landry No. 5, 352 barrels, and J. E. Vidrine No. 1, 160 barrels, both on 3-16-inch chokes.

Among permits issued were:

Acadia parish—The Humble Oil and Refining company.

Iberia parish—The Texas company.

EMPLOYMENT

Agents, Salesmen 14

DO YOU believe in the law of average? That so many calls mean so many sales. Our salesmen are making money selling Carded Pipes, Shoe Laces, Aspirin, Razor Blades, School Supplies, Electrical Supplies, Drugs and Specialties direct to stores. Willingness to work and car is necessary. Write Craig's Company, Dept. J, Memphis, Tenn.

BIG DAILY PROFITS, extra cash bonuses. Represent large manufacturer. Show complete line tailored shirts, neckwear, hosiery, underwear, direct to wearer. Experience unnecessary. Part or full time. Complete outfit free. Write today. Packard Corporation, Terre Haute, Ind.

RAWLEIGH ROUTE now open. Real opportunity for man who wants permanent, profitable work. Start promptly. Write Rawleigh's, Dept. LAK-103-K, Memphis, Tenn.

EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY
LIFE INSURANCE SALESMEN

An excellent opportunity is now open for a few proven life insurance producers and closers to make real money on a new unusually attractive low cost plan (rates graded from age 16—90 cents per $1,000 to age 60—$3.20 per month per $1,000 protection) backed by America's strongest legal reserve International Fraternal Benefit Association with over $54,698,259 of assets. Exceptional opportunity for promotion to district managers is offered to those who prove good closers. To qualify you must be eligible for $1,000 bond and be able to finance yourself for 30 days—after which we advance you on deferred commission. Submit in your own handwriting complete details as to age, education, experience and recommendations. Call or write J. W. Baker, State Manager, Frances Hotel. November 17-18-19.

Sam Se

I wondered how Ann Stark found happiness in a fifty-year-old, one-room shack in the foothills of Idaho, a mile from the nearest neighbor, forty miles from town and on an income of $10 a month, until I read her words, "Early on an April morning I loaded THE OLD COUPE and without a backward glance headed into the sunrise."

Boy I bet she wud'nt found no happiness in them thar hills of Idaho without the old coupe, and you too are missing a lot in life—no matter what you do or where you live—if you don't have a good used car. Don't let the sucker who bought a new car yesterday persuade you not to buy until you are able to buy a new car, because today the new car he bought yesterday is a used car. EVERY CAR ON THE ROAD IS A USED CAR.

Come see me today at the USED CAR EXCHANGE. I can sell you a good car. Prices from $50 to $700. If you want to buy, we sell. If you want to sell, we buy. If you want to trade, we trade. In fact we trade up or down, we trade for anything in town.

"We thought we couldn't afford to own a home . . ."

"But HOLC proved we were wrong"

Are you denying yourself the benefits of home ownership because you believe you can't afford to buy a home?—Because you haven't a sizeable bank account or aren't earning a weekly salary that goes into three figures? If these are the reasons you can disregard them; for the HOLC plan of home ownership enables you to own a home even though you make no more than $30 per week. A down payment of 10% and a reasonably secure income are the only requirements, and retirement of the balance may extend over 15 years. Investigate!

YES! Now we have a home of our own with monthly payments less than rent.

Sam Sez

I wondered how Ann Stark found happiness in a fifty-year-old, one-room shack in the foothills of Idaho, a mile from the nearest neighbor, forty miles from town and on an income of $10 a month, until I read her words, "Early on an April morning I loaded THE OLD COUPE and without a backward glance headed into the sunrise."

Boy I bet she wud'nt found no happiness in them thar hills of Idaho without the old coupe, and you too are missing a lot in life—no matter what you do or where you live—if you don't have a good used car. Don't let the sucker who bought a new car yesterday persuade you not to buy until you are able to buy a new car, because today the new car he bought yesterday is a used car. EVERY CAR ON THE ROAD IS A USED CAR.

Come see me today at the USED CAR EXCHANGE. I can sell you a good car. Prices from $50 to $700. If you want to buy, we sell. If you want to sell, we buy. If you want to trade, we trade. In fact we trade up or down, we trade for anything in town.

FRESHMEN ARE INITIATED INTO HOMEMAKERS GROUP

JONESBORO, La., Nov. 18—(Special)—With initiation services conducted by candle light, eighth grade girls were received into the Junior Homemakers' club.

Girls participating in the rites were dressed in white and held rainbow-colored candles. Eva Hearn represented the spirit of home economics and wore a long white gown of rainbow hues and a silver crown. Colored candles on the table represented the virtues of the club: blue, symbolizing strength of character; yellow, wisdom; red, health; green, service; lavender, beauty; and orange, home. Concluding the ceremony candles were given new members and lighted as a symbol of their pledge of loyalty and service to the organization.

C. OF C. BOARDS IN JOINT MEET

Lay Plans For Annual Banquet And Election Here Next Month

The junior and senior boards of the Chamber of Commerce at a joint meeting held Friday afternoon, named a special committee to arrange for the annual meeting and dinner to be held December 15. The committee comprises Lee Hodges, Max Moses and George Weaks, Jr.

H. R. Saenger, chairman of the Christmas fiesta committee, reported that high schools and colleges had been visited and participation sought in the coming fiesta. Out of the number visited, bands and queens, together with their attendants, have been assured from the following high schools and colleges:

Bastrop, Tallulah, Winnsboro, Columbia, Jonesboro, Ruston, Louisiana Tech, Neville, St. Matthew's, Ouachita Parish High, Louisiana Training school (band only), Haynesville, Louisiana Normal, Homer and Northeast Junior college. Also it is expected that Louisiana college and Southwestern will send their bands as participants.

There will be floats provided for each of these groups.

There will be a massed concert of bands between the halves at the football game between Neville High school and Jonesboro High at Brown field in the afternoon of December 2, the day of the fiesta.

Tickets will be prepared for the annual election of board members. Those who will serve as committee from the senior board charged with this work are: A. O. Evans, J. L. Keenan, W. C. Oliver, C. A. Prophit and C. E. Woolman. Those who will prepare the junior board ticket are: B. A. Gentry, W. R. Hatchell, B. B. Martin and George Weaks, Jr. Ten names will be placed on each ballot and members will vote for only five.

The members will be afforded a real treat, it is assured, when they have opportunity to hear James E. (Jimmy) Gheen of New York, noted inspirational speaker. He has addressed 400 annual meetings of Chambers of Commerce in the past 10 years, and his services are in constant demand.

E. C. Gibson reported that the city of Monroe has adopted the ordinance that regulates the use of sound trucks in the city.

The same ordinance will be presented to the council of the city of West Monroe at its next meeting.

Secretary George D. Holland reported that the 5,000 brochures that were prepared a year ago to be sent out to industrialists who might be seeking new locations, and which were withheld from circulation pending improved business conditions, are now being mailed out gradually. Recently 1,300 were sent out to paint and varnish industrialists; to dealers in leather goods; to rubber goods manufacturers; and to those who manufacture wood specialties and furniture.

The secretary suggested that a new civic clinic be held next January to determine what shall be the program of work for the Chamber during 1940.

TVA'S LILIENTHAL FLAYS POWER MEN

Government Executive Charges 'Antagonism' In Alabama Case

LAFAYETTE, Ala., Nov. 18.—(AP)—Sharp words between executives today broke quiescent relations of the Tennessee Valley authority and the Alabama Power company, a Commonwealth and Southern corporation subsidiary.

TVA Director David E. Lilienthal declared in a speech here the company maintained a policy of "antagonism and obstruction" toward cooperative rural electrification; expressed hope for an end to "this dog-in-the-manger policy of fighting farmers' cooperatives."

At Washington, President Thomas W. Martin of the Alabama Power company accused Lilienthal of "continuing the campaign of defamation of utilities" and called upon him "and others in similar positions" to cease "their unfair and untrue attacks."

A long controversy between government and public utility leaders was ended last August 15 when the Commonwealth and Southern turned over its Tennessee Electric Power company properties to the TVA for $78,425,096.

Lilienthal criticized the Alabama subsidiary at a six-county gathering here celebrating energizing of the Tuscaloosa River Electric Membership corporation's 377-mile lines, financed from a $325,000 REA allotment. It is Alabama's eleventh such cooperative.

"Last winter," he said, "the power companies of the southeast and the TVA, after years of controversy, worked out their differences in a spirit of compromise and reasonableness.

"I thought that the Alabama Power company would, in the spirit and following the lead of other utilities, inaugurate a policy of harmony with cooperative associations like your own, and with the REA. Instead, you have been the object of the same old policy of antagonism and obstruction."

Tallapoosa river section farmers, he said, tried unsuccessfully "for 20 years" to obtain rural electrification from the Alabama company and were met with "spite lines" and hostile propaganda when they undertook to do the job themselves.

Martin, in a statement issued soon after Lilienthal spoke, replied that "more than 7,000 miles of rural lines, costing approximately $10,000,000, have * * * been built to serve more than 36,000 customers * * * without a single dollar donated by the federal government."

"It is apparent," he said, "that Mr. Lilienthal is continuing the campaign of defamation of utilities which has rendered it impossible for utilities in the area of TVA to refinance or to raise new money for construction."

WOMAN INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Miss Ola Kyle In Undetermined Condition At Hospital Here

Miss Ola Kyle, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison Kyle of Bastrop, was in an undetermined condition in St. Francis sanitarium here last night as the result of injuries received when an automobile collided with a bus on which she was riding between here and Bastrop about noon yesterday.

Miss Kyle was believed to have been hurt internally and complained of abdominal pains, and pains in her right side and at the back of her neck.

According to reports of the accident, a bus operated by Hill's Bus line of Bastrop was traveling toward Monroe. When about half way between Monroe and Bastrop, the bus was reported to have stopped and an automobile, traveling in the same direction, ran into the rear of the bus.

Miss Kyle was said to have been thrown against a seat by the shock of the impact between the machines. Her brother, Leverett Kyle, 13, was also on the bus. He was said to have complained of slight pains in his stomach, but he was taken to his home at Bastrop.

State police said no report of the accident had been made to them and other details of the accident were not available here.

Miss Kyle, saleswoman for a local concern, was on her way here to make a report to the company, it was reported.

Miss Mary Hester, program chairman, gave a resume of the district meeting held at Ruston Sunday, November 12, at which time Dr. Ruth Shallcross, director of the fact-finding and action program, spoke against the campaign to put married women back in the home, instituted by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, addressed the members present. Four groups represented were Monroe, Ruston, Shreveport and Alexandria.

Miss Hester's paper was interesting, especially to the members who were not privileged to hear Dr. Shallcross.

The program was opened with a luncheon at 12:30 p.m. at the cafeteria of the Louisiana Polytechnic institute, and was presided over by Miss Winifred Pirkle of Shreveport, retiring director of District Three of the Business and Professional Women's club. Mrs. S. L. Stuckey, president of the Ruston club made an address of welcome.

⁂

Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Henry gathered a few intimates together for an informal dinner party in their home complimentary to their daughter, Mrs. Clinton Cross, Jr., of Barlow, Ky.

The evening was unusually festive as Mrs. Cross celebrated her birthday anniversary at this time.

Miss Soignier Weds Harry Roger Hays

A marriage of interest to their many friends in the Twin Cities was that of Miss Elodie Soignier, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Soignier of Opelousas, formerly of West Monroe, to Mr. Harry Roger Hays, the son of Mrs. Lleuella Hays and the late John B. Hays.

The double ring wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. Donohoe at St. Matthew's rectory Saturday evening, November 11, with only the members of the family and a few intimate friends present.

Mr. and Mrs. Hays are now at home to their friends at 505 Mill street, West Monroe.

Numerous Interesting Parties Held Last Week

Mrs. James Morris Kjrkland Is Guest Of Honor At Delightful Lotus Club Tea

By Eve Bradford

HEEDLESS critics for some time have questioned the stability of American home life. They are wont to say that the home our mothers knew, is disappearing. If there is any doubt in the minds of any one in Monroe as to the stability of our home life let them glimpse about them next Thursday, Thanksgiving day. They will find families everywhere enjoying the traditional dinner and offering up thanks for the sturdy American home that yet survives in spite of countless menacing influences.

We certainly have many reasons to be thankful this year. Above all, we shall be grateful that life is still a challenging adventure and not a dreary program by permission of self-appointed dictators. When the day is over and the total inventory has been taken of all the things we are thankful for, most of us will find that we have been most grateful for the simple things—open fires, memories, kind friends, faithful dogs, warm handclasps, understanding hearts, happy home life. For these and myriads of other blessings, kind Lord, we shall give thanks on Thursday and on every day yet to come.

* * *

Interesting affairs such as we enjoyed this past week do not drop down upon us like manna from heaven, free and unsolicited. They come from the foresight of men and women who work like Trojans to assure the successful results. A beautifully appointed luncheon table, flowers banking reception suites and an endless variety of delectable edibles do not pop up by chance—it means that some one has been working. When a group of sub-debs gave their mother-daughter tea at the "Y" last week it meant that Lily Harrington, May Wooten, Katie Mae Thornhill and Lynn Kugler trotted out their very best nappery and silver and stripped their gardens of blooms to make sure the tea would be just as lovely as any of the season.

When Anne Jamison thrilled us with her dramatic soprano Thursday night it didn't mean that she just happened along; rather, it meant days of hard work for the Civic Music association committee. It meant obtaining sufficient funds to book these concerts and even greater work in contacting managers and arranging dates and all the other details necessary to perfect plans for such a gigantic undertaking.

* * *

The exquisite details of the tea yesterday at the Lotus club honoring Mrs. James Morris Kirkland, formerly Elma Rustin, were not plucked from the atmosphere. Although the hostesses, Lela Germany, Frances Trousdale, Marie Blackman and Frances Hale, didn't do the actual work, nevertheless it was their duty to see that the orange pecoe was hot and fragrant and the plethora of tidbits was appetizing and arranged with artistry.

* * *

Speaking of hard working femmes reminds us that Mary Hayward, student at the state university, is certainly burning the mid-night oil. Hours are spent in the laboratory where she labors over the mysteries of chemistry and bacteriology. Physics and higher mathematics are also brain twisters that keep her hard at work with nose buried in text books. That is not all however. She is an active member of Chi Omega sorority and vice-president of Grace King hall.

* * *

Saw Ed Apperson place a pink and blue embossed birthday cake with flaming candles in front of his daughter Carolyn when she reached the interesting age of nine last week. Ed, Alma and Carolyn formed a charming little threesome in their suite at the Frances hotel where Carolyn's birthday dinner was served en familie. The next day, Saturday, the young fry came to wish Carolyn a "happy birthday" and were immediately whisked off to Bernstein's park where they aired their lungs with no one to hear or mind but the birds and the animals in the zoo. Carolyn's birthday gift from her father and mother was a beautiful bird cage for her feathered pet—a knowing little canary that flutters his wings and sings vociferously when ever he hears the voice of his mistress.

* * *

Minna Lee Walker thought summer was the ideal time at "Forty Oaks," but with the coming of cool weather she knows the charm of the old house lies in the roaring wood fire on the broad hearth in the big living room. Off she went with a few congenials for an all day party on Wednesday with luncheon and bridge, and much conversation before the open fire, adding one more happy day to all that have gone before.

* * *

Some one the other day deplored the fact that it now seems impossible to get up a foursome of bridge at a minute's notice. The reason is, no doubt, that mostly everyone you know is weaving rugs. The two gorgeous hooked rugs Lottie Breard has just finished and proudly displaying to her friends is the incentive for this feverish rush. Hooked rugs will soon be gracing the homes of Laura Worsham, Toni Veazey, Billy Wilson, Erie Lester, Nell Stevenson. They are all too busy to even think of such frivolity as bridge. Selina Cooley was among the first to try a hand at hooked rug making—she has two beautiful ones in shades of brown and yellow.

CHARMING HOSTESSES

The serving of tea has been lifted to a fine art in Monroe where hostesses, presiding over handsome silver services, are continually entertaining during the tea hour in honor of visitors in the city and lovely brides. A bride of recent date, Mrs. James Morris Kirkland, formerly Miss Elma Rustin, was the guest of honor at a tea at the Lotus club on Saturday with a coterie of charming hostesses. Reading from left to right they are: Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale, Jr., Mrs. Lealis Hale, Mrs. Milling Bernstein, Mrs. John Blackman and Miss Lela Germany.

Mrs. Duval Weds Ardis C. Caldwell

Friends will be interested to learn of the marriage of Mrs. Florence Duval and Mr. Ardis C. Caldwell, which was solemnized November 9 at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. J. A. Coon, at 8 o'clock in the evening.

The bride, a charming young woman, was becomingly attired in a moss green wool costume with brown accessories and corsage of Talisman rosas.

Mr. Caldwell is connected with Motor Supplies company of this city and is well and favorably known throughout north Louisiana.

The couple left immediately for New Orleans and the gulf coast for a honeymoon trip. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends in Monroe.

B. And P. W. C. Holds Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club of Monroe, was held at the office of the local Chamber of Commerce. After the board meeting was adjourned, the members were privileged to meet Miss M. Horn, who is carrying on a campaign in the Twin Cities in the interest of the club, soliciting subscriptions to a national magazine. The funds derived from this campaign will be added to the Christmas fund, which is used for philanthropic and underprivileged in this community.

The committee chairmen were called on to make a report of the progress made by each committee during the past month. At this time Miss Nora Downes, legislative chairman, read an interesting paper from the state chairman, stressing the necessity of killing all bills appearing before the legislature prohibiting the married woman from working.

Mrs. Dora Anish addressed the members on the subject of the Agnes Morris loan fund, which the club sponsors. This fund is for the benefit of any young girl or woman, intent upon a business career, yet can't afford the necessary training and equipment. The fund is contributed to by all Business and Professional Women's clubs and all clubs are permitted to use the fund at least once during the fiscal year.

Miss Mary Hester, program chairman, gave a resume of the district meeting held at Ruston Sunday, November 12, at which time Dr. Ruth Shallcross, director of the fact-finding and action program, spoke against the campaign to put married women back in the home, instituted by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, addressed the members present. Current Literature Club Holds Meeting

Mrs. R. G. John and Mrs. Mike John, Jr., extended courtesies to the Current Literature club Wednesday afternoon a tthe home of Mrs. R. G. John.

During the short business meeting Mrs. William Whitfield gave an unusually interesting report of the annual meeting of the fifth district of Louisiana Federated Women's clubs which met in Lake Charles recently.

In keeping with the Thanksgiving spirit, the members and guests were indeed fortunate to have several poems written expressly for their meeting by members of the Monroe Poetry society and delivered by Mrs. V. S. Garnett. Also featured during the hour was an inspiring paper on "American Homes," by Mrs. J. C. Kramer, Jr.

"The Tree of Liberty," by Elizabeth Page, was reviewed in a capable manner by Mrs. J. Carbonne. Its vastness in scope, its motivation by a theme which is the very being of America, and its exceptional narrative power hold the reader's attention throughout this truly great historical novel. "The Tree of Liberty" pictures this country as our ancestors saw it for three generations between the years of 1754 and 1806. The story is that of Matthew Howard and Jane Peyton. Born into the beliefs of the opposing sides of that age, they are married and this married life gives us the bitter conflict of the two main traditions of that age—the rugged individualism of Matthew, a frontiersman, born in the Shenandoah valley, believing in the rights of man and distrusting aristocrats and government; the aristocratic daughter of a Tidewater planter who abhored all disloyalities to the government and to the niceties of civilization. The struggle between them continues on with sons and their son's sons, giving us this great dramatization of this revolutionary period as depicted in the lives of these characters. And thus we have a truly great achievement in the epic grandeur of this historical novel.

A variety of confections were served by the hostesses to the following members: Mesdames John C. Best, Otto Ferrill, J. M. Menefee, J. E. Peters, R. F. Seiler, William Whitfield, J. Guests Feted By Mrs. J. Noble White

Mrs. J. Noble White employed a Thanksgiving theme in all the details of her tea-shower honoring Mrs. F. M. Durham and infant son, Jerry Wayne, at her home in Edgewater Gardens Saturday afternoon.

Beautiful chysanthemums banked the reception suite of Mrs. White's home and graced the candlelit tea table in the dining room where Mrs. C. P. Calhoun poured tea from a handsome silver service. A variety of confections were served during the afternoon.

A charming interlude was the presentation of gifts to Jerry Wayne who is just one year old. Mrs. White's two young sons, John and Herbert, were privileged to present the gifts overflowing from ribbon-tied bags they carried on their shoulders. They both wore Pilgrim costumes and carried rifles in manner reminiscent of our Pilgram fathers who inaugurated the first Thanksgiving day.

Miss Jimmie Burnett assisted Mrs. White in extending the gracious courtesies that rendered the afternoon so delightful for Mrs. Durham and her infant son and the twenty-five friends who were privileged to bestow gifts.

Miss Clarissa Davis Is The Guest Of Honor At Several Charming Par

Monroe Girl Will Be Bride This Week

Miss Clarissa Davis, this week's bride-to-be, was wearing one of her lovely trousseau models of rust colored velvet when she stood with her hostess, Miss Ann Elizabeth Benton who entertained at her home, during the tea hour complimentary to Miss Davis. Miss Benton was wearing a black floor length model.

The reception suite was banked with bronze colored chrysanthemums and white chrysanthemums banked the mantel, serving tables and buffet in the dining room where tea was poured from handsome silver services gracing either end of the table developed entirely in white. Tall white tapers in silver candelabra gleamed at the four corners and encircled the central decor, a plaque of white chrysanthemums. Silver compotes and salvers held a variety of delicious confections and open faced sandwiches beautifully decorated.

Assisting at the tea table were Mrs. A. W. T[illegible], Mrs. F. V. Barnett, Miss Dorothy Lee Pettit, Miss Marie Thompson.

Miss Benton was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Hugh W. Davis, who wore a black crepe dinner model and Miss Mary Frances Hondlink, a bride-to-be, who wore a figured satin semi-evening model with a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums presented to her by the hostess. Miss Davis, the guest of honor, and her mother were both presented with corsages by their hostess.

Luncheon in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel with Mrs. Samuel W. Davis, Mrs. James B[illegible] and Mrs. C. G. Ammer, hostesses, was another distinctive compliment bestowed upon Miss Davis.

Superb bronze and golden hued chrysanthemums formed the decorative pyramid for the floral ornamentation of the luncheon table. Gold colored tapers burned in the midst of the flowers and at each corner. Exquisite corsages marked covers for Miss Davis and for Miss Mary Frances Hondlink whose marriage to Mr. Olen Whitney will be solemnized immediately following that of Miss Davis and Mr. John D. [illegible], Jr., in the Davis home Thursday night.

Four [illegible] were served to Miss Davis, Miss Hondlink, Miss Ann Elizabeth Benton, Mrs. Marion Chapman, Mrs. [illegible], Miss [illegible], Miss Evelyn Reams and the three hostesses.

University Women Meets At Y. W. C. A.

The American Association of University Women met at the Y. W. C. A. with Miss Lucyle Godwyn, Mrs. John Best and Mrs. John C. Currie, hostesses. A variety of fall flowers was placed throughout the reception rooms.

Mrs. C. C. Colvert, president, presided at the business meeting. During the business meeting, the group voted on library projects in Monroe for negroes.

Miss Myrtle Rodgers acted as chairman for the program. The theme of the program was "Southern People." Miss Rodgers gave a discussion on the races of the people in the south. Statements from "The Southern People" by E. Seigh were given.

Among the nationalities which had a part in the development of the south besides the English may be mentioned the Germans, French, Spanish and the Jews. The French in Louisiana were active and influential in the development of American culture. In spite of all the nationalities that have settled in the south this region has today the greatest percentage of native born and original stock of any region in America. Without setting up race superiority as some dictator nations in Europe have done, it would be well for the southerner to set about solving the population problem wisely and sanely before we have interference from without as we have had in the past. History repeats itself.

Miss Zelda Moss evaluated in a most effective manner the book, "Green Margins," by E. P. O'Donnell, a Louisiana writer. Miss Moss said that "Green Margins" is a regional novel revolving around the dwellers of the Mississippi delta country about ninety miles south of New Orleans. The book has helped put the Mississippi delta on the literary map. The narrative gives in minute detail the life of the strange, immoral people, the mixed blood of Acadians, French and negroes, who live in primitive simplicity, loving, the fighting, working occasionally. The novel has its improbabilities, however, its vigor and sincerity make understandable the bestowal of the literary fellowship prize award in 1936. Throughout the novel is a scene of living people told in living words. No one can read the story without broadening his fund of knowledge about one phase of our American lige.

Miss Frances Flanders discussed the setting of "Children of Strangers," by Lyle Saxon. The locale of the story is on Isle Brevelle on the banks of Cane river in Natchitoches parish. The setting is entirely true and human prototypes of many of the characters are to be found in the mulatto community. This community is unique in all of Louisiana. In fact, it is the only one of its kind. Mr. Saxon faithfully presented his three types of people, the white plantation owners, the black negroes, and the mulattos, who come in between and are neither white nor black, but are children of strangers.

At the tea which followed, Mrs. John Best, Mrs. John C. Currie and Miss Lucyle Godwyn presided at the table beautiful with crystal candlesticks and clusters of autumn flowers. Members and their guests were: Mrs. W. R. Hammond, Mrs. Elmer Slagle, Miss Beatrice Erickson, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Miss Clara Wood, Miss Mima Babington, Mrs. Udine Jones, Miss Mary Hester, Miss Mae Coker, Mrs. George Holland, Miss Dean McKoin, Miss Frances Flanders, Miss Alice Daimwood, Mrs. Joe Winkler, Mrs. Herbert Steed, Mrs. J. Noble White, Miss Zelda Moss, Miss Josephine Barrett, Mrs. John Coon, Mrs. Prentice Gray, Jr., Julia Hunter, Miss Ivo Wilson, Miss Dorothy George, Miss Myrtle Rodgers ,Miss Louise Gray, Mrs. C. C. Miro Book Club Holds Meeting

"Vigil In The Night," a recent novel by Dr. A. K. Cronin was delightfully reviewed by Mrs. John Pracher at the meeting last week of the Miro Book club with Mrs. S. M. Collins.

While this novel doesn't compare with "The Citadel," it is a most illuminating story of a modern hospital, with the doctor the patient and the nurse, dramatized in a serial of love and sacrifice in the cause of humanity. The picture "Vigil In The Night," featuring Carol Lombard and Brian Aherne will soon be released. The highlight of the drama is the operation on a brain, a most delicate feat of surgery performed in spectacular manner during a London blackout.

Mrs. H. A. Venable gave an outline of a visit to the Bermuda islands. She said: "These tiny islands are located only 640 miles off our North Carolina coast and are so near together as to be connected by bridges and ferries. They are soo small that 19 square miles cover their entire area and they have a population no greater than Monroe and West Monroe. Its first settlers were a shipload of English wrecked just off the island on the way to settle in Virginia colonies and has since been closely connected with the history of our country at various times. Thousands of Easter lily bulbs are raised here. Tourist trade is the source of Bermuda's greatest income and they are dependent upon it. With a storehouse of God-given beauty all about them, no wonder the Bermudians lead an unharried, leisurely existence and say 'Tomorrow comes soon enough,' today is delightful and one is still enjoying yesterday.'"

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. H. M. Venable, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. W. A. Whitfield, Mrs. A. S. Tisdale, Mrs. John Pracher, Mrs. J. B. Collins, Mrs. C. C. Landley, Mrs. J. D. Calhoun, Mrs. J. T. Pugh, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. F. C. Bennett, Mrs. M. M. Mulholland, Mrs. James Russell and Mrs. J. W. Murphy.

Fifth District Clubs Make Fine Record

Any pride members of the Fifth District Louisiana Federation of Women's clubs may take in their accomplishments of the past year are quite justified. They carried off numerous honors at the state convention in Lake Charles last week, all of which testified to the high standard of excellence maintained by Fifth District Federated clubs.

Under the capable leadership of Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, fifth district president, a year of rich fulfillment has just ended and resulted in the majority of awards at the fortieth annual state convention being given to fifth district clubs.

Guests of honor at the banquet, featuring Louisiana products, were: Dr. Josephine L. Pierce, chairman of American home department, and Mrs. T. V. Moore, chairman of committee on public safety. State awards were made at this time.

Mrs. Tisdale won first place in general federation having the greatest gain in new members, numbering 67. Mrs. Tisdale also won first place in the state, having five new clubs joining the state federation.

The penny art fund contest went to the Rayville Literary club, Mrs. Carey Ellis, president.

The scrapbook contest was another one of fifth districts honors, first place going to Mrs. B. H. Talbot of Ruston, member of Cosmos club.

First place in safety went to fifth district. Mrs. Sidney Stewart of Calhoun is fifth district chairman of safety. Mrs. J. R. White won first place in the state in the poster and publicity contest.

Mrs. J. Norman Coon, state chairman of club institutes, presided over two splendid club institutes during the convention.

Mrs. H. V. Collins of Monroe, fifth district co-chairman for junior clubs, also appeared on the state program. Mrs. Merrell Williams, a member from the Junior Gavel club, modeled a cotton dress in a little "skit" presented during the banquet hour when Mrs. Tisdale discussed cotton as one of the chief industries for fifth district.

The convention closed to meet next year in Alexandria.

Miss Jane Humphries and Miss Betty Rinehart motored to Hammond to attend the Southeastern-Northeast Junior college football game. They also attended the L. S. U.-Auburn game in Baton Rouge on Saturday.

Mrs. Ruth Hamilton is visiting her daughter, Mrs. L. B. Owen and Mr. Owen of Brevard, N. C.

Mrs. Clinton Cross, Jr., of Barlow, Ky., is enjoying a visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. B. Henry. She will be joined by Mr. Cross later in the month.

BRIDE-TO-BE

Miss Lillian Stodghill, of Ruston, whose engagement to Mr. Truman J. Green of Shreveport has just been announced. The wedding will take place at the Ruston Methodist church December 15. Miss Stodghill and Mr. Green are both graduates of the Louisiana Tech.

Junior Club Meets At Hatch Residence

The living room of Mrs. F. B. Hatch's spacious country home on Boeuf river was the scene of a congenial gathering of club women, members of the Mangham Junior Literary club, with Mrs. R. F. Hatch, Mrs. Forrest Terral, and Miss Genevieve Catlett, hostesses.

Immediately after the club members and guests arrived, a delicious luncheon course was served. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Bessie Noble, who led the reading of the club collect in unison. At this time the president welcomed three new members into the club, Misses Genevieve Catlett, Beth Tillman and Marguerite Humble.

Mrs. F. A. Childress was in charge of the program due to the absence of Mrs. E. F. Reeves. Miss Bessie Noble gave an interesting paper on "Natchitoches and Locality." In her talk she stated that Natchitoches was the one city in the south where the old and new still stand side by side. The biography of Lyle Saxon was given by Miss Janet Hixon. Mrs. M. K. McKonnell, president of the Bono Nostrorum club of Mangham, read several poems of the deep south by southern writers. Mrs. Fred Perry of Deweyville, Tex., rendered several piano selections.

Miss Bessie Noble, the club's delegate to the L. F. W. C. convention in Lake Charles took this opportunity to make her report to the club. Miss Noble is also vice-chairman of Louisiana Federated Junior clubs.

Interest of friends in this section of the state is centered today in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jones of Rayville of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ellis Jones, to Mr. William Phillip Dickens of Spartanburg, S. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Dickens of Hartsville, Tenn.

The wedding will be an interesting event of December.

Mrs. Herbert Black of Vicksburg, Miss., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Julius Lemle.

Women's Club Program Listed

"Why I am thankful:

"Because I am an American citizen.

"Because I live in a democracy where freedom of religion, speech, press and radio are the prerogative of all.

"Because in a democracy women are safe to work, to live and to serve as their spirit dictates.

"Because the program theme of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, of which I am a member, has as its program the study of 'Business Women in a Democracy,' and through this I expect to develop my techniques for contributing to the process of making democracy work.

"Because, as an American citizen, I am part of a great nation that may, in time, help the peoples of the world to win everlasting peace.

"Because every day gives me new opportunities to serve my fellowmen, my community and my country.

"Because I am alive in 1939, at the end of a century of women's progress, when opportunities abound for women to be educated, to earn, and to serve in private and public service.

"Because I stand on the threshold of the second century of women's progress, when every tolerant attitude I express and every constructive thought I utter is of importance to the women of the coming century in helping to make their path easier."

Miss Clarissa Davis Is The Guest Of Honor At Several Charming Parties

Monroe Girl Will Be Bride This Week

Miss Clarissa Davis, this week's bride-to-be, was wearing one of her lovely trousseau models of rust colored velvet when she stood with her hostess, Miss Ann Elizabeth Benton who entertained at her home, during the tea hour complimentary to Miss Davis. Miss Benton was wearing a black floor length model.

The reception suite was banked with bronze colored chrysanthemums, and white chrysanthemums banked the mantel, serving tables and buffet in the dining room where tea was poured from handsome silver services gracing either end of the table developed entirely in white. Tall white tapers in silver candelabra gleamed at the four corners and encircled the central decor, a plaque of white chrysanthemums. Silver compotes and salvers held a variety of delicious confections and open-faced sandwiches, beautifully decorated.

Assisting at the tea table were Mrs. A. W. Trotter, Mrs. F. V. Barnett, Miss Dorothy Lee Pettit, Miss Marie Thompson.

Miss Benton was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Hugh W. Davis, who wore a black crepe dinner model and Miss Mary Frances Hondlink, a bride-to-be, who wore a figured satin semi-evening model with a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums presented to her by the hostess. Miss Davis, the guest of honor, and her mother were both presented with corsages by their hostess.

Luncheon in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel with Mrs. Samuel W. Davis, Mrs. James Brothers and Mrs. C. G. Ammer, hostesses, was another distinctive compliment bestowed upon Miss Davis.

Superb bronze and golden hued chrysanthemums formed the decorative pyramid for the floral ornamentation of the luncheon table. Gold-colored tapers burned in the midst of the flowers and at each corner. Exquisite corsages marked covers for Miss Davis and for Miss Mary Frances Hondlink, whose marriage to Mr. Olan Whitney will be solemnized immediately following that of Miss Davis and Mr. John D. Robertson, Jr., in the Davis home Thursday night.

Four delicious courses were served to Miss Davis, Miss Hondlink, Miss Ann Elizabeth Benton, Mrs. Marion Chapman, Mrs. Harry Moore, Mrs. Eyelyn Reims and the three hostesses.

• • •

Charmingly informal was the kitchen "shower" arranged by Miss Alice Daimwood complimentary to Miss Davis and Miss Hondlink at her home on Gordon avenue last week.

The gifts presented to the brides-to-be were of red and white porcelain wrapped in red and white tissue. They were presented in novel manner by the hostess. Dummies, fashioned of floor mops and brooms tied together with crimson ribbons and wearing masks and dust caps, were placed at either end of the table where the gifts were piled high. Other novel features rendered the evening most enjoyable.

The serving of a delicious supper course completed the courtesies extended to Miss Davis, Miss Hondlink, Mrs. Hugh Davis, Mrs. Edgar Hemphill, Miss Elizabeth Ann Benton, Miss Sara Elizabeth Moffett, Mrs. Clarence Schumake, Miss Mary Elizabeth Cornett, Miss Eleona Brinsmade, Miss Helena Hayward, Miss Dorothy Bennett, Miss Jane Warren, Mrs. Marion Chapman, Miss Johnette Register, Miss Ruby Benoit, Mrs. Harry Moore, Miss Louise Fitzgerald, Miss Mildred Breard, Miss Myrtle Johnson, Miss Winnifred Johnson, Mrs. Norman Arnold, Miss Maribelle Allen, Miss Mayme D. Myers, Miss Carolyn Myers, Mrs. Laurin Blanchard, Miss Virginia Scheen, Mrs. R. A. Daimwood.

Miss Hondlink Guest Of Honor

Among the many charming courtesies of a pre-nuptial nature honoring Miss Mary Frances Hondlink, was Mrs. Marion Chapman's informal evening in her home on Pargoud drive.

During the course of the evening Miss Hondlink was "showered" with beautiful gifts of a miscellaneous nature. They were all attractively wrapped and presented in novel manner.

Mrs. Chapman was assisted in extending courtesies by her mother, Mrs. William Wood, who also assisted in serving the delicious supper course.

The guests in addition to Miss Hondlink, were: Miss Clarissa Davis, Mrs. Hugh W. At this time the president welcomed three new members into the club, Misses Genevieve Catlett, Beth Tillman and Marguerite Humble.

Mrs. F. A. Childress was in charge of the program due to the absence of Mrs. E. F. Reeves. Miss Bessie Noble gave an interesting paper on "Natchitoches and Locality." In her talk she stated that Natchitoches was the one city in the south where the old and new still stand side by side. The biography of Lyle Saxon was given by Miss Janet Hixon. Mrs. M. K. McKonnell, president of the Bono Nostrorum club of Mangham, read several poems of the deep south by southern writers. Mrs. Fred Perry of Deweyville, Tex., rendered several piano selections.

Miss Bessie Noble, the club's delegate to the L. F. W. C. convention in Lake Charles took this opportunity to make her report to the club. Miss Noble is also vice-chairman of Louisiana Federated Junior clubs.

⁂

Interest of friends in this section of the state is centered today in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jones of Rayville of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ellis Jones, to Mr. William Phillip Dickens of Spartanburg, S. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Dickens of Hartsville, Tenn.

The wedding will be an interesting event of December.

Mrs. Herbert Black of Vicksburg, Miss., is the guest of her aunt, Mrs. Julius Lemle.

Women's Club Program Listed

"Why I am thankful:

"Because I am an American citizen.

"Because I live in a democracy where freedom of religion, speech, press and radio are the prerogative of all.

"Because in a democracy women are safe to work, to live and to serve as their spirit dictates.

"Because the program theme of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, of which I am a member, has as its program the study of 'Business Women in a Democracy,' and through this I expect to develop my techniques for contributing to the process of making democracy work.

"Because, as an American citizen, I am part of a great nation that may, in time, help the peoples of the world to win everlasting peace.

"Because every day gives me new opportunities to serve my fellowmen, my community and my country.

"Because I am alive in 1939, at the end of a century of women's progress, when opportunities abound for women to be educated, to earn, and to serve in private and public service.

"Because I stand on the threshold of the second century of women's progress, when every tolerant attitude I express and every constructive thought I utter is of importance to the women of the coming century in helping to make their path easier."

Those desiring to attend the benefit bridge sponsored by the Junior Guild of Grace church in the mirror room of the Frances hotel next Saturday, are requested to ring Mrs. Harry Frazer, number 1834, for reservations.

A charming feature of this affair will be the serving of tea and a conversational interlude for those who do not play bridge.

Review Club Holds Meeting

The Review club met in the home of Mrs. F. P. C[illegible], Monroe, at [illegible] for its first meeting in November. After the business session [illegible] conducted by Mrs. C. B. Braun, president, the afternoon's program was [illegible]. "The Complete Farmer" [illegible] idealistic picture of [illegible] with romantic aspects of farming.

Mrs. W. T. Davis and Mrs. Walter R[illegible] presented the program [illegible] thousands of [illegible]

We Farm for a Hobby and Make it Pay is Henry Tetlow's convincing story of farming in Pennsylvania, farming that offers escape from the complexity of city life, from economic depression, and affords, too, adventure and delight.

The following members enjoyed the meeting: Mesdames Fred Fudickar, Allen Givens, Henry Colbert, W. R. Hatchell, W. T. Davis, D. M. Moore, Ben Breard, B. W. Leigh, Walter Rhodes, W. J. Veasey, C. B. Braun, E. P. Cudd and DeWitt Henry. Mrs. Lealis Hale and Mrs. Edward Cooley were welcomed to the club's membership.

Junior Gavel Meeting Held

Mrs. John Richardson presided during the presentation of the afternoon program on "Collection of Old Glass." She asked, "Has the glass bug bitten you? If so, you feel and look at different patterns and hear technical discussions, you buy small pieces, you read and study what Ruth Webb Lee, and Millard and other authorities have to say, then you are well innoculated."

There was a collection of old glass on display, some of it dating back as far as the seventeenth century. Especially interesting were the narcissus, buckle, milk white and hobnail patterns.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the collect, followed by the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. J. R. White and Mrs. H. V. Collins.

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, November 19, 1939.

The golden text is: "What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?" (I Cor. 6).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord bless thee, and keep thee: the Lord make His face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up His countenance upon thee, and give thee peace." (Numbers 6).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul, or Spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image." (p. 120).

Because of the absence of the pastor, Dr. C. Karlos Smith, who is in Ruston in attendance at the annual Methodist conference, the morning service, 11 o'clock Sunday, will be in charge of Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor of the Rayne Memorial church in New Orleans.

Dr. Smith states that Rev. Holmes is one of the outstanding pastors of the state and that it will be a great privilege for the people here to hear him. Inasmuch as there will be no service Sunday morning in the First Methodist church in Monroe, Dr. Smith invites the membership and congregation of that church to attend the service at the West Monroe church and hear Rev. Holmes.

Anne Jamison Given Hearty Reception

Young Lyric Soprano Scores Brilliant Hit With Music Association Audience

One of the most representative and certainly the most enthusiastic audiences ever present at a Civic Music association concert greeted Miss Anne Jamison, lyric soprano, when she appeared here in concert Thursday night at the junior college auditorium.

The spacious auditorium resounded with hearty hand-clapping when the singer, a beautiful, slender girl, in a bouffant gown of white satin with crimson roses in her hair and encircling her wrists, stepped into the spotlight.

Even though many members were unable to attend the concert due to conflicting dates and a political meeting, the applause that greeted each number proved that the appreciation and the esprit de corps were there in considerable force.

Miss Jamison opened her program with Bach's "Schafe Konnen Sicher Weiden." It was a charming, lilting number, telling of shepherds guiding their flocks to peace and happiness.

The full compass of her voice was heard in Massenet's Aria (Manon) and Verdi's glorious aria, "Ernani." She adopted a warm, vigorous tone to the shifting styles of moods of the music. Admirable was Miss Jamison's grasp of the meaning of each song and her ability to evoke the right mood especially in the Verdi opera number where Elvira waits in her bridal finery before the ceremony and sings the beautiful but despairing aria, calling on her lover to save her. Still another number rendered with exceptional eloquence was Rossini's "La Promessa."

Miss Jamison gave, and her audience gave in return, making for a comaraderie that was more than sufficient unto the evening.

The encores were delightful, ending with the stirring song, "God Bless America."

Miss Jamison's accompanist, Richard Tetley-Kardos, gave a brilliant performance and disclosed the full compass of his technique in two piano numbers "Serenade," by Richard Strauss, and Chopin's Waltz in E Minor. Great tonal exuberance was noted in the first number. As an accompanist, Mr. Kardos proved invaluable to Miss Jamison as he injected a certain energetic rhythm into the music of each song.

The presence of two youthful musicians, Kay Kugler in blue taffeta evening gown and Joan Boardman in yellow taffeta evening gown, distributing programs, added a note of distinction to the evening's program.

Parent-Teacher News

"Building a Better Citizenship for Louisiana" will be the theme of the program presented at the Parent-Teacher section of the Louisiana Teachers association, which meets in Alexandria November 19-24.

Dr. Joseph M. Artman, Chicago, vice-president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and editor of "Character and Citizenship," will speak on "Character Education In Its Relation to Citizenship."

Other addresses scheduled for the Parent-Teacher program Tuesday are: "Integrating School and Community Activities for Citizenship and Training," Dr. Pierce Cline, president, Centenary college, Shreveport; "Influence of the School in the Development of Citizenship," James N. Poche, president, Louisiana Teachers association; "Influence of the Home in Development of Citizenship," Mrs. Emily Blanchard, president, Louisiana Parent-Teacher association; "Ideals and Practices of Citizenship," Miss Amy Hinrichs, president National Education association.

L. P. Terrebonne, superintendent of education, Iberville parish, will preside during the Tuesday session.

A school of instruction for publicity chairmen was sponsored by the Twin Cities' Council of Parent-Teacher associations, Monday evening, under the direction of Mrs. Nell Grigsby, state publicity chairman of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association. The meeting which was held at the home of Mrs. Paul Keller, council president, was attended by parent-teacher publicity chairmen of Monroe and West Monroe and the presidents.

A representation of Monroe parent-teacher members, are planning to motor down to Alexandria, Tuesday, to attend the Parent-Teacher section of the Louisiana Teachers' association. The council will be represented by Mrs. Paul Keller and officers of the council. Others who will attend the session are Mrs. Fagan Cox, first vice-president of the Louisiana Parent-Teacher association, Miss Myrtle Rodgers, fifth vice-president, Miss Julia Wossman, Mrs. W. S. Vincent, Miss Madie Moore, Miss Katie Key and Mrs. G. B. Wilson, state safety chairman.

Mrs. Elizabeth McCranie will be presented by the council, in a second book review, November 27, at the Ouachita parish courthouse. An award will be presented to the association having the largest attendance. Mrs. Elmer Richards, is chairman of the book review committee, which plans to sponsor a series of the reviews this winter.

The rhythm band from the first and second grades of which Miss Cliffie Olmstead and Mrs. Eulalia McCoy are teachers, entertained the group at the P.-T. A. meeting held at Central Grammar school, Wednesday afternoon. Selections rendered were: "Autumn Leaves," "Rock-Bye-Baby," and "The Broom."

Pupils of the fifth grade of which Mrs. Mary V. Peavy is teacher, rendered "Captain Kidd," as a vocal selection.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. E. G. Courtney and the opening selection was "America."

Mrs. McCoy reported on an art meeting that was held in Bastrop recently where a talk was made by Miss Betty Bethea of the Louisiana Tech faculty on the value of art. She said that art is uplifting when presented in the home just as are good books. Yet she warned that these must keep a proper balance and supplement games and enjoyment of the outside world.

Reports were rendered by the various committee chairmen and the conducting of important welfare work was stressed.

President Courtney urged attendance at a book review to be given by Mrs. J. D. McCraney.

Neville

Neville P.-T. A. is sponsoring three one-act plays which will be held Tuesday night, November 28, at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the school. These plays are being put on by the speech department of Neville High school and are under the able direction of the speech instructor, Mrs. Perritt. This entertainment will be the major money-making project of the year. During the 30-minute intermission, cakes, candy, coffee and cold drinks will be sold in the lobby. A nominal sum of admittance will be charged.

Finance chairman, Mrs. Milling Bernstein; ticket chairman, Mrs. G. D. Holland; publicity chairman, Mrs. B. B. Handy; cake committee chairman, Mrs. C. K. Dickard; candy committee chairman, Mrs. Sam Smith, Mrs. C. D. Oakley, Mrs. Alan Sugar, Mrs. M. H. Sager; coffee committee chairman, Mrs. C. S. Foster.

Georgia Tucker

The Georgia Tucker P.-T. A. met Thursday, October 16, in the auditorium of the school. A large audience was present to hear Dr. Fadra Holmes Wilson, guest speaker.

Dr. Wilson is professor of psychology at L. S. U. In response to Mrs. Hatchell's introduction she replied that the only reason she felt worthy for meriting such praise as Mrs. Hatchell gave her was the fact that she was sincere in what she was about to say. This fact is convincing as one listens to Dr. Wilson speak. Her subject was "Training Children to Be Citizens.' ' She said that citizenship begins in the home and the influences that shape a child's life start with the example and training that mothers and fathers give. Only those people who desire to make good citizens do so. It is a spiritual development and it must come from within."

Dr. Wilson recommended the book, "Education for a Changing Civilization," by Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, as a guide book to parents interested in rearing their children to be well balanced adults.

After the close of Dr. Wilson's address, tea was served by members of the hospitality committee and a delightful social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. C. B. Braun, chairman of the safety committee, and Mrs. Courtney Oliver, chairman of the recreation committee, submitted reports during the business session preceding the lecture.

Mrs. W. R. Hatchell, president of Georgia Tucker P.-T. A., graciously welcomed the large assemblage and introduced the speaker.

Ouachita Parish

The Ouachita Parish P.-T. A. held its regular meeting in the O. P. H. S. auditorium Thursday afternoon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. R. W. Church, the counseller, Mrs. R. L. McHenry, presided. Mrs. McHenry is a past president of Ouachita Parish and a state chairman of Louisiana P.-T. A.

Colonel E. P. Roy from the state department of police was introduced by Mr. Woodrow Turner, chairman of safety for the local unit. Colonel Roy spoke on bicycle traffic to and from school and brought to the assemblage many interesting statistics.

Mrs. G. B. Wilson, state chairman of safety, urged members of the local unit to cooperate with and participate in the family accident survey, under the direction of the chairman of the national committee on safety of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. Wilson also gave a detailed report of the Fifth district meeting held in Bastrop.

The program committee distributed attractive year books listing the officers, committees and planned programs for the entire school year.

Mrs. W. C. Corry, chairman of membership, reported 298 paid-up members. Mrs. Julius Johnson announced that the banners for attendance went to seniors and the first grade.

Crosley

Cancer control was discussed by Dr. J. W. Cummins before members of the Crosley P.-T. A. at their November meeting. Motion picture slides were used to illustrate points brought out in the address.

Second only to heart diseases in the cause of death, cancer, more than any other disease, has flourished from the curse of silence, according to the physician. Public education concerning cancer cure was begun in earnest only in recent years, Dr. Cummins stated, and should be pushed forward by organized society. A round-table discussion of the cancer problem followed.

A musical program was presented by members of the sixth grade. Mrs. K. W. Hunt presided at the business session. Announcing a total of 275 members, Mrs. Leon Fife made a report on the membership drive. Mrs. Lorenzo Roberson, finance chairman, announced a profit of $51.09 on the Halloween carnival.

Prizes for enrolling the largest number of parents were awarded to Mrs. Rousell's room of the third grade, Mrs. Cook's sixth grade class and Mrs. Welch's fourth grade. Mrs. Cook's students also won the monthly prize for the largest number of parents in attendance.

The next meeting of the group is scheduled on December 20.

Review Club Holds Meeting

The Review club met in the home of Mrs. E. P. Cudd Monday at 2:30 for its first meeting in November. After the business session, which was conducted by Mrs. C. B. Braun, president, the afternoon's program was devoted to "The Complete Farmer." Like Virgil's idealistic picture of Italian life it dealt with romantic aspects of farming.

Mrs. W. T. Davis and Mrs. Walter Rhodes presented the program, reviewing two books that express homesickness for the land, the unconscious dream of many thousands of commuters for a "little place in the country." "R. F. D." by William Allen Smart is a record of life on a southern Ohio farm and although free from literary ornateness, is a beautiful story and one that very frequently moves close to genuine poetry.

"We Farm for a Hobby and Make it Pay" is Henry Tetlow's convincing story of farming in Pennsylvania, farming that offers escape from the complexity of city life, from economic depression and affords, too, adventure and delight.

The following members enjoyed the meeting: Mesdames Fred Fudickar, Allen Givens, Henry Colbert, W. R. Hatchell, W. T. Davis, D. M. Moore, Ben Breard, B. W. Leigh, Walter Rhodes, W. J. Veasey, C. B. Braun, E. P. Cudd and DeWitt Henry. Mrs. Lealis Hale and Mrs. Edward Cooley were welcomed to the club's membership.

Junior Gavel Meeting Held

Mrs. John Richardson presided during the presentation of the afternoon program on "Collection of Old Glass." She asked: "Has the glass bug bitten you? If so, you feel and look at different patterns and hear technical discussions, you buy small pieces, you read and study what Ruth Webb Lee, and Millard and other authorities have to say, then you are well innoculated."

There was a collection of old glass on display, some of it dating back as far as the seventeenth century. Especially interesting were the narcissus, buckle, milk white and hobnail patterns.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the collect, followed by the reading of the minutes and the treasurer's report.

Guests for the afternoon were: Mrs. J. R. White and Mrs. H. V. Collins.

THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

St. John and Grammont Street
Rev. L. T. Hastings, Pastor

The pastor will occupy the pulpit at both services Sunday and a cordial invitation is extended to members and friends of this church to worship Sunday.

It may or may not be raining at Sunday school time but it is our hope that the members of our school will make a special effort to attend. The lesson subject for Sunday will be "Living The Christ Life." It should prove most interesting and helpful to all.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

West Monroe
Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor
Prof. Dallas Goss, Music Director
Miss Beulah Doerr, Educational Director

This church and pastor are deeply grateful to the citizens of the Twin Cities and to the people of all denominations for the help given in the entertainment of messengers and visitors to the ninety-second annual convention of Louisiana Baptists in this church last week. We thank you. Services in this church today as follows: Sunday school, 9:45 a.m.; B. T. U. leaders' meeting, 6:00 p.m.; B. T. U. and Brotherhood 6:30 p.m.. The pastor will preach at 10:50 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The ordinance of baptism will be administered at the prayer service next Wednesday evening. Special Thanksgiving services will be held by this church Thursday at 9 a.m.

Ladies' Bible class, Tuesday at 2:45 p.m.

Prayer and song service, Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The morning sermon theme will be: "Sin as Illustrated by Judas Iscariot." "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your spiritual service."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Auburn Avenue And North Second

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, November 19, 1939.

The golden text is: "What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own?" (I Cor. 6).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "The Lord bless thee and keep thee; the Lord make His face shine upon thee, and be gracious unto thee; the Lord lift up His countenance upon thee and give thee peace.' (Numbers 6).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul, or Spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man coexists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image." (p. 120).

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Corner St. John And Oak Streets
R. T. Watson, Minister
E. H. Williamson, Church School Supt.
Mrs. P. J. Newman, Choir Director

Church school at 9:45 a.m. Divine worship 10:50 a.m. The sermon theme, "The Life of God in the Church Today."

Senior Christian Endeavor at 6:30 p.m. Intermediate Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Evening worship 7:30 p.m.

The sermon theme for the evening service will be: "The Allegory of Sarah and Hagar." This will comprise another sermon in the series on the typology of the Old Testament.

You are cordially invited to attend any and all of these services. The church provides what no other institution in the community offers. Come to church Sunday.

Choir practice is held Thursday at 7:45 p.m.

GRACE CHURCH

Fourth And Glenmar Streets
Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Grace church, located at Fourth and Glenmar streets, is open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. You are cordially invited to come in at any time and rest or pray or give thanks or meditate—it is your Father's house of prayer. Let us think for a moment of the power of persevering prayer. We all know the kind of person—(perhaps we have been that kind of person ourselves)—who upon receiving no answer to her timid knock, slips a calling card under the door, and hurries away. The conventions have been satisfied, the call has been made—perfunctorily! God is never away from home. He says: "Knock and it shall be opened unto you." Our perseverance is not a test of Him; it is a test of our sincerity. When God opens the door, He doesn't want the shell of us standing there. How many times our Lord Jesus delayed action in order to get a deeper, worthier prayer. Would we want the kingdom to be founded upon sands of caprice and shallowness? "Men ought always to pray and not to faint." "In due season we shall reap, if we faint not." Services for this Sunday, the 24th after Trinity, are as usual: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. Church school will assemble at 9:30 a.m., and mid-day service beginning at 10:45 a.m. The rector will read evensong and preach in St. David's, Rayville, at 4 p.m.

TRINITY LUTHERAN CHURCH

Harrison And D'Arbonne
Sherrouse Addition
Vernon C. Grosse, Pastor

Sunday school and Bible class at 9:45 a.m. Church service at 10:45 a.m.

There will be an afternoon service at Delhi at 2:30 p.m.

All are cordially invited to worship with us.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Jackson At Wood Street
The Church With The Lighted Steeple

There will be no church services in this church today as this is Conference Sunday and all ministers of the state are in attendance at annual conference being held in Ruston. Church school classes will meet as usual, the children's division at 9:30 and all other departments at 9:45.

The board of stewards will meet at the church tomorrow (Monday) at 7:30 for the organization of the board for the new year's work. Our new minister, Dr. A. M. Freeman, will be present and all members of the board are urged to be present to meet him and to participate in the organization.

The young adults of the church are enjoying a series of lectures on the Bible by Professor W. C. Honeycutt of Northeast Center. The next lecture will be given on Tuesday evening at 7:45. All interested young adults are cordially invited to attend.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

West Monroe

Because of the absence of the pastor, Dr. C. Karlos Smith, who is in Ruston in attendance at the annual Methodist conference, the morning service, 11 o'clock Sunday, will be in charge of Rev. W. W. Holmes, pastor of the Rayne Memorial church in New Orleans.

Dr. Smith states that Rev. Holmes is one of the outstanding pastors of the state and that it will be a great privilege for the people here to hear him. Inasmuch as there will be no service Sunday morning in the First Methodist church in Monroe, Dr. Smith invites the membership and congregation of that church to attend the service at the West Monroe church and hear Rev. Holmes.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH

Stone Avenue And South Third Street
'The Friendly Church On The Corner'
I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Finny, the great evangelist, tells us that he was once crossing the Atlantic when the steamer was overtaken by a fierce gale of wind. Upon the deck the roar and confusion was terrific. The spray from the crests of the waves blew upon the face with almost force enough to blister it. The noise of the waves roaring and foaming was almost deafening. But when he stepped into the engine-room, everything was quiet. The mighty engine was moving with a quietness and stillness in striking contrast to the roar without.

So God gives courage, strength, and quietness to the storm-tossed souls who follow Jesus' example and come to Him in prayer.

Sunday school at the usual hour, 9:45 a.m. There will likely be no service at 11 o'clock, due to the fact that annual conference will be in session at Ruston, La. Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p.m. Evening service at 7:30. Circle meetings Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Midweek prayer service Thursday evening at 7:30. Mrs. Henry Leckie will lead the service. We invite you to worship with us.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Thomas And Richmond Street
G. M. And Mrs. Akin, Pastors

Sunday school will open at 9:45 p.m., S. P. Quigley, superintendent. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Evening evangelistic service 7:30. Young people's meetings at 6:30 O. L. Hoskins, president of N. Y. P. S., and Miss Marie Venable in charge of the Junior society. Women's Foreign Missionary society will meet with Miss Dottie Watts, 313 Malvern, Tuesday evening at 7:30. Prayer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:30. All members and friends are invited to these services.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Grammont At Catalpa
Ernest Holloway, Pastor

A most hearty and sincere invitation is extended you to worship with us. God knows people, and therefore He has established the Sabbath day, a time when His temple is to be remembered. "Man does not live by bread alone; but by every word which comes from the Word of God." Obedience to His will not only reveals faith, gratitude, and love; it clearly proves that the worshipper is dissatisfied with his spiritual status, and is striving for a higher plane of living.

Since the people of our state will express their views soon as to whom they want in state and parish positions, we have been constrained to speak this Sabbath morning on the spiritual qualifications of public officials. The theme is "A Wise Man's Counsel." "Why Should We Love God?" is the subject of the evening message.

Thursday, November 23, a union Thanksgiving worship will be held in the First Methodist church, West Monroe. The hour is 10 o'clock in the morning, and the preacher is Rev. R. T. Watson, pastor of the First Christian church, Monroe.

Choudrant

The monthly meeting of the Home Demonstration club held at the auditorium of the high school Thursday afternoon was largely attended.

Mrs. H. E. Morrison, who is chairman of the club, presided during the business session.

Mrs. Bertha Bryson, Lincoln parish home demonstrator, gave a short talk and distributed pamphlets on commercial patterns and garden suggestion for November and December.

A short radio program was given, Mrs. Bryson being the announcer and Mrs. J. A. O'Neal, Mrs. Reita Terry, Mrs. O. H. Futrel, Mrs. C. L. Faulkner and Mrs. H. E. Morrison being the speakers.

The Needlecraft club was hostess Wednesday afternoon in the library room of the Choudrant High school, at a tea in honor of Miss Sarah Liner, a bride-elect.

Mrs. C. L. Madden and Mrs. J. A. O'Neal presided at the tea table. During the evening contests were enjoyed. The prize winners were Mrs. T. C. Pipes and Mrs. Louise Willis.

State gasoline taxes range from two to seven cents.

Cast Selected For New Theater Play

Louis Guerriero Will Play Leading Role In Production 'Night Must Fall'

Adding color and interest to the early holiday season will be the Little Theater production, "Night Must Fall," under the direction of Louis Guerriero, Tuesday night, December 5, at Northeast Junior college auditorium.

Members of the cast, selected by Mr. Guerriero from among thirty aspirants who responded to his call for tryouts, are now knee deep in rehearsals. More than thirty young men and women with histrionic aspirations, expressed a desire to be members of the forthcoming production.

The public will be delighted with Mr. Guerriero's selection as each character fits ideally into the part assigned. Kathleen Miller has been cast in the role of Mrs. Bronson, Georgia Goza in the role of Olivia and Lydia Nash in the role of Nurse Libby. Jewell Carraway has the part of Mrs. Terrence and Fay Hunt the part of Dora. Thomas Hayes, Jr., will portray the part of Hubert and Kramer Haas the part of Bellzize. Louis Guerriero will appear in the leading male role, to the delight of Little Theaters members.

The Little Theater season opened brilliantly and auspiciously last month with a record-breaking audience attending the presentation of "Susan and God." Mr. Nick Slater, treasurer of the Little Theater, announced that the season ticket sale exceeded all expectations with a total of 1,050. Last year the membership was 800 and the previous year it was 500.

Immediately following the presentation of "Night Must Fall" rehearsals will start on the next production, "Goodby Again," a comedy which will be presented early in February.

SERIAL STORY

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD

CHAPTER XVIII

Joan felt [illegible] at his words. It was [illegible] to hear [illegible] confident [illegible] later. And here [illegible].

It was the moment she had been waiting for [illegible] to meet [illegible]. After [illegible] had given [illegible] curred [illegible] sure.

Finally: "Keith, I must be honest with you. I [illegible] that. And [illegible] conceited [illegible] to feel [illegible]. But now [illegible] Keith, I [illegible] what to say."

"Afraid [illegible] me [illegible] giving the wrong answer?"

• • •

But late that night the answer came to her. The [illegible] her [illegible] the [illegible] low [illegible] ing?

She [illegible] of the [illegible] at the [illegible] moon [illegible] trees [illegible]. A street [illegible] desperate [illegible] but [illegible].

That's what [illegible] for [illegible] wanted [illegible] why [illegible].

Maybe [illegible] thing [illegible] love with [illegible] know [illegible]. Before the chimes [illegible] had dropped off to sleep.

• • •

Keith [illegible] Monday. "What's the matter with Prince Charming?" Joan [illegible] toward the [illegible] again?"

He gave a [illegible]. "Yep [illegible]. And I'm warning [illegible] ger at [illegible] a solid [illegible] fore [illegible] the job [illegible]."

She [illegible] poor [illegible] him a [illegible].

"For three years," he said [illegible]. "I've been [illegible] on the football field. Can you blame me if I get just a little [illegible]" Keith [illegible] a nice [illegible].

He left the [illegible]. It didn't need finishing, she thought. The word "but" sufficed.

Keith called that night and asked if he could come over for awhile. She told him she had too much to do. After all she had been gone for three days. Later, upstairs, she realized she didn't have so much to do after all.

Then why hadn't she let Keith come over? She didn't have the immediate answer, but through her head filtered the "life one" discussion she had with Dan that morning.

• • •

Glancing idly through the paper next morning Joan suddenly found herself staring at Dan Webber's name in print. According to the story in front of her Dan had been named chairman of the "Last Week" committee by Barney Hughes.

Her brow knitted perplexedly. And what might that mean? she wondered. She turned to Elaine Chesbro who was picking with great lack of interest at a dish of prunes.

"Hey, squirt, what's this Last Week business all about?" She shoved the paper toward her roommate and pointed to the article.

"Oh, that?" Elaine pushed the prunes aside. "That's a traditional ceremony around here whereby the football captain appoints another senior on the squad to represent the boys who are playing their last game for [illegible]."

[illegible] more explanation than [illegible].

"There's a lot of junk they do [illegible]," Elaine continued vaguely. "Like the last rally and senior [illegible] that's when all the seniors line [illegible]. The rides after practice and smack the tackling dummy for the last time. Quite a ceremony [illegible] pictures, and stuff and even a radio broadcast from [illegible]."

"There shouldn't be much for him [illegible] then."

[illegible] know the Senate usually [illegible] a formality of appointing [illegible] chairman. He just lets em know [illegible] wants and they do the rest."

Joan looked up in surprise. She wondered who Dan would select. Frances Campbell, perhaps [illegible] the girl he had taken to the Gamma dance. No, she guessed not. Dan hadn't dated her since.

"I give up," she mused.

Elaine looked at her. "Huh?"

"About who Dan would select, I suppose," Elaine added dryly.

"It's a natural thought, isn't it?" Joan said as she got up to leave.

Elaine watched her retreating back. "Ummm. Now I wonder," she said softly to herself. Elaine Chesbro was gifted with a highly analytical mind and as a sudden thought came to her an impish expression stole over her face.

• • •

The impish smile broadened into a wide grin as the idea grew on her. First she had better call Tommy Peters for a little information.

He raved a blue streak getting him out of bed "in the middle of the night" but gradually subsided. "What's doin'?" he grumbled.

"Who's Dan going to name as co-chairman for the 'Last Week' committee?"

"No one," Tommy's voice came back. "His ideas on the subject are strictly blank, from what I gather. So what?"

"So then the Senate just goes ahead and names someone for him, doesn't it?"

"Such questions you can ask me before the sun is up," he groaned. "Go 'way and let me sleep."

She peered into her compact reflectively as she repaired her make-up. Bert Cassidy had been trying to get a date with her for weeks. Maybe she ought to stop in at the Student Senate office and say hello to him. As secretary of student affairs, he might be able to do her a favor some time.

Cast Selected For New Theater Play

Louis Guerriero Will Play Leading Role In Production 'Night Must Fall'

Adding color and interest to the early holiday season will be the Little Theater production, "Night Must Fall," under the direction of Louis Guerriero, Tuesday night, December 5, at Northeast Junior college auditorium.

Members of the cast, selected by Mr. Guerriero from among thirty aspirants who responded to his call for tryouts, are now knee deep in rehearsals. More than thirty young men and women, with histrionic aspirations, expressed a desire to be members of the forthcoming production.

The public will be delighted with Mr. Guerriero's selection as each character fits ideally into the part assigned. Kathleen Miller has been cast in the role of Mrs. Bronson. Georgia Goza in the role of Olivia and Lydia Nichols in the role of Nurse Libby. Jewell Carraway has the part of Mrs. Terrence and Fay Hunt the part of Dora. Thomas Hayes, Jr., will portray the part of Hubert and Kramer Haas the part of Bellzize. Louis Guerriero will appear in the leading male role, to the delight of Little Theaters members.

The Little Theater season opened brilliantly and auspiciously last month with a record-breaking audience attending the presentation of "Susan and God." Mr. Nick Slater, treasurer of the Little Theater, announced that the season ticket sale exceeded all expectations with a total of 1,050. Last year the membership was 800 and the previous year it was 500.

Immediately following the presentation of "Night Must Fall" rehearsals will start on the next production, "Goodby Again," a comedy which will be presented early in February.

● SERIAL STORY

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER XVIII

Joan felt her heart race at his words. It was something she had wanted to hear from him . . . something she was confident he would say sooner or later. And here was the moment.

She buried her face against his chest for a long moment. Her thoughts raced along with her heart, and racing, the ybecame confused, jumbled, conflicting.

It was the moment she had been waiting for but she didn't know how to meet it. After all the thought she had given the idea it suddenly occurred to her that she still wasn't sure.

Finally: "Keith—I must be honest with you. I did want you to tell me that. And it wasn't out of selfish, conceited motives. I didn't want you to feed my ego. But now . . . oh, Keith, I don't know what to say."

"Afraid you'll hurt me by giving the wrong answer?"

"No, Keith. I just want to be sure. I can't tell you I do love you . . . but I can't tell you I don't."

• • •

But late that night the answer came to her. The suddenness of it made her sit bolt upright. From out across the still campus came the clear, mellow chimes from Haddon Tower, tolling 2 o'clock.

She propped herself against the back of the bed and stared out the window at the opposite end of the room. The moon danced on the branches of the trees swaying gently in the wind. A street lamp flickered fitfully, trying desperately to compete with the moon but failing miserably.

Everything was so clear now. Everything. She saw it all. If she were in love with Keith she would have known it tonight. She would have known it when he confessed his love for her.

That's what she had been waiting for, wasn't it? That's what she had wanted to hear him say. So, then . . . why hadn't the spark registered?

Maybe it would rekindle. But one thing she was sure of—she wasn't in love with him now. It was a relief to know that much at least. Before the chimes struck the quarter-hour she had dropped off to sleep.

• • •

Keith wasn't in class Monday. "What's the matter with Prince Charming?" Joan asked Dan, nodding toward the empty seat. "Oversleep again?"

He gave a short affirmative nod. "Yep . . . the guy's impossible. And I'm warning you" . . . he shook a finger at her . . . "I'm not going to kill a solid evening cramming with him before finals. You're welcome to the job . . . exclusively."

She grimaced. "Thanks. How'll the poor kid get through if we don't toss him a life-line?"

"For three years," he said slowly, "I've been tossing that guy a life-line on the football field. Can you blame me if I get just a little fed up. Keith's a nice boy, but—"

He left the sentence unfinished. It didn't need finishing, she thought. The word "but" sufficed.

Keith called that night and asked if he could come over for awhile. She told him she had too much to do. After all, she had been gone for three days. Later, upstairs, she realized she didn't have so much to do after all.

Then why hadn't she let Keith come over? She didn't have the immediate answer, but through her head filtered the "life-line" discussion she had with Dan that morning.

• • •

Glancing idly through the paper next morning Joan suddenly found herself staring at Dan Webber's name in print. According to the story in front of her Dan had been named chairman of the "Last Week" committee by Barney Hughes.

Her brow knitted perplexedly. And what might that mean? she wondered. She turned to Elaine Chesbro who was poking with great lack of interest at a dish of prunes.

"Hey, squirt—what's this 'Last Week' business all about?" She shoved the paper toward her roommate and pointed out the article.

"Oh, there's a lot of junk they do and observe," Elaine continued vaguely. "Like the last rally and senior tackle—that's when all the seniors line up Thursday after practice and smack the tackling dummy for the last time. Quite a ceremony . . . pictures, and stuff, and even a radio broadcast from the field."

"There shoudn't be much for him to do, then."

Joan looked up in surprise. She wondered who Dan would select. Eileen Campbell, perhaps . . . the girl he had taken to the Gamma dance. No, she guessed not. Dan hadn't dated her since.

"About who Dan would select, I suppose," Elaine added dryly.

"It's a natural thought, isn't it?" Joan said as she got up to leave.

Elaine watcher her retreating back. "Ummm. Now, I wonder," she said softly to herself. Elaine Chesbro was gifted with a highly analytical mind and as a suden thought came to her an impish expression stole over her face.

• • •

The impish smile broadened into a wide grin as the idea grew on her. First, she had better call Tommy Peters for a little information.

He raved a blue streak getting him out of bed "in the middle of the night" but gradually subsided. "What's doin'?" he grumbled.

"Who's Dan going to name as co-chairman for the 'Last Week' committee?"

"No one," Tommy's voice came back. "His ideas on the subject are strictly blank, from what I gather. So what?"

"So then the Senate just goes ahead and names someone for him, doesn't it?"

"Such questions you can ask me before the sun is up," he groaned. "Go 'way and let me sleep."

She peered into her compact reflectively as she repaired her make-up. Bert Cassidy had been trying to get a date with her for weeks. Maybe she ought to stop in at the Student Senate office and say hello to him. As secretary of student affairs, he might be able to do her a favor some time.

'Disputed Passage' Opens Engagement At Paramount

Lamour And Tamiroff In Star Roles

Dramatic Story Of Man's Fight Between Love And Science Told

"Disputed Passage," like previous Douglas stories, is ideally suited for screen adaptation. Just as his "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Light" made perfect vehicles for the cinema in that they offered three-dimensional characterizations in exciting settings, so "Disputed Passage" will bring to moviegoers a scrutinizing and moving study of doctors' problems.

Dorothy Lamour is given her first really big dramatic role, that of an American girl, born in the Orient, who is brought up by Chinese foster parents when her true parents have died. To discharge her debt of honor, she has returned to America to seek help for the sorely-pressed Chinese.

She meets and falls in love with Howard, a brilliant young surgeon and protege of Tamiroff, who plays a world-renowned medical professor and neurological surgeon. Tamiroff, who has been the young doctor's inspiration and guiding star, is a stubborn, vitriolic professor, worshipping science as a God. Human emotions count for nothing with him. "There is a standing reward," he states, "to anyone who can find the human soul."

Hearing of Howard's contemplated marriage and convinced that it will ruin a great career, Tamiroff explains his belief to the girl and persuades her his opinion is correct. She sails for China and resumes her work at the battle-front.

"Disputed Passage" was directed by Frank Borzage, who has piloted such previous screen masterpieces as "Farewell To Arms," and the more recent "Three Comrades."

VAUGHN QUARTET TO APPEAR HERE

The Vaughan quartet, headed by James D. Vaughan himself, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., will appear in concert at Central Grammar school auditorium Monday at 8 p.m. in a benefit performance for Gordon Avenue Methodist church. Only a small fee for admission will be charged.

This group is well known throughout the country, being popular as radio entertainers. They can be heard over KWKH, Shreveport radio station, Monday through Friday at 11:30 a.m. and Sunday at 7 a.m.

The group is composed of LeRoy Carver, first tenor; Taylor Helton, second tenor; W. B. Walbert, baritone; George Schnake, bass; and James D. Walbert, wizard pianist.

LEGION AUXILIARY HEARS SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 18.—(Special)—Ashley W. Warlick, East Carroll parish superintendent of education, was guest speaker for the November meeting of Powell Martin Barrett unit No. 37, American Legion auxiliary. Mr. Warlick discussed "Methods of Education."

Mrs. Mae Kelly of Oak Grove, Fifth district president, was a guest and gave highlights of the district conference recently held in Newellton. She also explained the hospital toy shop in Alexandria. Quota of toys from the local unit will be 30, 15 optional and 15 for girls of 14 years of age.

Mrs. E. C. Frenz, membership chairman, reported that the membership quota of 39 had been exceeded by three, with an enrollment of 42.

Richard Green surpasses his triumph in "Kentucky" in his first starring role the daring modern drama showing Friday and Satuday at the Paramount theater, "Here I Am A Stranger," in which he meets romance with lovely Brenda Joyce, sensational discovery of "The Rains Came." Richard Dix, Roland Young and Gladys George are also featured.

TECH ENTERTAINS METHODIST GROUP

RUSTON, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech was host yesterday to approximately 400 Methodist clergymen and layman delegates at a coffee and open house. The churchmen, who are holding their annual conference at Ruston, accepted an invitation presented them by E. S. Richardson, president of Tech, who addressed the group at the morning session.

The coffee, which was held in the new dining hall at the college, was presided over by Mrs. Clara S. Burris, dining hall matron, and the student waiters. Coffee, sandwiches and cookies, prepared by the cafeteria under the direction of Miss Irene Tolliver, manager, were served from a table decorated with white and maroon carnations and with white candles.

Immediately following the coffee, the two girls' dormitories were opened to the visitors and Tech coeds, headed by house council officers, deans and counselors received during the remainder of the afternoon.

Those receiving in Richardson hall were: Mrs. E. E. Cunningham, counselor, assisted by Ruby Robison of Vivian, president of the Richardson house council, and other student members of the organization. Receiving in Aswell hall with Miss Caroline Cochran, dean of women, were: Mrs. Gussie Ayres, assistant dean of women and counselor; Melba Hollinshead of Homer, president of the Aswell hall house council, and other student members of the council.

WARREN GARRETT'S CONDITION BETTER

The condition of Warren Garrett, who underwent a serious operation a few days ago at the clinic, was reported Saturday as favorable for his recovery. His condition previous to that time had been critical.

The injury that he received was of unusual nature. When at his home and engaged in playing with his favorite German police dog, Mr. Garrett was tripped up by the animal, and thrown violently to the floor. The fall aggravated an old injury in his side and he was rushed to the clinic where an operation was required.

Karloff In Thrill Film At Capitol

'The Man They Couldn't Hang' Provides Sensational Story

WEIRD, horrifying and fascinating, "The Man They Could Not Hang," which opens today at the Capitol theater, is strong meat sufficient to satisfy the starkest appetite of the most hardened horror fan. Starring Boris Karloff in a tale which makes the flesh creep and at the same time emerges as a dramatic triumph, the new Columbia melodrama is compelling film fare.

"The Man They Could Not Hang" should win for Karloff for all time the title of "King of Horror." Never has he contributed a more vivid, more chilling portrayal than that of Dr. Savaard, the inhuman scientist who is the central figure of the new film. Savaard has succeeded in perfecting a mechanical heart which can restore life to the dead, but his experiments are interpreted as murder and he is hanged for the crime.

Karloff realistically depicts the complete change in the scientist's mental attitude when he is restored to life through the medium of his own invention. Before his encounter with the law, Savaard was a humanitarian, an altruistic benefactor of humanity. After his restoration to life, he is transformed into a merciless killer, relentless in his quest of revenge.

From this fear-inspiring material has been woven a breathtaking screenplay, ably acted by a competent cast. Lorna Gray as the scientist's daughter and Robert Wilcox, as an ace reporter, carry the romantic burden of the film. Roger Pryor, returning to the screen after a long absence, is more than capable as the district attorney, one of the chief targets of Savaard's vengeance.

Nick Grinde has endowed "The Man They Could Not Hang" with painstaking direction so that the audience is held spellbound. The supporting cast includes Ann Doran, Byron Foulger, Don Beddoe, Charles Trowbridge and Joseph de Stefani.

MORE YOUTHS TO ENLIST IN ARMY

The following young men have enrolled in the United States army the past few days at the local recruiting station, according to Sergeant Harold B. McNemar, army recruiting officer:

Openings are available for quartermaster corps, Barksdale field, Alaska and Puerto Rico. A high school education is not necessary for these openings. Signal corps, medical department, Barksdale field, air corps, Hawaii, and Maxwell field openings all require a high school education.

The recruiting office is in the new postoffice building, room 301, and is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

ent Will Be Featured By Style Revue; Shops Completely Rebuilt

With old departments enlarged and new departments added, The Woman's Shop, composed of the Bella Scherck Davidson ready-to-wear store, the Alice Henry Millinery establishment and the Ruth Touchstone Beauty Salon, will formally open Monday night in its rebuilt and modernized quarters at 102 DeSiard street.

The opening is scheduled for 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. and will be featured by a style revue.

The place in which the three establishments are now operating is twice the size it was before it was rebuilt, both within and without, and converted into one of the most modern shopping centers to be found anywhere.

There's the front of the building, for instance. It combines gray and black [illegible] as a decorative motif. Of the [illegible] type, it has a bay [illegible] windows to the left and right, a display window between the two [illegible] opening into the establishment and a modernistic "spot" display case at the center support to the vestibule, which is flush with the sidewalk.

The windows afford ample space for display of all merchandise handled by the associated establishments of The Woman's Shop. They are lighted with [illegible] lights that bring out all the [illegible] of the various articles shown. The "spot" case is as visible from automobiles as from the sidewalk.

The [illegible] arrangement of the interior [illegible] the shop's hats, French [illegible] and negligees, [illegible] models entrance [illegible] department and fitting [illegible] beauty salon, dress [illegible] dresses entrance [illegible] department, entrance to French [illegible] coats, shoes and hosiery. Sportswear and gloves are between the two entrances and the corset, lingerie and purses are in the [illegible] the middle of the establishment.

With the exception of hats, which are handled by the Alice Henry Millinery Shop, [illegible] the beauty salon, which is operated by Mrs. Ruth Touchstone, the [illegible] departments of The Woman's Shop are under the jurisdiction of the Bella Scherck Davidson ready-to-wear [illegible].

The [illegible] but sportswear and cosmetics also are new items [illegible]. The children's [illegible] to include [illegible] boys.

The French room off the [illegible] is devoted to [illegible] expensive models. The [illegible] the ready-to-wear [illegible] used for displaying better [illegible] and evening gowns.

Besides being spacious, The Woman's Shop is [illegible] arranged and beautiful[illegible]. The ceiling is of [illegible] white and [illegible] panels of [illegible] approximately [illegible] between bird's eye and [illegible]. A grayish tan carpet [illegible] design covers the floor [illegible] with the decorative scheme. Semi-indirect lighting [illegible].

The fitting [illegible] which are to the left and [illegible] of the store, are lighted with fluorescent lights that have a [illegible] adjustable mirrors [illegible] to enable a patron to see [illegible] how a garment fits. Each of the rooms is attractively papered in a different design.

The French room, which is directly across the [illegible], is equipped with a [illegible] crystal chandelier and [illegible] hangs a beautiful mirror in an antique gilded frame. The walls and woodwork are of antique white.

The children's department occupies a small room off the main store. It is decorated in a fashion to appeal to children and make them feel at home while they are being fitted.

Garment racks throughout the store are recessed into the walls and an invisible air conditioning unit keeps the store supplied with pure air at the proper temperature both winter and summer.

All of the furnishings and fixtures of the store are of modernistic design and fit harmoniously into arrangement of the whole. No detail was overlooked. Even the sidewalk awning, when rolled up, is out of sight. It is recessed into the front wall.

The Bella Scherck Davidson Shop, of which Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davidson are co-managers, has experienced a steady growth since its establishment. It deals in moderately priced and exclusive merchandise.

'WASP WAIST' NEW CORSET SILHOUETTE

Laced in tiny waist sections, the new corsets give to the modern lady of fashion the same "wasp waist" boasted by her grandmother. Back laces, side or short front lacings, nip in the waist section and give the lovely rounded hiplines that look so new to us this fall.

Foundation garments stress the long flat diaphragm while lifting the bustline in youthful contours. Delicately shaped panels and insets streamline the figure, by following the muscle lines of the body itself. New scientific methods of designing have thus caught the perfect body contours, accenting their grace and bringing out their curving lines.

SHE PLANS HOUSES WOMEN WILL LIKE

MIAMI—(AP)—Mrs. Juanita James, one of Miami's most successful dealers, is capitalizing on what most everybody knows—that women, in the final analysis, pick out the home.

So, in building homes for sale, she plans to satisfy the women.

New Autumn Furs Marked By Skilled Workmanship

Skilled workmanship triumphs in new fall furs, with pelts as soft as fabrics worked in intricate designs that mould the figure sleekly, or swing gracefully out in back in the new Empire swagger silhouette. Mink and sable colorings in many new dye effects emphasize the trend for elegance, giving special beauty to furs of the squirrel, fitch, caracul, kolinsky and other flat types.

Two major silhouettes are shown in furs, the fitted or slim boxy. Swing-back models are shown in sportsy shorter jackets, or in "costume" furs worn with special ensembles. The slim hanging, straight line coat, is still considered most flattering to many women, especially liked in beaver, Persian, nutria, seal, and other flat pelts. Shorter coats with the swing back are shown in almost every available fur, from the stubby skunk furs in new brown colorings, to the luscious blue fox and fox-dyed lynx, as well as trim little models in warm brown nutria, Persian, caracul kid, or others.

Front fullness, back swing lines, and other extreme styles are noted occasionally, but only in coats for special wear. The dressmaker technique so dramatic in this year's furs is possible because of the new workings of the skins, which gives them softer draping qualities.

Collars on almost all fur coats shown are small, or non-existent. But necklines hug up closely for warmth and comfort. Sleeves are simple, or gracefully flared and fitted into the wrists, with shoulders squared or slightly shirred for softness. A few fitted

Event Will Be Featured By Style Revue; Shops Completely Rebuilt

With old departments enlarged and new departments added, The Woman's Shop, composed of the Bella Scherck Davidson ready-to-wear store, the Alice Henry Millinery establishment and the Ruth Touchstone Beauty Salon, will formally open Monday night in its rebuilt and modernized quarters at 102 DeSiard street.

The opening is scheduled for 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. and will be featured by a style revue.

The place in which the three establishments are now operating is twice the size it was before it was rebuilt, both within and without, and converted into one of the most modern shopping centers to be found anywhere.

The windows afford ample space for display of all merchandise handled by the associated establishments of The Woman's Shop. They are lighted with fluorescent lights that bring out all the details of the various articles shown. The "spot" case is as visible from automobiles as from the sidewalk.

The clockwise arrangement of the interior as one enters the shop is hats, French room, housecoats and negligees, cashier's office, junior models, entrance to shipping department and fitting rooms, entrance to beauty salon, dresses, display niche, dresses, entrance to children's department, entrance to French room, coats, shoes and hosiery. Sportswear and gloves are between the two entrances and the corsets, lingerie and purses are in the "island" in the middle of the establishment.

With the exception of hats, which are handled by the Alice Henry Millinery Shop, and the beauty salon, which is operated by Mrs. Ruth Touchstone, the various departments of The Woman's Shop are under the jurisdiction of the Bella Scherck Davidson ready-to-wear establishment.

The main department added is shoes but sportwear and cosmetics also are new items being handled. The children's department has been enlarged to include wearing apparel for young boys.

The French room off the hat shop is devoted to the more expensive models. The one in connection with the ready-to-wear store is used for displaying better dresses and evening gowns.

Besides being spacious, The Woman's Shop is conveniently arranged and beautifully decorated. The ceiling is of off-white, the walls of white and furniture, furnishings and panels of prima vera wood in a color approximately halfway between bird's eye and colonial maple. A grayish tan carpeting with a leaf design covers the floor and blends with the decorative scheme. Semi-indirect lighting is utilized.

The fitting rooms, which are to the left about midway of the store, are lighted with fluorescent lights that have a daylight glow and have double mirrors so arranged as to enable a patron to see exactly how a garment fits. Each of the rooms is attractively papered in a different design.

The French room, which is directly across the store to the right, is equipped with a splendid crystal chandelier and on one of the walls hangs a beautiful mirror in an antique gilded frame. The walls and woodwork are of antique white.

The children's department occupies a small room off the main store. It is decorated in a fashion to appeal to children and make them feel at home while they are being fitted.

Garment racks throughout the store are recessed into the walls and an invisible air conditioning unit keeps the store supplied with pure air at the proper temperature both winter and summer.

'Disputed Passage' Opens Engagement At Paramount

Lamour And Tamiroff In Star Roles

"Disputed Passage," like previous Douglas stories, is ideally suited for screen adaptation. Just as his "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Light" made perfect vehicles for the cinema in that they offered three-dimensional characterizations in exciting settings, so "Disputed Passage" will bring to moviegoers a scrutinizing and moving study of doctors' problems.

Dorothy Lamour is given her first really big dramatic role, that of an American girl, born in the Orient, who is brought up by Chinese foster parents when her true parents have died. To discharge her debt of honor, she has returned to America to seek help for the sorely-pressed Chinese.

She meets and falls in love with Howard, a brilliant young surgeon and protege of Tamiroff, who plays a world-renowned medical professor and neurological surgeon. Tamiroff, who has been the young doctor's inspiration and guiding star, is a stubborn, vitriolic professor, worshipping science as a God. Human emotions count for nothing with him. "There is a standing reward," he states, "to anyone who can find the human soul."

Hearing of Howard's contemplated marriage and convinced that it will ruin a great career, Tamiroff explains his belief to the girl and persuades her his opinion is correct. She sails for China and resumes her work at the battle-front.

"Disputed Passage" was directed by Frank Borzage, who has piloted such previous screen masterpieces as "Farewell To Arms," and the more recent "Three Comrades."

The Weaver Brothers and Elviry give out with some real Hillbilly music in a scene from the new comedy hit "Jeepers Creepers," coming to the Capitol theater Thursday only with Roy Rogers and Maris Wrixon playing the romantic roles.

FOUR FIRMS ARE NOW 100 PER CENT ON ROLLS

The Standard Office Supply company reported 100 per cent enrollment in the Red Cross roll call Saturday, which now has four concerns that are in this class, the others being the Louisiana Paper company, Hotel Alvis and the Superior Lumber company.

As soon as a business firm has all its members enrolled, it is asked that the management call Red Cross headquarters, phone 5484, and render the report.

Joe E. Brown proves to Martha Raye with whom he is co-starred in the laugh-packed film, "$1,000 A Touchdown," feature attraction showing Wednesday only at the Paramount theater. The star supporting cast includes Eric Blore, Susan Hayward, John Hartley and

The Vaughan quartet, headed by James D. Vaughan himself, of Lawrenceburg, Tenn., will appear in concert at Central Grammar school auditorium Monday at 8 p.m. in a benefit performance for Gordon Avenue Methodist church. Only a small fee for admission will be charged.

This group is well known throughout the country, being popular as radio entertainers. They can be heard over KWKH, Shreveport radio station, Monday through Friday at 11:30 a.m. and Sunday at 7 a.m.

The group is composed of LeRoy Carver, first tenor; Taylor Helton, second tenor; W. B. Walbert, baritone; George Schnake, bass; and James D. Walbert, wizard pianist.

LEGION AUXILIARY HEARS SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT

LAKE PROVIDENCE, Nov. 18.—(Special)—Ashley W. Warlick, East Carroll parish superintendent of education, was guest speaker for the November meeting of Powell Martin Barrett unit No. 37, American Legion auxiliary. Mr. Warlick discussed "Methods of Education."

Mrs. Mae Kelly of Oak Grove, Fifth district president, was a guest and gave highlights of the district conference recently held in Newellton. She also explained the hospital toy shop in Alexandria. Quota of toys from the local unit will be 30, 15 optional and 15 for girls of 14 years of age.

Mrs. E. C. Frenz, membership chairman, reported that the membership quota of 39 had been exceeded by three, with an enrollment of 42.

Richard Green surpasses his triumph in "Kentucky" in his first starring role the daring modern drama showing Friday and Satuday at the Paramount theater, "Here I Am A Stranger," in which he meets romance with lovely Brenda Joyce, sensational discovery of "The Rains Came." Richard Dix, Roland Young and Gladys George are also featured.

The famous young toughies the "Dead End" kids put Grant Mitchell on the spot in this scene from the drama "Hell's Kitchen," showing Friday only at the Capitol theater. Margaret Lindsey and Ronald Regan supply the romance as well as a helping hand to the "Dead End" kids.

Boris Karloff plays a scientist who is able to conquer death in "The Man They Could Not Hang," showing Today and Monday at the Capitol theater. Lorna Gray, Robert Wilcox and Roger Pryor are also featured in the horror-packed film.

TECH ENTERTAINS METHODIST GROUP

RUSTON, La., Nov. 18.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech was host yesterday to approximately 400 Methodist clergymen and layman delegates at a coffee and open house. The churchmen, who are holding their annual conference at Ruston, accepted an invitation presented them by E. S. Richardson, president of Tech, who addressed the group at the morning session.

The coffee, which was held in the new dining hall at the college, was presided over by Mrs. Clara S. Burris, dining hall matron, and the student waiters. Coffee, sandwiches and cookies, prepared by the cafeteria under the direction of Miss Irene Tolliver, manager, were served from a table decorated with white and maroon carnations and with white candles.

Immediately following the coffee, the two girls' dormitories were opened to the visitors and Tech coeds, headed by house council officers, deans and counselors received during the remainder of the afternoon.

Those receiving in Richardson hall were: Mrs. E. E. Cunningham, counselor, assisted by Ruby Robison of Vivian, president of the Richardson house council, and other student members of the organization. Receiving in Aswell hall with Miss Caroline Cochran, dean of women, were: Mrs. Gussie Ayres, assistant dean of women and counselor; Melba Hollinshead of Homer, president of the Aswell hall house council, and other student members of the council.

WARREN GARRETT'S CONDITION BETTER

The condition of Warren Garrett, who underwent a serious operation a few days ago at the clinic, was reported Saturday as favorable for his recovery. His condition previous to that time had been critical.

The injury that he received was of unusual nature. When at his home and engaged in playing with his favorite German police dog, Mr. Garrett was tripped up by the animal, and thrown violently to the floor. The fall aggravated an old injury in his side and he was rushed to the clinic where an operation was required.

Karloff In Thrill Film At Capitol

WEIRD, horrifying and fascinating, "The Man They Could Not Hang," which opens today at the Capitol theater, is strong meat sufficient to satisfy the starkest appetite of the most hardened horror fan. Starring Boris Karloff in a tale which makes the flesh creep and at the same time emerges as a dramatic triumph, the new Columbia melodrama is compelling film fare.

"The Man They Could Not Hang" should win for Karloff for all time the title of "King of Horror." Never has he contributed a more vivid, more chilling portrayal than that of Dr. Savaard, the inhuman scientist who is the central figure of the new film. Savaard has succeeded in perfecting a mechanical heart which can restore life to the dead, but his experiments are interpreted as murder and he is hanged for the crime.

Karloff realistically depicts the complete change in the scientist's mental attitude when he is restored to life through the medium of his own invention. Before his encounter with the law, Savaard was a humanitarian, an altruistic benefactor of humanity. After his restoration to life, he is transformed into a merciless killer, relentless in his quest of revenge.

From this fear-inspiring material has been woven a breathtaking screenplay, ably acted by a competent cast. Lorna Gray as the scientist's daughter and Robert Wilcox, as an ace reporter, carry the romantic burden of the film. Roger Pryor, returning to the screen after a long absence, is more than capable as the district attorney, one of the chief targets of Savaard's vengeance.

Nick Grinde has endowed "The Man They Could Not Hang" with painstaking direction so that the audience is held spellbound. The supporting cast includes Ann Doran, Byron Foulger, Don Beddoe, Charles Trowbridge and Joseph de Stefani.

New Autumn Furs Marked By Skilled Workmanship

Skilled workmanship triumphs in new fall furs, with pelts as soft as fabrics worked in intricate designs that mould the figure sleekly, or swing gracefully out in back in the new Empire swagger silhouette. Mink and sable colorings in many new dye effects emphasize the trend for elegance, giving special beauty to furs of the squirrel, fitch, caracul, kolinsky and other flat types.

Two major silhouettes are shown in furs, the fitted or slim boxy. Swing-back models are shown in sportsy shorter jackets, or in "costume" furs worn with special ensembles. The slim hanging, straight line coat, is still considered most flattering to many women, especially liked in beaver, Persian, nutria, seal, and other flat pelts. Shorter coats with the swing back are shown in almost every available fur, from the stubby skunk furs in new brown colorings, to the luscious blue fox and fox-dyed lynx, as well as trim little models in warm brown nutria, Persian, caracul kid, or others.

Front fullness, back swing lines, and other extreme styles are noted occasionally, but only in coats for special wear. The dressmaker technique so dramatic in this year's furs is possible because of the new workings of the skins, which gives them softer draping qualities.

Collars on almost all fur coats shown are small, or non-existent. But necklines hug up closely for warmth and comfort. Sleeves are simple, or gracefully flared and fitted into the wrists, with shoulders squared or slightly shirred for softness. A few fitted

With old departments enlarged and new departments added, The Woman's Shop, composed of the Bella Scherck Davidson ready-to-wear store, the Alice Henry Millinery establishment and the Ruth Touchstone Beauty Salon, will formally open Monday night in its rebuilt and modernized quarters at 102 DeSiard street.

The opening is scheduled for 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. and will be featured by a style revue.

The place in which the three establishments are now operating is twice the size it was before it was rebuilt, both within and without, and converted into one of the most modern shopping centers to be found anywhere.

The windows afford ample space for display of all merchandise handled by the associated establishments of The Woman's Shop. They are lighted with fluorescent lights that bring out all the details of the various articles shown. The "spot" case is as visible from automobiles as from the sidewalk.

The clockwise arrangement of the interior as one enters the shop is hats, French room, housecoats and negligees, cashier's office, junior models, entrance to shipping department and fitting rooms, entrance to beauty salon, dresses, display niche, dresses, entrance to children's department, entrance to French room, coats, shoes and hosiery. Sportswear and gloves are between the two entrances and the corsets, lingerie and purses are in the "island" in the middle of the establishment.

With the exception of hats, which are handled by the Alice Henry Millinery Shop, and the beauty salon, which is operated by Mrs. Ruth Touchstone, the various departments of The Woman's Shop are under the jurisdiction of the Bella Scherck Davidson ready-to-wear establishment.

The main department added is shoes but sportwear and cosmetics also are new items being handled. The children's department has been enlarged to include wearing apparel for young boys.

The shoe department is under the management of John T. Logan, who has had long experience in his line of work.

The French room off the hat shop is devoted to the more expensive models. The one in connection with the ready-to-wear store is used for displaying better dresses and evening gowns.

Besides being spacious, The Woman's Shop is conveniently arranged and beautifully decorated. The ceiling is of off-white, the walls of white and furniture, furnishings and panels of prima vera wood in a color approximately halfway between bird's eye and colonial maple. A grayish tan carpeting with a leaf design covers the floor and blends with the decorative scheme. Semi-indirect lighting is utilized.

The fitting rooms, which are to the left about midway of the store, are lighted with fluorescent lights that have a daylight glow and have double mirrors so arranged as to enable a patron to see exactly how a garment fits. Each of the rooms is attractively papered in a different design.

The French room, which is directly across the store to the right, is equipped with a splendid crystal chandelier and on one of the walls hangs a beautiful mirror in an antique gilded frame. The walls and woodwork are of antique white.

The children's department occupies a small room off the main store. It is decorated in a fashion to appeal to children and make them feel at home while they are being fitted.

Garment racks throughout the store are recessed into the walls and an invisible air conditioning unit keeps the store supplied with pure air at the proper temperature both winter and summer.

All of the furnishings and fixtures of the store are of modernistic design and fit harmoniously into arrangement of the whole. No detail was overlooked. Even the sidewalk awning, when rolled up, is out of sight. It is recessed into the front wall.

The Bella Scherck Davidson Shop, of which Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davidson are co-managers, has experienced a steady growth since its establishment. It deals in moderately priced and exclusive merchandise.

'WASP WAIST' NEW CORSET SILHOUETTE

Laced in tiny waist sections, the new corsets give to the modern lady of fashion the same "wasp waist" boasted by her grandmother. Back laces, side or short front lacings, nip in the waist section and give the lovely rounded hiplines that look so new to us this fall.

Foundation garments stress the long flat diaphragm, while lifting the bustline in youthful contours. Delicately shaped panels and insets streamline the figure, by following the muscle lines of the body itself. New scientific methods of designing have thus caught the perfect body contours, accenting their grace and bringing out their curving lines.

WHAT'S IN NICKNAME?

WILLIAMSON, W. Va.—(AP)—James Traynor is going to change his nickname; at least until after Thanksgiving.

BACK TO KENTUCKY

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—Marjorie Weaver, film actress and former University of Kentucky co-ed, is coming back to Kentucky in November—to reign as queen of the second annual Kentucky tobacco carnival in this capital of the burley tobacco producing country.

SHE PLANS HOUSES WOMEN WILL LIKE

MIAMI—(AP)—Mrs. Juanita James, one of Miami's most successful dealers, is capitalizing on what most everybody knows—that women, in the final analysis, pick out the home.

So, in building homes for sale, she plans to satisfy the women.

New Autumn Furs Marked By Skilled Workmanship

Skilled workmanship triumphs in new fall furs, with pelts as soft as fabrics worked in intricate designs that mould the figure sleekly, or swing gracefully out in back in the new Empire swagger silhouette. Mink and sable colorings in many new dye effects emphasize the trend for elegance, giving special beauty to furs of the squirrel, fitch, caracul, kolinsky and other flat types.

Two major silhouettes are shown in furs, the fitted or slim boxy. Swing-back models are shown in sportsy shorter jackets, or in "costume" furs worn with special ensembles. The slim hanging, straight line coat, is still considered most flattering to many women, especially liked in beaver, Persian, nutria, seal, and other flat pelts. Shorter coats with the swing back are shown in almost every available fur, from the stubby skunk furs in new brown colorings, to the luscious blue fox and fox-dyed lynx, as well as trim little models in warm brown nutria, Persian, caracul kid, or others.

Front fullness, back swing lines, and other extreme styles are noted occasionally, but only in coats for special wear. The dressmaker technique so dramatic in this year's furs is possible because of the new workings of the skins, which gives them softer draping qualities.

Collars on almost all fur coats shown are small, or non-existent. But necklines hug up closely for warmth and comfort. Sleeves are simple, or gracefully flared and fitted into the wrists, with shoulders squared or slightly shirred for softness. A few fitted

AIRWAY OFFICERS BACK TO MONROE

C. E. Faulk, president of Delta Air corporation, and other officials of the company have just returned from Washington, D. C., where they pressed their claims for new air lines which the company seeks to operate and ones for which there are other rivals in the field. Hearings before the CAA were conducted for many days, requiring presence of the local corporation members for nearly three weeks. No decision has been reached and will not be for some time, Mr. Faulk said.

The Eastern Airways is seeking to rival Delta Air by operating a route from Atlanta to Birmingham and then on to New Orleans, he said. A hearing will be held in Birmingham on January 3, and attorneys will endeavor to show that the present service of Delta Air is sufficient between Atlanta and Birmingham.

Evidence obtained at hearings are submitted to the examiner, then there is filed a preliminary report and the CAA has the final word and renders the decisions.

Besides Mr. Faulk, those who represented the Delta Air at the Washington hearings were: C. E. Woolman, vice-president and general manager; Miss Eleanor N. Faulk, attorney for the corporation, who was assisted by Attorney Ernest Moore, Washington lawyer, and Seth W. Richardson, another attorney; Laigh C. Parker, general traffic manager; L. B. Judd, chief accountant, and Pat L. Higgins of Atlanta, operations manager.

ETHODISTS TO OBTAIN PASTORS

signments For Coming Year To Be Announced At Ruston Today

ethodists of the state will be eager learn of the assignments of pastors roughout Louisiana which will be made known at the closing sessions of the annual Methodist conference in Ruston today. The conference has been in session all the week since Tuesday.

There is the usual uncertainty as to the assignment of pastors for the ensuing year. The Twin Cities have four Methodist churches. First church of Monroe and of West Monroe, Gordon Avenue of Monroe and the recently-added Stone Avenue church (formerly Methodist Protestant).

The congregation of only one of these churches, that of the First Methodist church of Monroe, is already advised as to the pastor for the coming year. This church will be headed by Dr. A. M. Freeman, of Florence, Ala., who comes here from the Alabama conference, and the former local pastor, Rev. W. C. Scott, goes to the pastorate of the First Methodist church in Tuscaloosa, Ala. The Alabama conference was held a week earlier than that of the Louisiana conference.

For the past year the pastors of the other Methodist churches in the Twin Cities have been as follows: First church in West Monroe, Dr. C. Karlos Smith; Gordon Avenue church, Rev. J. M. Alford; Stone Avenue church, Rev. Ira Yeager.

NEW LUNCHEON CLUB PROPOSED

Cooperative Group Already Functioning In Other Cities

Plans for the formation of a local Cooperative club are to be discussed at Hotel Frances Monday at 7:30 p.m., according to an announcement made Saturday.

H. H. Hunter of New Orleans, representing the Cooperative Club International, has been contacting local business men for the past week and considerable enthusiasm has been shown regarding the outlook for a local club.

The organization is civic in nature and membership therein is governed by strict business or professional classification. The success of Cooperative clubs throughout the country is attested by the numerous successful sponsorships of the organization.

The president of the Cooperative Club International is J. Andy Thomas, of New Orleans. The New Orleans club has a membership of about 200. Baton Rouge and Lake Charles now have clubs established. Plans are in the making for the formation of clubs at Alexandria and Shreveport.

The clubs are usually organized as luncheon or supper clubs, meeting once weekly at which time the business is conducted and the members are entertained by selected speakers. The local club is a self-governing body, operating under a charter and electing its own officers.

The clubs, which are cooperative in nature, as well as in name, are powerful civic factors in many parts of the United States. The New Orleans club sponsors the annual Sugar Bowl contest. Kansas Cooperators, as members are termed, help largely in holding the annual cornhusking contest. Denver Cooperators sponsor the citizens' mission in that city, one of the most outstanding charitable projects of its kind.

A wire received late Saturday stated that Mr. Thomas, international president of the Cooperative clubs, will attend the meeting in Monroe Monday night. He will be accompanied here by John L. Wood, member of the International Cooperative club extension committee.

PHYSICIANS WILL MEET HERE DEC. 5

The Fifth District Medical society will meet at Hotel Frances December 5, at 5:30 p.m.

The scientific program will consist of papers by the following:

Dr. John B. Elliott, Jr., professor emeritus, internal medicine, Tulane university, on "Memoirs of Forty-five Years' Practice of Internal Medicine."

Preceding the scientific program, there will be a banquet, during which routine business will be transacted.

MANY ENROLL IN CLASS

A large class is being enrolled by Mrs. Hortense Vaughn in public speaking each Tuesday night at the courthouse. One class, that at 6:30 p.m., is for women and business girls who desire to perfect themselves in public speaking and in presiding in club work. The other class at 7:30 p.m. is for business men.

NEW LUNCHEON CLUB PROPOSED

Cooperative Group Already Functioning In Other Cities

Plans for the formation of a local Cooperative club are to be discussed at Hotel Frances Monday at 7:30 p.m., according to an announcement made Saturday.

H. H. Hunter of New Orleans, representing the Cooperative Club International, has been contacting local business men for the past week and considerable enthusiasm has been shown regarding the outlook for a local club.

The organization is civic in nature and membership therein is governed by strict business or professional classification. The success of Cooperative clubs throughout the country is attested by the numerous successful sponsorships of the organization.

The president of the Cooperative Club International is J. Andy Thomas, of New Orleans. The New Orleans club has a membership of about 200. Baton Rouge and Lake Charles now have clubs established. Plans are in the making for the formation of clubs at Alexandria and Shreveport.

The clubs are usually organized as luncheon or supper clubs, meeting once weekly at which time the business is conducted and the members are entertained by selected speakers. The local club is a self-governing body, operating under a charter and electing its own officers.

The clubs, which are cooperative in nature, as well as in name, are powerful civic factors in many parts of the United States. The New Orleans club sponsors the annual Sugar Bowl contest. Kansas Cooperators, as members are termed, help largely in holding the annual cornhusking contest. Denver Cooperators sponsor the citizens' mission in that city, one of the most outstanding charitable projects of its kind.

A wire received late Saturday stated that Mr. Thomas, international president of the Cooperative clubs, will attend the meeting in Monroe Monday night. He will be accompanied here by John L. Wood, member of the International Cooperative club extension committee.

It is unbelievable the building miracle that has been performed on the corner of DeSiard and Walnut streets. From the dark and old styled and out of date building of a few months ago, looms the beautiful modern specialty shop . . . built to specifications of the demands of today's modern feminine shopper. The J. C. Steele Lumber Co., has played an important part in the construction of this building . . , as most of the building materials were furnished through our company. We are pleased and glad to have the opportunity of extending congratulations and best wishes to the owners and operators of this beautiful shop . . . the associated departments and to its contractors and architect . . . to every craftsman who had a part in its construction.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR THANKSGIVING

Special Services Planned In Twin Cities For Thursday Of This Week

Thanksgiving will be observed in Monroe and throughout Louisiana next Thursday, the day set aside by presidential and gubernatorial proclamations to be thus observed. It will be exactly a week earlier than is customary and many states will still observe the day as formerly on the last Thursday of November.

All courts, banks, the postoffice and business generally will be closed Thursday in observance of the day.

There will be special services held in St. Matthew's Catholic and Grace Episcopal churches and a union service is planned for churches of Monroe and West Monroe in the First Methodist church, West Monroe, Thursday at 10 a.m. The pastor, Dr. C. Karlos Smith, will preside, there will be special music suited to the day, and the annual sermon of Thanksgiving will be delivered by Rev. R. T. Watson, pastor of the Monroe First Christian church. So far as known this will be the first time that Monroe church people have had a union service in West Monroe.

The First Baptist church in West Monroe will have its own Thanksgiving service with the pastor, Dr. A. E. Prince, delivering the sermon at 9 a.m.

Schools will close, as will the local college, on Wednesday for Thanksgiving recess and will reopen Monday, November 27.

Thanksgiving dinners will be served at the Louisiana Training school and at the Louisiana Baptist Children's home. The latter institution reported Saturday that Webb Madison of Bastrop, in behalf of the H. Flood Madison estate, has just sent a check for $50 to Superintendent B. F. Wallace of the home to be used to buy turkeys and the trimmings for a Thanksgiving dinner for all the children and staff there. It has been the custom for some years for the Madison family to see that a similar donation is made each Thanksgiving.

The annual Thanksgiving dinner for neediest aged negroes of the Twin Cities will be held in the Colored Rescue center, 907 DeSiard street, Thursday at 2 p.m. Rev. M. M. McCord of the Good Shepherd Baptist church will have charge of the dinner.

Clarks

One of the most interesting meetings of the year was held by the Clarks Home Demonstration club at their club home. Rug making was taught by Miss Lola Caldwell, parish agent. Several rugs made by other club members were exhibited.

Each member carried material for a towel which she made during the afternoon, and placed in a box for their Christmas gifts, and December 13 was selected as the date for the social. A committee, including Mrs. H. O. Cooksey, Mrs. N. A. Kees and Mrs. Evans Reitzell, was named to complete arrangements for the Christmas party.

A social hour followed the business hour. Those present were: Mrs. Charles Riser, Mrs. Ellis Jones, Mrs. M. D. Ballard, Mrs. George Streetman, Mrs. Lawrence White, Mrs. E. L. Kraft, Mrs. W. B. Perkins, Mrs. W. A. Coats, Miss Lola Caldwell, Mrs. N. A. Kees, Mrs. H. O. Cooksey and Mrs. Evans Reitzell.

Mrs. F. A. Minard was complimented on her birthday, by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Minard, who entertained in her honor, at a dinner at their home in Urania. Motoring with Mrs. Minard to attend the party were Miss Marie Minard and Mrs. J. W. Box of Clarks, and Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Monard of Columbia.

C. C. Sheppard left for a business visit in Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cooksey had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Sylvanus Cooksey, and Mr. and Mrs. John Cain o fLafayette, and Lewis Cooksey of Louisiana Tech., Ruston.

Mr. and Mrs. Mayo M. Iles attended the L. S. U.-Tenn., football game in Baton Rouge. While there they were the guests of Mrs. Iles' parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Morris.

Miss Harrietta Cobb and Miss Margie Bass of Lafayette were the guests of their families here.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Andrews are at home from a visit in north Louisiana and east Texas.

Mrs. N. L. Parker has returned to Winnsboro following a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Corbin had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Price and family of Trout.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Nichols are making their home in Monroe.

Ferriday

Mrs. Joseph Pasternack, Mrs. Abe Pasternack and B. Kullman motored to Natchez, where they were guests of Mrs. Max Goldberger.

Mrs. Cassius Tillman, Sr., of Natchez, was a visitor here.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pasternack and Mrs. B. Kullman of New Orleans, were entertained with a dinner by Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer. Following the dinner bridge was played.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pasternack entertained at their home on Texas avenue for their house guests, Dr. and Mrs. J. Pasternack of New Orleans.

Mrs. Morris Feld has returned to Vicksburg, Miss., after a visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Murphy of Knoxville, Tenn., formerly of Clayton, were visitors here.

EXTERIOR OF REBUILT WOMAN'S SHOP

WOMAN'S SHOP

Occupying quarters as modern and modernistic within as without, The Woman's Shop, corner of DeSiard and Walnut streets, will hold its formal opening in its enlarged and completely rebuilt establishment Monday between the hours of 6 p.m. and 10 p.m. The Woman's Shop is a shop of shops, being composed of three affiliated businesses, the Bella Scherck Davidson ready-to-wear shop, the Alice Henry Millinery shop and the Ruth Touchstone Beauty salon.

Okaloosa

The November meeting of the Okaloosa Home Demonstration club will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. F. J. Crowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Madison Firth of Delhi and Donal Tolbird of Ringgold were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tolbird.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Guyton of Monroe were recent visitors in Okaloosa.

Myrl White has returned to his home in West Monroe after a visit in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen George.

Mrs. J. J. George, Mrs. Leamon Pylant, Mrs. N. L. Coon and Boyd Bush were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at the George home, complimenting Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Browder, newlyweds.

By winding balls of twine the honorees were led to clues directing them to a table laden with gifts, which were opened and displayed. The guest list included: Mrs. J. J. Coon, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Coon, Mrs. Ollie Coon, Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Coon, Mrs. D. O. Hesler and Mrs. Alice Gewin of Eros, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Tolbird, Mrs. J. J. Tolbird, Mr. and Mrs. Leamon Pylant, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Bustle Peplum Jackets, New Fur Colors Feature Fall Costume Ensembles

Amazingly supple furs this year make the fitted "dressmaker" coat fall's smartest choice. This safari brown Alaska sealskin has full flared skirt, smartly squared shoulders and wide suede belt.

Short short jackets with bustle peplums that stand out in ripples, fitted longer jackets richly colorful with blending furs, and [illegible] satin or metallic blouses [illegible] the early fall costume [illegible] fox [illegible] silver fox or Persian are among the leading furs used to enhance the new [illegible].

[illegible] are soft and sheer [illegible] jackets and swinging gracefully in gored skirts. Back fullness [illegible] limited [illegible] ending or [illegible] simple wool [illegible].

[illegible] fur plastron fronts, [illegible] wide cape collars in fluffy fox and lynx, square-back collars of beaver or fox, give many variations of the fur trimming so essential to this season's lavish mode. New colors in furs include London tan, sable squirrel, lynx-dyed fox, bleached silver fox in the glorious new [illegible] colorings, taupe brown Persian and [illegible], teal gray kidskin. Elegant black in seal or Persian, as well as lustrous taupe and warm brown beavers are also smart.

Colorful plaids, shadow checks, nubby stripes and muted tweeds are shown in new travel suits and sportsy ensembles combined with plain woolens. Crushed grape is among the new tweed colorings [illegible] green dotted with scarlet [illegible] and soft teal or Dutch [illegible] greens and deep forest green are included in the most colorful [illegible] costumes worn in many years.

Delhi

Peggy Arender was crowned queen of homecoming at Delhi High school and reigned over [illegible]. Miss Arender, a senior, won the royal [illegible] [illegible] Herbert M[illegible] [illegible] er Delhi student [illegible] Miss Martha [illegible] "I [illegible] Her My Way" [illegible] stage [illegible] Captain Wal[illegible] Harvey and Co-Captain Walter Fay Dixon placed the crown on the queen's head. Singing "An Apple for the Teacher," Julia Ann Arender presented Mr. Hawthorne with a big red apple. Brief talks were made by the football captains, the coach, Mr. Hawthorne and Mr. Boles.

Fifteen dollars in prizes was awarded winners of the amateur contest held in the school auditorium. Pete Ballas of Rayville won first place and Elizabeth Ann Miller of Delhi, second, in the instrumental division of the contest, entered also by Sam Holliday. Peggy Arender and Francis Hurley tied for first in the dancing contest. Other contestants were Hulia Ann Arender and Joan Hurley, of Delhi, Billy Louise Lusk of Epps, Marily Harper of Mangham, Alice Rose Solomon and Elaine Jones of Rayville and Fred Freeman of Monroe.

Winning first in dramatics was Carol Jean Stegal of Delhi, and second, Norma Jean Register of Tallulah. Ohers entering were Wanda Joyce Pierson and Gladys Dianond of Rayville, Carrie Mae Wall of Epps, and Jean Sproules of Delhi. Nettie Lucille Viola of Rayville was named first and Doris Curle of Tallulah second in acrobatics. Martha Mae Gutz of Rayville also entered. Bustle Peplum Jackets, New Fur Colors Feature Fall Costume Ensembles

Amazingly supple furs this year make the fitted "dressmaker" coat fall's smartest choice. This safari brown Alaska sealskin has full flared skirt, smartly squared shoulders and wide suede belt.

Short, short jackets with bustle peplums that stand out in ripples, fitted longer jackets richly colorful with blending furs, and shining satin or metallic blouses distinguish the early fall costume ensembles. "Ruby fox" in luscious bronze colorings, dyed blue fox or lynx-dyed white fox, sable brown squirrel and luxurious black silver fox or Persian are among the leading furs used to enhance the new suit costumes.

Woolens used are soft and sheer, draped in the newer feminine jackets, and swinging gracefully in gored skirts. Back fullness in skirts is limited to slight shirrings or soft folds introduced well below the fitted basque bodice. Velveteen and velvety woolens often make the jackets in blending or contrasting color with simple wool frocks.

Fur boleros and fur plastron fronts, long fox tuxedo collars, wide cape collars in fluffy fox and lynx, square-back collars of beaver or fox, give many variations of the fur trimming so essential to this season's lavish mode. New colors in furs include London tan, sable squirrel, lynx-dyed fox, bleached silver fox in the glorious new "ruby" colorings, taupe brown Persian and caracul, teal gray kidskin. Elegant black in seal or Persian, as well as lustrous taupe and warm brown beavers are also smart.

Colorful plaids, shadow checks, nubby stripes and muted tweeds are shown in new travel suits and sportsy ensembles combined with plain woolens. Crushed grape is among the new tweed colorings, olive green dotted with scarlet nubs, pidgeon blue and soft teal or Dutch blues, vivid greens and deep forest green, are included in the most colorful tweed costumes worn in many years.

Delhi

Peggy Arender was crowned queen of homecoming at Delhi High school and reigned over homecoming activities. Miss Arender, a senior, won the royal honors over two other contenders, Dena Bradley, junior representative, and Olga McEacharn, sophomore candidate.

Coronation ceremonies were held in the school auditorium. Seated on the stage were the football players, Coach Herbert Massey, H. D. Hawthorne and Develle Boles, guest speaker and former Delhi student. While Miss Martha Blanchard sang "If I Had My Way," the royal procession entered the auditorium and proceeded to the stage platform, where Football Captain Wallace Hurley and Co-Captian Walter Fay Dixon placed the crown on the queen's head. Singing "An Apple for the Teacher," Julia Ann Arender presented Mr. Hawthorne with a big red apple. Brief talks were made by the football captains, the coach, Mr. Hawthorne and Mr. Boles.

Fifteen dollars in prizes was awarded winners of the amateur contest held in the school auditorium. Pete Ballas of Rayville won first place and Elizabeth Ann Miller of Delhi, second, in the instrumental division of the contest, entered also by Sam Holliday. Peggy Arender and Francis Hurley tied for first in the dancing contest. Other contestants were Hulia Ann Arender and Joan Hurley, of Delhi, Billy Louise Lusk of Epps, Marily Harper of Mangham, Alice Rose Solomon and Elaine Jones of Rayville and Fred Freeman of Monroe.

Winning first in dramatics was Carol Jean Stegal of Delhi, and second, Norma Jean Register of Tallulah. Ohers entering were Wanda Joyce Pierson and Gladys Dianond of Rayville, Carrie Mae Wall of Epps, and Jean Sproules of Delhi. Nettie Lucille Viola of Rayville was named first and Doris Curle of Tallulah second in acrobatics. Martha Mae Gutz of Rayville also entered. First in vocal selection was Jennie Jo Blanchard of Delhi and second, Helen Hoben of Dunn. Ann Dozier, Martha Blanchard, C. F. Blanchard, Dorothy Watts, Eunice Dixon and Evelyn Morse of Delhi, Mary Oliver Boughton of Rayville and Helen Hoben of Dunn also were contestants.

Mer Rouge

Mrs. Jennie Alverson has returned from a week's visit with relatives in Newellton. She was accompanied home by her sister, Mrs. J. R. Lynch, who is a guest in the C. L. Clark home.

Plans were completed for a week of prayer program by members of the Methodist Missionary society at a meeting at the church. "Religious retreat" is held at the church every day.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Mrs. Lawson Higginbotham, president; Mrs. J. H. Leech, vice-president; Mrs. T. G. Gallagher, treasurer; Mrs. W. T. Blackwell, recording secretary; Mrs. J. R. McIlwaine, corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. O. Farris, superintendent Bible study; Mrs. E. M. White, supplies superintendent; Mrs. H. L. Herron, publicity; Mrs. J. B. Hornbeak, social service; Mrs. F. J. Willey, young people's work; Mrs. W. S. White, agent for World Outlook, and Mrs. Alice Felton, superintendent local work.

Beauty Salon 5 And Half Years With Woman's Shop

Mrs. Ruth Touchstone Has Been In Business In Monroe For Past Seventeen Years

The Ruth Touchstone Beauty salon, of which Mrs. Ruth Touchstone is the owner and manager, joined The Woman's shop, which is formally opening in its enlarged rebuilt establishment Monday night, five and a half years ago.

The salon, in its remodeled quarters, not only has an entrance from that part of the store occupied by its associates, Bella Scherck Davidson, ready-to-wear, and Alice Henry, millinery, which fronts on DeSiard, at the intersection of Walnut, but an opening on the latter street as well.

A color combination of pale pink, dusty pink and green is utilized in the salon. The walls are of pale pink, woodwork and booths of dusty pink and tables and some equipment and fixtures of green.

There are six shampoo booths, a facial booth and a large supply room opening off the spacious reception room. The equipment throughout is as up to date as the appearance of the establishment.

The salon employs five beauty operators and a hair stylist. The operators are Miss Thelma Hargus, Mrs. Hazel Haynes, Miss Lucille Petty, Miss Hazel Brooks and Mrs Kay Miles. The hair stylist is William Harper.

Mrs Touchstone herself is a finished beautician and she demands the best of service from everyone in the employ of her salon. She received her training at F. Burnham's in Chicago.

Mrs. Niccoleni Bruno, Mrs. Lucille Watson and Miss Ethel Reiber were hostesses at the meeting of the Tensas Garden club at the Community house. Vases holding yellow chrysanthemums were placed in the lounge and club room for the occasion. Mrs. Gasper Bruno was the leader of the program, which was as follows: Roll call, answered by naming a product of Louisiana; "My Visit to Jungle Gardens," Mrs Joseph Whitaker; "Historic Homes and Gardens of Louisiana," Mrs Theodosia La Cour. After the program, stereopticon pictures showing gardens in China were presented by Mrs. Jack Crigler and Mrs. Maury Stanton. The club members then gathered in the auditorium, where the tea table was placed. The table was very pretty, with a bowl of fruit as a centerpiece and pink candles in crystal holders on either end. A delicious two-course luncheon was served at the table to 21. Mrs. Magruder Adams and Mrs. Annie C. Crothers of Baton Rouge were guests.

Mrs. Myles Smith and Miss Barbara Hollis were co-hostesses, entertaining Les Petites at the Community house at their regular meeting. Miss Rogenia Green was leader of the program, which was a one-act play, "The Women," presented by Misses Anne Noble and Mary June Lipscomb, the dramatics committee. Les Petites will present "The Women" and the Cosmopolitan club a one-act play at a joint entertainment at the Community house during the latter part of this month. After the program, refreshments were served to 17 club members.

Mrs. Niccoleni Bruno, Mrs. Lucille Watson and Miss Ethel Reiber were hostesses at the meeting of the Tensas Garden club at the Community house. Vases holding yellow chrysanthemums were placed in the lounge and club room for the occasion. Mrs. Gasper Bruno was the leader of the program, which was as follows: Roll call, answered by naming a product of Louisiana; "My Visit to Jungle Gardens," Mrs. Joseph Whitaker; "Historic Homes and Gardens of Louisiana," Mrs. Theodosia La Cour. After the program, steropticon pictures showing gardens in China were presented by Mrs. Jack Crigler and Mrs. Maury Stanton. The club members then gathered in the auditorium, where the tea table was placed. The table was very pretty, with a bowl of fruit as a centerpiece and pink candles in crystal holders on either end. A delicious two-course luncheon was served at the table to 21. Mrs. Magruder Adams and Mrs. Annie C. Crothers of Baton Rouge were guests.

Mrs. Myles Smith and Miss Barbara Hollis were co-hostesses, entertaining Les Petites at the Community house at their regular meeting. Miss Rogenia Green was leader of the program, which was a one-act play, "The Women," presented by Misses Anne Noble and Mary June Lipscomb, the dramatics committee. Les Petites will present "The Women" and the Cosmopolitan club a one-act play at a joint entertainment at the Community house during the latter part of this month. After the program, refreshments were served to 17 club members.

Alice Henry Millinery Establishment Part Of Modern Woman's Shop

Hat Establishment With Woman's Shop 16 Years

Holding Old Customers And Adding New Ones Has Enabled Business To Grow

Miss Alice Henry joined forces with Bella Scherck Davidson 16 years ago to form The Woman's Shop, which is formally throwing open its enlarged and rebuilt quarters at 102 DeSiard street Monday night.

Prior to that time she had operated independently for 12 years, two of them in West Monroe and 10 in Monroe.

Though a part of The Woman's Shop, Miss Henry's millinery establishment is a distinct and separate unit in itself, just as it has always been. It deals in moderately priced hats and exclusive models, evening bags, novelty flowers and novelties, costume jewelry and scarfs.

The millinery establishment occupies space in the bay immediately to the left of the entrance to The Woman's Shop and has a French room for the display of its more expensive hats. The other models are on view in the shop proper.

Miss Henry attributes her success in the millinery business to her loyal patrons. "Virtually every customer who started with me when I entered business in West Monroe is with me today," she said.

"That," she continued, "is my greatest source of gratification. And here and now, I want to thank them. Moreover, I want to thank all of my patrons, occasional and continuous, who have favored me with their business throughout the years."

Holding old patrons and adding new ones has enabled the Alice Henry Millinery Shop to experience a steady growth, to progress and offer a constantly better service in its line to the public.

SHOP OWNER

Miss Alice Henry is the owner of the Alice Henry Millinery shop of The Woman's Shop and the organizer, with Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Davidson of the affiliation under the latter name. She has been in business, either in Monroe or West Monroe, for 28 years.

Tarzan

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

TARZAN'S ERROR

THE WIND WAS AT HIS BACK AND HIS KEEN NOSTRILS BROUGHT HIM NO SCENT OF DANGER.
"TRICKSTER!" HE GROWLED "YOU ONLY WANTED A CHANCE TO KILL ME!" AT THE SAME INSTANT HE GRASPED VANGER'S RIFLE.
WITH ONE MIGHTY BLOW TARZAN BROKE THE GUN, THEN COMMANDED: "GO! IF YOU RETURN TO THIS VALLEY YOU DIE!"
VANGER WAS GLAD ENOUGH TO ESCAPE WITH HIS LIFE, BUT THE EXPERIENCE STRENGTHENED HIS RESOLVE TO DESTROY TARZAN.
THE APE-MAN TURNED UP THE MOUNTAIN SLOPE TO AID THE WOUNDED BABOONS.
ALREADY ON THE PLATEAU, THE REMNANT OF THE TRIBE WAS GATHERING ABOUT THE BABOON KING.
BO-DEK TUGGED AT VANGER'S DIAMOND-FILLED MONEY BELT WHICH SO ODDLY HAD FALLEN ON HIM.
IT BORE THE HATED HUMAN SCENT AND HE HASTENED TO BE RID OF IT, BUT LU-DEK, HIS MATE, STOPPED HIM.
SHE STEPPED BACK AND GAZED APPROVINGLY. OTHERS, TOO, LOOKED AT HIM WITH AWE. SO BO-DEK CAME TO REGARD THE BELT PROUDLY AS A SYMBOL OF HIS MIGHT AND MAJESTY.
NEXT WEEK: PLANS FOR MURDER
HOGARTH
THEN TARZAN ARRIVED WITH NEWS THAT THEIR FOE HAD FLED, AND WOULD NEVER RETURN. BUT TARZAN WAS WRONG!

CAPTAIN EASY
T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.
TH' WAY HE LOOKED AT ME WITH HIS BIG BROWN EYES!—SNIFF!—AN' I'LL NEVER, NEVER SEE HIS LI'L FACE AGAIN
UP AND UP THEY GO, OVER A SECRET PATH.
I-I HOPE THEY'LL BE GOOD TO HIM, EASY
OF COURSE THEY WILL, PODNER. WHY, SURE
POOR KID! HE'S PRETTY BADLY BROKEN UP
WHEN WE GET BACK TO LIMA, WE'LL GET HIM A PUPPY, OR SOMETHING, TO TAKE THE SWINK'S PLACE
NOTHIN' KIN EVER TAKE TH SWINK'S PLACE
PLEASE DON'T TAKE IT SO HARD, WASH. DADDY HAS A FRIEND WHO'S WITH A ZOO
YES, I THINK I CAN ARRANGE TO GET YOU A BABY ELEPHANT, OR POSSIBLY A KANGAROO
YOU COULD TEACH THEM TO DO TRICKS
I DON'T WANT ELEPHANTS AN' KANGAROOS. I NEVER WANT ANOTHER PET AS LONG AS I LIVE
MEANWHILE:
SURELY, O LORD OF LIFE, YOU WILL NOT PERMIT THE ACCURSED INTRUDERS TO RETURN TO THE LAND OF THE WHITE MEN
HAVE NO FEAR. THE GUIDES HAVE BEEN INSTRUCTED TO DESERT THEM ONCE THEY REACH THE DEEP SNOWS. THERE THEY WILL BECOME LOST AND EITHER FREEZE TO DEATH OR STARVE AH! SEE HOW EXCITEDLY THE SWINK IS SNIFFING! ALREADY HE HAS FORGOTTEN HIS FORMER MASTER.
UK UK!
NIGHT:
COME, COMRADE, WHILE THEY SLEEP
MORNING:
OUR GUIDES ARE GONE!
THEY'VE DESERTED US, TH' DIRTY DOUBLE-CROSSERS!
AND TAKEN OUR FOOD!
OH, WHAT A TERRIBLE DILEMMA!
WE DARE NOT RETURN
AN' HOW CAN WE FOLLOW A TRAIL THRU TWO FEET OF SNOW?
WAIT! SOMETHING'S COMING!
TH' SWINK!
ALAS! I FEAR HE'S COME ONLY TO JOIN US IN DEATH
I WOULDN'T BET ON THAT, DOCTOR. HE'S SAVED OUR LIVES ONCE—HE MAY DO IT AGAIN

COME, CHESTER- LET'S GO FOR A WALK THIS LOVELY AUTUMN AFTERNOON, AND DRINK IN THE BEAUTIES OF NATURE—
SURE, UNCLE BIM— MAYBE WE COULD GO TO THE CANDY KITCHEN— THEIR CHOCOLATE SODAS ARE BEAUTS—
SPUN GOLD— THE GIFT OF A GENEROUS PROVIDENCE TO RICH AND POOR ALIKE—
WORK, MY LAD, IS A PRIVILEGE—HE WHO ENJOYS THE GOOD THINGS OF LIFE SHOULD BE WILLING TO SHAKE ITS BURDENS—
IT'S AN AWFUL LOT OF WORK TO RAKE 'EM AND BURN 'EM—
GOSH, UNCLE BIM—IT MUST FEEL SWELL TO BE THE RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD! YOU COULD BUY A MILLION LOLLYPOPS, COULDN'T YOU?
THAT'S RIGHT— MONEY CAN BUY EVERYTHING IN THE WORLD EXCEPT THAT WHICH IS MOST IMPORTANT—
HAPPINESS, CHESTER—
HAPPINESS IS A STRANGE PARADOX— THE MORE YOU GIVE TO OTHERS, THE LARGER YOUR OWN SHARE BECOMES—
GEE—I'LL BET YOU GIVE A LOT OF MONEY AWAY TO POOR FOLKS
IF WE CAN LEND A HELPING HAND TO OUR LESS FORTUNATE BRETHREN AS THEY PLOD ALONG LIFE'S HARSH ROAD—THEN WE WILL NOT HAVE LIVED IN VAIN
ER-UNCLE BIM—I WONDER IF YOU COULD DO ME A FAVOR?
